Importance of Subject

In 1942, at one of the hearings of the Senate Fact-Finding Committee, created by Senate Resolution No. 156 (1941), evidence was submitted pointing to the fact that there were improper conditions in boarding homes, sanitariums and rest homes, where many aged people resided. Accordingly, the Senate of California, at the Fifty-fifth Session of the State Legislature, appointed a Fact-Finding Committee on Homes and Institutions for the Aged for the purpose of investigating conditions in boarding homes, rest homes, sanitariums and other institutions for the aged, as well as the competency of the persons operating them, the care furnished to the aged, and the licensing and supervision of such institutions.

Miss Martha A. Chickering, Director of the State Department of Social Welfare, furnished the following factual information at the hearings of the committee held on March 1st and 2d in Los Angeles, California:

	City and County of		Alameda County	San Diego County
	Los Angeles County	San Francisco
Number of aged receiving aid-----	65,423	11,372	7,629	7,395
Number of licensed boarding homes-----	793	130	66	79
Number of licensed boarding homes caring for 15 or more aged-----	28	11	8	3
Statistics furnished by local officials:
Licensed sanitariums	Approximately
and nursing homes-----	350	47	--	32

Lawrence C. Schreiber, Executive Director, Department of Public Assistance of Los Angeles County, testified that of the aged receiving aid in Los Angeles County, there are approximately 3,300 living in boarding homes, 1,700 in rest homes, and 1,400 in psychopathic rest homes; that almost 10 per cent of the aged receiving aid in Los Angeles County live in boarding homes, sanitariums and rest homes, according to the figures available in his department.

In addition to the number of licensed boarding homes, sanitariums and rest homes, it is estimated that the number of unlicensed places runs into the hundreds, according to the opinion rendered by Morris S. Siegel, Director of Sanitation and Housing of the Los Angeles City Health Department.

Sections 2300 to 2350, inclusive, of the Welfare and Institutions Code, sets forth the State laws pertaining to boarding homes for the aged. The State Department of Social Welfare has adopted minimum requirements for private homes for aged persons.

The City and County of San Francisco has adopted the following laws and regulations: (Chapter 5, Article 3, Part 2, Municipal Code.)

Any permit shall be revocable for cause by the said Department of Public Health, after hearing before said Department upon service upon the holder of the permit, not less than ten (10) days before the hearing, of a written notice of time and place of hearing and written statement of the charges, in any case where the provisions of this section, or of any fire, health or safety law has been violated and said violation has continued for more than ten (10) days after service upon the holder of said permit of a written statement by the Department of Public Health of the particulars wherein said violation exists.

The Department of Public Health shall have the authority to establish health and sanitation requirements for permittees after thirty (30) days notice to all existing permittees and a hearing upon the subject.

(c) TYPES OF BUILDINGS. No nursing home hereafter established shall be housed in a structure of frame construction, if said structure is designed to have accommodations for more than five (5) inmates. Any such nursing home hereafter established, and having accommodations for not more than five (5) inmates, may be of frame construction if the same complies with all of the regulations and laws of the Bureau of Building Inspection, Department of Public Works, and Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety and of the Department of Public Health, as of the date of application for a permit. No inmate shall be housed or cared for in any attic, basement or cellar. Where more than five (5) inmates are housed in a nursing home the building shall be of Class A or B construction.

(d) REGISTERS. The holder of a permit shall keep a register, in form approved by the Department of Public Health, wherein shall be entered the names and addresses, date of entry and date of discharge of all inmates.

(e) TRANSFER OF PERMITS. No permit issued pursuant to this section shall be sold, assigned or transferred without written permission of the Department of Public Health.

(f) INSPECTION. The Department of Public Health, its officers and representatives, and all duly appointed or elected health officers, shall at all reasonable times have the right to enter and inspect the said nursing homes and to inspect the permit and register thereof and to require compliance with this section.

The City and County of San Francisco has adopted the following minimum health and sanitation requirements for nursing homes:

Definitions

For the purpose of this section, a nursing home is hereby defined to be a building or structure having accommodations for one or more but not more than eight (8) invalid, infirm, aged, senile, injured or convalescent inmates, where a charge is made for the care of said inmates and whether or not, in the care or treatment of said inmates, use is made of drugs, medicines, electrical or physiotherapeutical procedures. (Section 158)

Types of Buildings

No nursing home hereafter established shall be housed in a structure of frame construction, if said structure is designed to have accommodations for more than five (5) inmates. Any such nursing home hereafter established, and having accommodations for not more than five (5) inmates, may be of frame construction if the same complies with all of the regulations and laws of the Bureau of Building Inspection, Department of Public Works, and Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety and of the Department of Public Health, as of the date of application for a permit. No inmate shall be housed or cared for in any attic, basement or cellar. Where more than five (5) inmates are housed in a nursing home the building shall be of Class A or B construction. (Section 158)

Inspection

The Department of Public Health, its officers and representatives, and all duly appointed or elected Health Officers, shall at all reasonable times have the right to enter and inspect the said nursing homes and to inspect the permit and register thereof and to require compliance with this section. (Section 158.)

Administration and Staff

1. It must be shown that there are sufficient funds to properly finance the establishment and maintenance of the nursing home. The net income from all sources must be regular and sufficient to maintain a comfortable standard of care in the nursing home including abundance and variety of food, warm rooms, clean linen and necessary attendance.

2. The person in charge shall be of suitable age, character and condition of health and temperament to provide care and comfort for incapacitated or aged persons. Experience and nursing skill are also required of the staff and the person in charge in homes maintaining accommodations for bed-patients.

3. The applicant or the management may be required to submit a certificate of good health signed by a licensed physician for any member of the staff.

4. There must be sufficient staff employed to insure adequate care of patients, night and day, and maintaining a good standard of upkeep, cleanliness and housekeeping.

5. There should be a registered graduate nurse on the staff. If the services of a registered graduate nurse are not available, admission to the home should be limited to patients not requiring skilled nursing care or treatments.

6. It is the responsibility of the nursing home to see that patients are under medical care.

7. There should be no small children or adolescents in the family but exceptions may be made. The normal activities of children disturb ill, aged and incapacitated persons to the disadvantage of both children and patients.

8. The premises shall be maintained in a clean and sanitary condition.

Zoning

1. The building should be situated in a second residential district with easily accessible outdoor space.

2. No sign, advertising matter or other device of any character shall be displayed on any portion of the exterior of such building or premises which will give any outward indication of the character of its occupancy.

3. External premises must be kept in an orderly manner so as not to detract from the neighborhood appearance.

Housing

1. The building or structure must meet all the requirements of the State Housing Act of the State Health and Safety Code and of the San Francisco Municipal Code and comply with sanitary regulations of the Department of Public Health.

2. The operation of nursing homes in multiple family dwellings is not approved, though under exceptional circumstances to be determined by the San Francisco Department of Public Health they may be permitted.

3. It is required that patients be housed only on the first and second floors in a frame building.

4. Sleeping rooms must provide a minimum of 500 cubic feet of air space for each occupant and the San Francisco Department of Public Health may require as much as 800 cubic feet of air space for occupant.

5. The use of a bedroom for a patient opening on an inner court may be prohibited by the San Francisco Department of Public Health.

6. Ventilation must be adequate. Window area shall measure at least one-eighth of the floor area. Half of window area shall open to outer air.

7. Single rooms (one bed) or double rooms (two beds) should be provided for inmates in preference to wards.

8. Room arrangements must provide a comfortable, well lighted, well ventilated room or suitable area set up as a living room for the use of inmates, guests, family, and as a place for the proper conduct of business. This living room if otherwise meeting requirements and if approved by the San Francisco Department of Public Health may be used as a sleeping room for members of the staff or family.

9. It is recommended that part of the nursing home be set aside for the exclusive use of the household and/or staff.

10. Alteration and structural changes may be done only after necessary or required permits for same have been secured from the Central Permit Bureau, City Hall, with the approval of the Department of Public Health and Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety.

Fire Prevention

1. Fire prevention features must comply with the requirements of the State Housing Act, City and County ordinances and the local fire prevention authorities. Where special fire or safety hazards exist, the San Francisco Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety and/or the San Francisco Department of Public Health may make special requirements in any home to ensure the safety of an individual or group of inmates.

2. No inmate may be housed above the second floor of a nonfireproof building under any circumstances.

3. Each floor of any building must have at least two widely separated means of exit leading to the level of floor next below and leading to street or alley, or yard. Means of egress from yard must be approved by the San Francisco Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety. The Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety may require a fireproof passage to street from yard. Additional exits may be required by local fire prevention authority. A window is not an exit unless it gives easy access to a ramp, slide, stairway or fire escape.

4. Fire fighting equipment or increased facilities for water supply and pressure shall be provided and maintained as required by the city laws and regulations.

5. Heat equipment must be adequate to provide warmth as needed by the inmates. Gas heaters must be vented according to city laws and regulations. Kerosene heaters shall not be used. Fireplaces must have screens. Installation of oil, gas, or similar appliances, must be approved by the Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety. Attention is called to the danger of electrocution in bathrooms unless electric heaters are properly placed and guarded.

6. A night nurse, orderly, watchman, signal system or fire alarm may be required if special hazards exist. The staff must at all times of the day or night be adequate to safeguard the guests or patients in an emergency.

7. No inmate shall be locked into his bedroom by day or night. A lightly attached hook to prevent single guests from wandering out of the room may be used if it is so attached that the door can be readily pulled open from either side in case of emergency. The master key to all rooms locked on the inside by guests should be kept where any staff member can readily find it in emergency. Windows shall not be barred or closed by any screen heavier than ordinary fly screening. Patients needing protection from escape belong in a home supervised by the Department of Institutions.

Sanitary Facilities

1. There must be a minimum of one toilet and one wash basin for every five patients or fraction of that number.

2. It is recommended that separate sanitary facilities be provided for staff or family.

3. A slop-sink or other adequate and approved facility for emptying and proper cleansing of bedpans, which facility may be a toilet with easily accessible running water, must be provided on each floor used for patients if accommodations for bed patients are maintained. Bedpans under no circumstances may be washed, rinsed, stored or carried through the kitchen.

4. Whenever specifically required by the San Francisco Department of Public Health floor surfaces of bathroom and toilet compartments shall be waterproof with nonabsorbent material, such as tile, concrete, composition or similar waterproof material.

5. Hand railings at the side of toilets and bathtubs are recommended as a safeguard to incapacitated and aged persons.

6. Adequate refrigeration for the storage of food shall be supplied.

7. Satisfactory provision must be made for the sanitary storage and cleaning of soiled laundry.

8. Approved garbage containers and service shall be provided.

Heating

1. The home must be adequately and safely heated.

2. The heating plant must be approved by the Housing Division of the San Francisco Department of Public Health and by the Bureau of Fire Prevention and Public Safety.

3. Hot water heaters with sufficient capacity to serve patients and for sterilizing dishes and kitchen equipment should be provided.

Yard

2. This space should be dry, sheltered and sunny.

Equipment

1. Patients' rooms must be completely furnished with provision for the personal belongings of patients.

2. There must be good beds and a good quality of bedding in sufficient quantity. Hospital beds are recommended.

3. Mattresses should be of good quality and should be protected with rubber sheets when necessary.

4. Linens and utensils must be provided in sufficient quantity to insure a good type of personal hygiene for patients.

5. There must be adequate facilities for the storage, preparation and serving of food.

Admission Requirements

1. The Department of Public Health will specify by permit the number and type of patients to be housed in the nursing home at any one time. Admissions and accommodations must be limited to this number.

2. Care must be taken not to admit mental cases. A special license from the State Department of Institutions is necessary in order to care for mental cases.

Medical Supervision

1. Nursing homes should have a physician on the staff in the capacity of a medical adviser.

2. Every patient must be under the care of a licensed physician. On admission of a patient the nursing home operator shall secure from him or her or persons responsible for said patient the name of physician to be called for medical care.

3. New admissions to nursing homes must be seen by the physician within the first 24 hours after admission unless oral or written orders from physician or clinic accompany patient. Oral orders must be confirmed in writing within a period of 48 hours.

4. Every nursing home should have adequate facilities for isolation for cases of acute illness occurring in the nursing home.

5. Adequate nursing care must be available at all times, night and day, and a good type of routine care for patients must be maintained.

6. A call system is recommended.

7. Staff members should have routine periodic physical examinations.

Dietary

1. Particular attention must be given to special diets and to the dietary needs of incapacitated and aged persons.

2. Food served must be ample and of good quality, variety, well prepared and attractively served.

3. Trays, dishes and silverware must be of suitable material, easily cleaned and kept in good condition.

4. Whenever specifically requested by the San Francisco Department of Public Health means shall be on fire and posted preferably in the kitchen.

5. Adequate refrigeration must be maintained for the storage of food.

6. The preparation, care and serving of food, and the care of dishes and silverware are subject to inspection at any time.

Recreation

1. Living rooms provided for the accommodation of patients should be comfortable, have natural light, well lighted, well ventilated, and equipped with recreational facilities.

Records

1. A register must be kept in which are recorded the name, age, creighton if obtainable, date of admission, date of discharge, the name and address of the nearest relative or responsible friend, the name of the patient's physician and his admission diagnosis, his condition on discharge and the address to which the patient is discharged.

2. The register must be kept up to date and is subject to inspection at any reasonable time.

3. A record separate from the register shall be kept of the amounts paid for patients' care. This record shall be subject to inspection by the San Francisco Department of Public Health when necessary.

Conclusion as to Sufficiency of Present Laws and Regulations

Boarding homes for the aged are governed by Sections 2300 to 2310 of the Welfare and Institutions Code, and the rules and regulations adopted by the Department, which, in substance, require a written license or permit from the State Department of Social Welfare or from one of its local accredited agencies in order for any person to receive or care for one or more persons over the age of 65 years, who is not a relative of the operator of the boarding home.

Sanitariums and rest homes are not required to obtain a license or permit under State law or regulations.

The City and County of San Francisco has adopted an ordinance which, in substance, provides that all hospitals, health institutions, sanitariums and nursing homes shall be under the jurisdiction of the Department of Health, which shall issue licenses or permits to those which qualify. Rules and regulations have been set up governing the conduct and operation of such institutions.

The City Council of San Diego has passed an ordinance requiring persons conducting rest homes, nursing homes, sanitariums, etc., to submit to inspection and to operate under a permit issued by the Department of Public Health. There are no rules and regulations in operation pertaining to sanitariums and rest homes, as the new city ordinance covering the institutions is not yet in operation, according to J. H. Rainwater, Director of the Public Welfare Department of San Diego County.

The City of Los Angeles and the County of Los Angeles, while having ordinances regarding construction, zoning, and general matters pertaining to hospitals, sanitariums and rest homes, do not have any ordinances, rules or regulations pertaining to the type of food, diet, medical facilities, qualification of nurses, type of operator, or other pertinent phases concerned in the operation of sanitariums and nursing or rest homes.

It should be noted that there are no written rules and regulations pertaining to sanitariums and rest homes in the County of Los Angeles, according to Mrs. Irma D. Graham, Secretary of the Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission.

MORRIS S. SHELLE, Director of Sanitation and Housing of the Los Angeles City Health Department, testified as follows:

We have no ordinances that amount to anything that we can enforce... the State Housing Act is merely a cold blooded act that deals with nothing but strains and stresses and ventilation and the number of toilets and bathing facilities and everything that you would have to provide in a hotel or apartment house.

Conditions in Places Used for Care of the Aged

Evidence was introduced before your committee on March 1 and 2, 1943, and many communications were received, which disclose that many boarding homes for aged, sanitariums and rest homes were improper in the following particulars:

1. Lack of sanitation and cleanliness.
2. Meager food and malnutrition.
3. Lack of linen and medical supplies.
4. Proper medical attention was not given to the aged in many instances.
5. Insufficient number of nurses and attendants.
6. Improper type of persons operating homes.
7. Physical violence to patients.
8. Lack of attention to patients who were left in a filthy condition on many occasions.
9. There are instances where there is not proper segregation of mentally and physically ill patients.

The following are excerpts from the testimony introduced before the committee. The names and addresses of the homes are omitted from this report but are contained in the transcript of the proceedings before the committee, as well as the exhibits introduced therein. For the purpose of this report, the homes will be referred to by number.

FRANCES ZIEGLER testified as follows:

I am a practical nurse and have been engaged in that type of work in Los Angeles for six years. I spent two nights in Rest Home No. 1. Mr. A, the operator, was visibly intoxicated both nights. The moral character of the people running the so-called sanitariums and rest homes is a most important factor. I will tell the good things first. The place was spotlessly clean; there wasn't even dust in evidence. But the lack of linen is a big factor in a nursing home. The patients were not segregated. The patients have to be dried and cleaned constantly, at least every hour; that goes with senile old people. Mr. A had a poor little old lady who was very ill; she had cancer of the stomach to such an extent that she vomited almost constantly. There were no linens; there was nothing there to keep that woman clean. She was shut in a little butler's pantry with a small window opening onto a dark court. There was a building up against this window just two feet away. There are generally 18 to 25 patients in these rest homes or sanitariums. One nurse is usually in attendance at night. In Rest Home No. 1 the lack of food was one of the main things; the people were mostly hungry. One person can not feed a great many of these patients who have to be fed by hand. The operators of the homes do not care to provide the necessary number of nurses. I asked Mr. A why there were no sedatives provided; there was absolutely no medical equipment for these people that could not sleep and that had to be watched. Mr. A said "Tell them to go to hell if they can't sleep." There was another woman who was in a private room; she was paralyzed but could talk. Both nights that I was there, she was hungry. The first thing she asked me for was a glass of milk. There was nothing in the icebox and nothing on the shelves. I couldn't even find a can of milk to open. Mr. A considered this woman troublesome. She was a woman that they had been tying to the bed because when she became uncomfortable from lack of care, she would do her best to strip her bed and herself. There was no reason to tie up a woman in that condition. I told Mr. A that it was wrong to tie her, and did he have anything that he could possibly give her to get her to sleep, so he gave her two little pellets out of his pocket.

Q. By Mr. Chotimer: "You say 'out of his pocket'; were they in a bottle or some other container?"

were not at all violent were physically mistreated by the attendants to make them behave as they thought they should behave.

AGNES MCKENNA testified as follows:

I am a practical nurse and have been employed in that work for 12 years. I am familiar with Rest Home No. 5. Mrs. E., the operator of the rest home, underfed the people. I have heard the testimony that has been given here by other witnesses, and would say from my experience in working in various rest homes and sanitariums, that the conditions described are just about the same system from one place to the other.

Enforcement

While the provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code, together with the rules and regulations of the State Social Welfare Department, require the licensing and inspection of any place that cares for a person over the age of sixty-five, nevertheless no attempt has been made to require a license for a place that operates as a sanitarium or rest home, even though it cares for a person over the age of sixty-five, according to the testimony given by Col. Archibald B. Young, Chairman of the State Social Welfare Board.

Placement Agencies

LAWRENCE C. SCHREIBER, Executive Director of Public Assistance of Los Angeles County, testified as follows:

There are placement agencies in Los Angeles County that operate commercially for the purpose of placing individuals in boarding homes for aged, sanitariums and rest homes. Generally they set themselves up as placement agencies for recipients of old age assistance, and in making such placements it is quite apparent that they are not interested in whether or not the boarding homes, rest homes, or sanitariums have a proper license; they are merely interested, apparently, in making the placement for the fee that they will receive for having rendered that service. The fee is 25 per cent of the first two months' pay that is given to the operator. In some cases there is even a follow-up on that where the placement agency requires in the contract that 25 per cent of each succeeding seven months' pay will go to the agency.

"Q. Is there any service that the recipient of old age assistance gets from a placement agency that that person could not get by going to your department and getting a list of licensed places within the territory in which they wish to live?"

"A. None whatsoever. If the recipient, in fact, were to use the Department of Public Assistance as the agency to find a boarding home for him, he would be much better served."

We find frequently that through the services of one of these agencies the recipient of old age assistance is found to be in an unlicensed home. There is no licensing provision in the law as to any of these placement agencies.

Q. by Senator Deuel: "Can you conceive that any hardship would accrue to these old age recipients if the Legislature should ban entirely the placement bureaus?"

"A. No, I believe that no hardship would accrue to the recipient, because of the fact that the Public Welfare Department is in a position to afford the recipient sufficient information whereby he can make his own choice. On the other hand, it might not be necessary to enact such legislation to bar this private industry from operating if sufficient regulation through the law might be thrown around him so as to fix the fee that he would be permitted to charge, and also require that he refer no recipient to any except a licensed home. That would be in the judgment of the Legislature."

"Q. Why should any private agency be entitled to charge a fee for placement when you have all the facilities, with the organized setup of a State agency?"

"A. As I said, Senator, the Public Welfare Department is in a position to afford this service to the clients."

"Q. Well, then, there is no reason for the placement agency?"

"A. No real reason for it at all, that's correct."

"Q. Well, then, if the Legislature should ban the private placement agency, no hardship would accrue to the individual?"

"A. That is what I stated."

Q. by Mr. Chotiner: "If the operators of these homes didn't have to pay 25 per cent of the fee to a placement agency, they could use that money for the purpose of purchasing food and proper medication and furnishing attention to the recipients of old age assistance?"

"A. That's the root of the whole thing because it is only logical to assume that having paid that fee to the placement agency, the operator of the boarding home is going to attempt to recover it some way or another, and the only method by which the operator has the opportunity of recovery is by reducing the service that is given to the recipient.

"Q. In other words, can you give any explanation that would justify why money that was supposed to be going to the benefit of the elderly people should find its way into the pockets of private individuals who are receiving a fee for receiving them there?"

"A. I cannot."

LEO J. WHEATON, Sanitarium and Rest Home Investigator, Department of Public Assistance, County of Los Angeles, testified as follows:

"To my knowledge, there are four placement agencies in the County of Los Angeles. One operator of a placement agency also operates a sanitarium in connection with her placement agency. She takes her cases into the sanitarium, and if she is full or doesn't have the vacancies, then she sends them to another sanitarium and collects her fee for that."

"Q. But in all cases the recipient of old age assistance pays the fee?"

"A. Not personally. It is paid to the operator of the home who pays the placement agency."

"Q. But it comes out of the pocket of the old age pensioner?"

"A. It comes out of the fund that the recipient pays for her or his care. There is no city or county ordinance that covers the supervision or regulation or licensing of any of the placement agencies."

"Q. by Senator Deuel: "How long have these placement bureaus been operating here?"

"A. Approximately three years ago when we first heard of them."

"Q. You would be in a position to recommend to these pensioners suitable homes?"

"A. Yes, we do that now upon their application."

"Q. Well, then, it necessarily follows that there is no real need for these placement bureaus?"

"A. Well, not insofar as old age assistance is concerned."

Conference of State, County and City Officials

On March 23, 1943, a conference was held by Murray M. Chotiner, Attorney for the Committee, with State, county and city health and social welfare officials. Those attending the conference were: Mr. Archibald B. Young, Chairman State Social Welfare Board; Dr. Edward Kujala, representing Dr. Wilton L. Halverson, Director State Department of Health; Dr. H. O. Swartout, Acting Health Officer, Los Angeles County; Dr. George M. Ell, Los Angeles City Health Officer; Lawrence C. Schrader, Executive Director Department of Sanitation and Housing of Los Angeles County; Morris S. Siegel, Director of Sanitation and Housing of Los Angeles City Health Department; Eugene J. Bamiller, Chief of Los Angeles County Sanitation, Housing and Institution Inspection Division of the Department of Health; Mrs. Irma D. Graham, Secretary Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission; and J. M. Kennick, representing Herbert C. Legg, City Manager of Long Beach.

The consensus of the conference was as follows:

1. There should be State legislation covering the subject of boarding homes for aged, hospitals, sanitariums and rest homes.

2. There should be State supervision of the licensing and regulation of them, with authority being delegated to city and county officials.

3. There should be a uniformity of minimum rules and regulations throughout the State.

4. The State Department of Health is the proper State agency to maintain the supervision.

5. The County and City Departments of Health are the proper local agencies that should be charged with the responsibility of supervising and regulating boarding homes for the aged, hospitals, sanitariums, and nursing and rest homes.

6. The local health officer charged with the responsibility for supervising and regulating these places should call on the local social welfare agency for reports on the competency of persons operating them insofar as social welfare standards are concerned.

The opinion was also expressed that places which are strictly boarding homes for the aged could be handled by local social welfare agencies under a delegation of authority from the local health department.

Recommendations of the Committee

Based on the foregoing facts, your committee makes the following recommendations:

1. Sections 2300 to 2310 of the Welfare and Institutions Code which provide for the supervision and regulation of boarding homes for the aged under the jurisdiction of the State Social Welfare Department, or its accredited agencies, should be repealed.

2. Every county, city and county, and city should be charged by a State law with the responsibility and authority to pass and enact such ordinances, laws, rules and regulations as may be necessary for the licensing and proper supervision, regulation and inspection of all hospitals, health institutions, boarding homes for the aged, sanitariums, and nursing or rest homes, within their respective jurisdictions.

3. The health officer of each county, city and county, and city should be charged with the responsibility of enforcing such ordinances, laws, rules and regulations as may be adopted by the respective local governments, and shall also be empowered to adopt such rules and regulations as may be necessary and proper for the proper supervision and regulation of all hospitals, health institutions, boarding homes for the aged, sanitariums, and nursing or rest homes.

4. The local health officer should be authorized to call on local social welfare agencies for such assistance as may be required of them in determining the competency of persons who operate hospitals, health institutions, boarding homes for the aged, sanitariums, and nursing or rest homes.

5. The local health officer should be authorized to delegate to a local social welfare agency the responsibility of supervising and regulating boarding homes for the aged as distinguished from hospitals, health institutions, sanitariums, or nursing or rest homes.

6. It should be unlawful for any person or persons, firm, corporation, or association to collect a fee, directly or indirectly, from any hospital, health institution, boarding home for the aged, sanitarium, or nursing or rest home, or from any person who shall use the services of any of said places, or reside in any of said places, in return for the furnishing of the name of any of said places to any specific person who shall use or reside in any of said places; or in return for the recommendation of any of said places. It is the intention of the committee to ban the commercial operation of placement agencies for hospitals, health institutions, boarding homes for the aged, sanitariums, and nursing or rest homes.

7. It should be a misdemeanor for any person or persons, firm, corporation, or association to operate or conduct or maintain a hospital, health institution, boarding home for the aged, sanitarium, or nursing or rest home without first obtaining a permit or license from the local health department or its accredited agency. A violation of any of the laws, rules or regulations that may be adopted pertaining to the operation, conducting and maintenance of a hospital, health institution, boarding home for the aged, sanitarium, or nursing or rest home, should be grounds for suspension or revocation of the license.

8. The State Department of Health should collect from and distribute to the various counties, city and county, and cities of the State any information which will assist them in the adoption and enforcement of ordinances, laws, rules, and regulations pertaining to hospitals, health institutions, boarding homes for the aged, sanitariums, and nursing and rest homes. Each county, city and county, and city should furnish to the State Department of Health full information concerning the ordinances, laws, rules and regulations, standards, and minimum requirements adopted by it, and such other information as is necessary to enable the department to maintain records of the licenses issued, suspended or revoked.

9. These recommendations shall not be considered to be in conflict with Sections 480 to 486 of the Health and Safety Code, dealing with contracts for local health administration by cities and counties; nor with Sections 491 to 493 of the Health and Safety Code, providing for county health administration for unincorporated towns; nor with Sections 500 to 509 of the Health and Safety Code, dealing with city health ordinances, boards and officers.

10. A State law should set forth the definition of a boarding home for the aged, hospital, health institution, sanitarium, and nursing or rest home.

Inasmuch as the Legislature is now in the process of completing its business and seeking to finally adjourn, it does not appear feasible to your committee to enact legislation at this time incorporating the foregoing recommendations. Such legislation would, under the circumstances, be hurried and ill-considered. It is absolutely essential that any legislation presented be thoroughly considered, carefully thought out, and all parties given an opportunity to be heard. The committee therefore recommends that it be empowered to conduct further investigations and be authorized to prepare necessary legislation during the interim between the final adjournment of this session of the Legislature and the convening of the Fifty-sixth Session of the Legislature. During this interim the committee will seek to have its recommendations put into effect by administrative action of the State departments and counties involved.

Respectfully submitted.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Mayo asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following statement regarding Assembly Bill No. 1994 printed in the Journal:

Analysis of Assembly Bill No. 1994 Re: Changes From Existing Law

Section 2005: This provides for the payment of aid to an applicant in a home of his own choosing in preference to placing him in an institution. The three words added to this section are "his own choosing." This follows the general practice.

Section 2008.5: This adds a new section, making it a misdemeanor for any person to accept compensation or remuneration for making an application for any person for Old Age Security or for assisting the aged person in getting his aid.

Section 2014: This is a new section added to the law. It provides that in cases of dispute, the application and supporting documents pertaining to any case shall be open to the applicant or his designated agent.

Section 2015: This is a new section added to the law and provides that copies of all laws and rules and regulations shall be made available to the public. This follows the present regulations.

Section 2016: This is a new section added to the law. It provides that upon request every applicant shall be given an itemized report, setting forth the amount of aid granted to him and any deductions.

Section 202.01: This is a new section added to the law. It provides for grant of aid to $50 per month after deducting all income excepting such income as may be designated as casual. This section remains in effect until the closing of the next regular session of the Legislature.

Section 2020.05: This is a new section added to the law. This provides that if and when amendments to the Federal statutes or rules and regulations of the Federal Security Board permit the State to allow earnings of an applicant to be retained by the applicant without deduction from his grant, the same shall be applicable in California.

Section 2021.01: This is a new section added to the law. It appropriates $500 per annum for each aged person by the State. This gives effect to a ratio of sharing between the counties and the State of five-sixths State and one-sixth county. This section remains in effect until the end of the next regular session of the Legislature.

Section 2142.5: This is a new section added to the code. It provides that every person administering the aid shall do so with courtesy, consideration and respect to the applicant, and prohibits the person administering the aid from attempting to elicit any information not necessary to the establishment of eligibility.

Section 2160: This is amended on page 4, line 45, changing the time in which applicants may be in a hospital and receive old age security from 60 days to two calendar months. This amendment was made for clarity and technical purposes. Again, on page 5, line 10, the same law reads providing that the same aid and benefit furnished the applicant as a gift shall not be grounds for refusing aid.

Section 2163: This is amended to provide that personal property may be received by the applicant in the amount of $600 after deducting all encumbrances of record and further provides that the premiums on insurance policies shall not be deemed income of the applicant and no deduction therefor shall be made to the amount of the grant.

Section 2163.1: This is a new section added to the law providing that an heir, legatee or devisee shall not be considered the owner of the property until the property is available to him. It further provides that a beneficiary of a trust shall not be considered the owner of a trust until it is made available to him.

Section 2163.2: This is a new section added to the law and provides that personal property does not include personal effects such as furniture, clothing and household equipment, etc., but does include jewelry and other items of similar character.

Section 2163.7: This provides that any place of abode such as a boat or trailer shall be considered real property in determining eligibility.

Section 2164: This is amended to provide that the applicant may own real property of an assessed value of $3,000 less all encumbrances of record. Heretofore we were not permitted to deduct the encumbrances.

Section 2180: This is amended to provide that if the applicant is physically unable to apply, another may apply in his behalf; however, it does provide that every application after being reduced to writing shall be signed under oath by the applicant.

Section 2181: This first provides that the investigation shall be completed within 60 days, and second, modifies the degree of relatives' responsibility. On page 7 there is a scale which sets forth the amount of contributions which shall be made by the responsible relatives in accordance with their income, such income to be determined upon the net income.

Section 2181.01: This is a new section added to the law and provides that aid shall not be withheld pending the financial condition of the responsible relatives, providing that the applicant can establish the fact that he is not receiving support.

Section 2181.1: This provides that the board of supervisors shall immediately notify the applicant of its decision on each case. The applicant has 30 days in which to apply to the board of supervisors for a rehearing on such decision; that a hearing shall be set within the following 30 days and the board of supervisors must render its decision within 15 days thereafter. This is an alternative method for the applicant to follow if he does not appeal directly to the State Social Welfare Board. However, the applicant, if dissatisfied with the decision of the board of supervisors, may then appeal to the State board.

Section 2182: This is amended to provide that an applicant can apply any time after he has been denied aid if the conditions which made him ineligible have been removed.

Section 2182.1: This is a new section added to the law providing that an applicant can appeal to the courts; that no filing fee shall be required and that if the applicant is successful shall be entitled to a reasonable attorney fee and costs to be paid by the State.

Section 2183: This has been amended to provide a 60-day investigation period and the aid to begin not later than the first day of the month following the end of the 60-day period.

Section 2182.1: This is a new section added to the law. It provides that if a warrant is lost or destroyed, the applicant may obtain a duplicate warrant without the necessity of filing a bond. It further provides that if the applicant has not received the warrant within 20 days after mailing, it shall be deemed lost or destroyed.

Section 2187.01. This is a new section added to the code and is a technical section which deals with the method of advancing State and Federal moneys to the counties on the basis of 5/6 and 1/6. This section is effective until the end of the next regular session of the Legislature.

Section 2222. This is amended. These are merely technical amendments for clarification of language and make no substantial change.

Section 2222.7. This is a new section added to the law and relates to the return by the county, State and Federal Government of any collections made which later prove to be erroneously collected and in fact there was no debt due from the recipient of aid to the county, State or Federal Government.

Section 2223.5. This provides that if an applicant has received aid in good faith during a period when he was not entitled thereto, the amount that shall be collected from him shall only be the amount equal to the amount of excess property which he may have possessed at the time.

Section 2224. This has been amended to provide that the county shall use a brief form to determine if the responsible relatives are in fact contributing and will continue to contribute to the support of the applicant in accordance with the scale set forth on page 7 of the bill.

The bill is set up to provide that this act shall go into effect July 1, 1943.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Salsman:

Senate Resolution No. 137

Relating to creation of a Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, defining its powers and duties and making an appropriation for its expenses.

WHEREAS, Hundreds of changes in the organization and administration of the State Government are proposed at each session of the Legislature. The complicated machinery of State Government erected to serve the citizens of this State, can function only under law. New circumstances constantly arise which previous statutes did not contemplate. It is necessary for the Legislature to study these circumstances carefully, with a view to revising and amending the law relating thereto, in order that the most efficient, economical, and equitable administration of the laws may be fostered.

During the interim between sessions it is desirable to ascertain and collate the facts upon which legislation may be based. The Legislature can best function as a fact-finding agency through legislative committees; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That there is hereby created a Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, which committee shall study and investigate, accurately and in detail, the organization, functions, and administration of the State Government and of any department, agency, or subdivision thereof and of the governments of the cities and counties of this State, for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to promote efficiency, to reduce and eliminate costs, to provide for the consolidation of functions and removal of duplication, and to do all other things necessary and proper to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the State and local governments and the agencies and subdivisions thereof.

The committee shall consist of five members appointed by the Rules Committee. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the Rules Committee.

Senate Resolution No. 138

Relative to the creation of a Joint Committee to Investigate the Water Situation at Needles and Vicinity

WHEREAS, The channel of the Colorado River has gradually risen since the construction of Parker Dam, and the flood waters of said river have recently and are now over-running, inundating and damaging public and private property in the vicinity of Needles, California, and has created a condition at and near Needles, which is dangerous to the public health and to the public safety and convenience; and

WHEREAS, The boundary line of the State of California, as described in the Constitution, extends to the Colorado River "thence down the middle of the channel of said river to the boundary line between the United States and Mexico"; and

WHEREAS, Said river has at various times and will continue to meander back and forth, widening and changing said channel and causing great uncertainty as to the actual location of said boundary line between the said States, which meanderings and changing of such channel has resulted in great uncertainty as to the duty and obligations of the respective officers of said States concerning the abatement of the nuisance hereinbefore referred to, and the responsibility for protecting the public health and safety; and

WHEREAS, The responsibility for and the extent of said flood condition is uncertain and yet undetermined; and

WHEREAS, The aforesaid situation requires immediate and prompt action by the State of California in order to prevent irreparable damage and injury to the property and property rights of citizens of this State and of the State itself, and to afford proper protection for the public health and safety; and

WHEREAS, The Legislature requires complete and adequate information as to all phases of this situation in order that appropriate legislation may be presented to and considered by it; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That there is hereby created a joint committee to investigate the said situation at Needles, and along said channel of said river, which committee shall investigate, ascertain, and appraise all facts and matters relating to the location of boundary lines to the encroachment of the waters of the Colorado River upon lands adjacent to said river in the vicinity of Needles and along said river both upstream and downstream from Needles where overflow conditions exist, and ascertain and determine, if possible, a plan for the immediate alleviation of said condition and determine the responsibility therefor; and be it further

Resolved, That said committee shall consist of three members of the Senate appointed by the Committee on Rules thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereby created in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) All the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) all the powers conferred upon committees by the Rules of the Assembly, the Rules of the Senate, and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of all matters connected with any phase of the subject of this resolution;

(2) To meet at any place within the State in public or executive session;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To employ such clerical, technical, engineering or professional assistants as may be necessary to carry out its purposes;

(6) To hold public hearings at any place in California;

(7) To meet at any time during sessions of the Legislature or any recess thereof;

(8) To contact and cooperate with the City of Needles, the Federal Reclamation Bureau, the Santa Fe Company, the Metropolitan Water District, the Department of Public Works, and any other agency interested in the solution of the problems resulting from the flood conditions with the purpose and object of seeking cooperation for immediate and prompt action to alleviate such condition;

(9) To report its findings to the Legislature;

(10) To summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpoenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and procure testimony; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths; and be it further

Resolved, That the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Assembly, the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, or other officers designated by either of them are hereby directed to serve any and all subpoenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That the Department of Public Works, Attorney General, the State Engineer and every other department, commission, board, agency, officer and employee of the State Government and their subordinates, and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That it is the intention of the Legislature that the provisions of Senate Bill No. 727 be deemed to be sufficiently comprehensive to permit the Department of Public Works to expend money from the appropriation set forth in said bill, upon the terms and under the conditions set out in said bill, to assist in alleviating the flood conditions at Needles, if said department determines that such flood conditions justify such expenditures, and the Department of Public Works is requested to cooperate with said committee in determining whether the flood conditions herein referred to justify any such expenditure; and be it further

Resolved, That all departments and agencies of the United States having jurisdiction over any matter relating to the waters of the Colorado River are requested to assist said committee in performing its duties under this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of ten dollars ($10) per day; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the contingent funds of the Senate and of the Assembly for the expenses of the committee and its members and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be paid equally from the contingent funds of the Senate and of the Assembly and disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer; provided, however, that no member of said committee shall be entitled to receive expenses or mileage during the sessions of the Legislature, except such expenses and mileage as shall be incurred during the constitutional recess.

REPORT OF THE SENATE INTERIM COMMITTEE ON BUILDING TO THE HONORABLE FREDERICK F. HOUSER, PRESIDENT, AND TO THE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE

Organization of the Committee

Pursuant to Senate Resolution No. 151, adopted June 14, 1941, page 2783 of the Senate Journal, and continued and expanded by Senate Resolution No. 31, adopted January 20, 1943, page 145 of the Senate Journal, copies included in this report, the Senate Interim Committee on Building, consisting of five members, was appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules, page 2850 of the Senate Journal, on June 14, 1941.

The members appointed were Senators Thomas McCormack, Chairman; George M. Biggar, Randolph Collier, James J. McBride, and Harry L. Parkman.

The committee met in Room 406 of the State Capitol, Sacramento, on October 14, 1941, for the purposes of organization and the planning of its work and inspection of the State buildings. Senator Biggar was elected to serve as vice chairman and Wanda Durkee was appointed to serve as secretary.

Explanation of Form of Report

The Senate Building Committee is departing somewhat from the general practice in its style of report. This, we believe, will be an improvement by presenting to the Members of the Senate our conclusions and recommendations immediately following this explanation. These will be in concise form. By this means the members will know exactly what we are discussing in the supporting data which follows.

If some of the members, under pressure of legislative business, do not have an opportunity to read the entire report they can readily follow the conclusions and recommendations and can refer to supporting data for any items under discussion at any time or for any items in which they have a particular interest.

The supporting data with the recommendations will be found in detail in a separate section of the report. Further supporting data, including the entire request of each department and agency will be listed in another section which, because of its volume and size, will remain on file in the office of the Legislative Auditor where it will be open to use by Members of the Legislature.

Conclusions and Recommendations

The committee made six field trips and investigated on the ground as many of the State buildings and institutions as possible. Then, after hearing testimony from representatives of the several State departments and agencies having building needs, and after advising with the State Architect and with the Director of Finance, the committee arrived at the following general conclusions:

State Institutions

The State institutions as a whole are overcrowded. Many of the buildings at the institutions are obsolete. A considerable number present fire and health hazards. Many of these buildings should be replaced. The overcrowding which is generally prevalent should be relieved at the same time.

It was observed that the buildings of the State institutions in Northern California are generally older and more antiquated than those of the institutions of Southern California. At the same time it was noted that the largest increase in population is in Southern California. Both of these factors have been taken into account in the specific recommendations for buildings at the several institutions.

State Colleges

In considering the State colleges a similar situation geographically was noted in that the buildings at San Diego and at Fresno are more modern than in the more northerly schools. Both the Santa Barbara State College and San Francisco are scheduled to move to new sites. Both of them have prepared partially for these moves. It is apparent that in providing for them it is necessary to build enough buildings so that they can move as institutions, for it is impractical to conduct such schools on two separate campuses.

Special Schools

In the case of the special schools, that is, the School for the Deaf and the School for the Blind in Berkeley, consideration has been given to replacing antiquated buildings, some of which have long been condemned, and also increasing the capacity to take care of waiting lists at both schools and to increase these services so they will be more in line with the needs of the State which have grown with added population.

Maritime Academy

An examination of the present location of the Maritime Academy at the Ferry Building demonstrates that this is entirely unsatisfactory. A survey of the new site at Morro Cove and an inspection of the temporary quarters indicates that this will be a desirable location for the school and for the safe anchorage of its boat, "The Golden State."

The housing facilities here are temporary structures of a barracks type. They will be satisfactory for the duration of the war but are not satisfactory for a permanent institution.

No recommendations for buildings are included in the schedule for postwar construction at the Maritime Academy for the reason that recently a special appropriation, Assembly Bill No. 587, of $474,300 was approved for the purpose of completing the temporary buildings for the academy at Morro Cove. This will provide a satisfactory plant for the operation of the academy during the war and for the preparation of a site for the placing of such permanent buildings as can be built.

The Maritime Academy can probably secure priorities, and consideration should be given to starting construction of the permanent buildings as soon as possible. A bill is before the Legislature which will be amended to appropriate $1,100,000 in addition to that already appropriated for this purpose. This should result in a saving of approximately $50,000 through eliminating the construction of additional temporary buildings which will have to be replaced. Whatever is constructed should be built with the idea of holding operation and maintenance to the minimum.

In addition, there is a bill in the Legislature, Senate Bill No. 431, asking for an appropriation of $1,100,000 for the Maritime Academy to begin immediately the construction of a permanent plant. If this bill is passed, provision for this will not be required in this program. The data prepared by the Maritime Academy in support of these bills are included in this report as part of the supporting material.

University of California

Many of the buildings at the University of California at Berkeley are antiquated and do not conform to modern educational needs. Replacement of the buildings here has not conformed to obsolescence and the growth of the institution. On the other hand, the buildings at the University of California at Los Angeles are relatively new and built to meet educational needs. The growth of this university has been such that additional buildings will be necessary to complete the necessary facilities for the broad educational offerings now being made. Since the University of California is largely supported from endowments and is the beneficiary of many gifts from the public and many of these for buildings, it is felt that possibly half of the building requests of the university may be financed from other than State funds.

Penal Institutions

The penal institutions now have a reduced population and are not overcrowded. Their building requirements are limited to replacement and to providing for a service to house the insane criminals. This was approved by the 1939 Legislature but no appropriation has been made. It is recommended that a building at San Quentin to meet this requirement be constructed as soon as possible, using as much prison labor as is practical.

The committee has been informed that priorities can be secured for much of the needed material. The cost of this building has been estimated at approximately $735,000. Senate Bill No. 82 for $735,000 has been approved by the Senate Finance Committee. Since this may be constructed during the coming biennium it is not included in the recommended building reserve fund.

Institution for Men

The Institution for Men at Chino requires more housing space in order to build up its inmate population so it may be operated more economically and make full use of the some 2,000 acres of fine agricultural land which it has. A barracks building of cheap construction will suffice until after the war.

It is recommended that this matter be given serious consideration by the present session of the Legislature so that additional men, as available, can be moved to this institution for the reasons stated.

Institution for Women

The Women's Institution at Tehachapi presents a distinct problem because of the small population, its isolation and the limited production which is possible. Since these inmates should be taught useful occupations and given something to do to keep them busy despite the difficulties of this institution, recognition is given to this need. However, the matter of moving the institution to a more favorable location should be made the subject of study.

Youth Authority

No building program has been considered for the Youth Authority for the reason that a program for this new activity on the part of the State in the opinion of the committee is not definite enough for the State to embark on an extensive building program for this activity at this time. Data are included subsequently in this report indicating that this program will require a capital outlay of approximately $10,000,000 when the Youth Authority Act gets into full operation.

Correctional Schools

It is contemplated that the three correctional schools will be placed under the Youth Authority and that future expansion in them will be made to coordinate with the purposes of the Youth Authority. A moderate expansion is therefore recommended.

Office Buildings

Office buildings at Sacramento, San Francisco and Los Angeles to house agencies of the State now renting space are recommended in addition to the general building reserve fund for the reason that the savings in rent will amortize the cost of these buildings in approximately 20 years. In addition, the departments of the State will have better housing and will be more conveniently located in relation to other State offices, thus expediting State business. This will also provide for additional space for legislative offices, covering all legislative functions, so that the Legislature can better conduct its work.

A plan for Capitol extension to provide separate office space for each member of the Legislature and adequate offices for secretaries, attaches, the Legislative Counsel, the Legislative Auditor, the Bill Room and other legislative services with a garage in the basement adequate for all cars of the legislators, was proposed in 1939. The estimated cost of construction, including the necessary equipment and landscaping, was then $1,500,000. A copy of this proposal, with pictures, drawings and plot plans is included in the supporting data.

It is further recommended by the committee that this plan be modified sufficiently to include adequate space for the State Archives. This space should be fireproof and it should be located above ground at sufficient elevation to be free of all danger from flooding. This space should be designed specifically to house the State Archives which are now located in the basement of the State Capitol and constantly subject to the danger of flood. The committee feels that it would be a great loss to the State if these were destroyed, and believes that reasonable and adequate protection through fireproofing and otherwise satisfactory housing should be provided.

San Diego State Building

A State building is recommended for San Diego on a site donated by the city to cost approximately $500,000, for the reason that San Diego is at the far southern end of the State, farthest removed from the State Capitol, and to a degree isolated. The rented office space in San Diego is scattered throughout the city, and although the saving in rent will not amortize this building it will go far toward paying operating costs. At the same time provision will be made for future expansion of State offices in San Diego for many years to come.

State Fair

The building program of the State Agricultural Society (State Fair) has been held to one item, the Livestock Coliseum (Horse Show Arena), costing approximately $500,000. A larger part of their request is not included for the reason that the State Fair will be accumulating money from the pari-mutuel horse racing during the time of hostilities wherever racing is allowed. Since the State Fair will be closed, this accumulation might very well be used for rehabilitation and capital outlay at the end of the war. By constructing the Horse Show Arena, receipts will be greatly increased from this activity. This will assist materially in financing additional capital outlay.

Veterans' Home

While the Veterans' Home shows a reduced population at the present time, it is believed that there will be an increase with any change downward in economic conditions. It is apparent also that the increasing age of the veterans requires more hospitalization. Recommendation has therefore been confined largely to providing these services and for the replacement of a long overdue administration building.

Women's Relief Corps Home

No additional building is recommended for this institution for the reason that its limited population should show a decline in the very near future. Recommendation has been made only for repairs and replacements.

Governor's Residence

Recommendation is included for a new Governor's residence. A recommendation is made for future provision for a Governor's residence without reference to who may be Governor when the building plan is completed. This is with the thought that a new residence is needed for the Governor of the State, no matter who may be Governor.

The committee is of the opinion that a satisfactory residence for the Governor should be secured and furnished for considerably less than the $150,000 which has been generally recommended. They believe that a building in keeping with the office and the dignity of the State should not be a monumental building but an adequate residence of the Chief Executive.

General Recommendations

The following general recommendations are made:

Building Sites to Be Purchased

First, before buildings can be constructed where they are required in a number of cases, sites must be secured. Also, at several of the institutions, land and water are required either to meet normal needs or for expansion. Since building can not be carried out during the war but should begin immediately after the cessation of hostilities, it is recommended that land and water, where necessary for the operation of the present institutions or for expansion, or necessary for the construction of new institutions and buildings, be secured during the coming biennium.

The necessary money should be appropriated at this session of the Legislature for that purpose. It is recommended that appropriations be made for the following purchases in the aggregate sum of $1,723,630, as per the following schedule of sites to be purchased for the postwar building program.

Sites are to be purchased during the current biennium. Estimates of prices are the best available but have not been submitted for appraisal, so the amounts should be considered as a guide and a proper competent commission authorized to bargain on behalf of the State.

The above recommended program for building sites and for expansion of institutions in general rounds out the need in this respect for many years to come. In the case of the State Colleges, the campuses for these institutions will be sufficient as long as they carry on their present educational program.

This will leave all of the State institutions and schools in a better condition as far as land is concerned than they have been in the history of the State.

San Jose College Site

After a full consideration of the San Jose State College situation, the committee concluded not to make a recommendation for any expansion of the institution through the purchase of additional lands beyond the present campus. This is for the reason that there are three conflicting views concerning the institution.

One view, which is supported by President Macquarrie of the college, is that it should remain at the present site and that additional lands adjacent to the college should be acquired for expansion. The cost of the land for such expansion would be approximately $1,500,000.

The second opinion is that the entire college should be moved outside the congested area and a large and adequate site be secured and a new plant built. The cost of the land would be approximately $500,000, and it would cost from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 to replace the present plant.

The third view, which was supported by several members of the committee, is that the institution should confine itself to educational activities already established in its program and which will compete to the smallest degree with the several other universities and colleges which are in close proximity to the same area; and that the San Jose State College should not seek to expand so as to be in competition with these other institutions. The college should confine itself to its present program and use its present facilities to the largest degree.

The committee recommends that no additional lands, therefore, be purchased for this institution until after a full study of the situation is made to determine just what the program of this institution is to be and whether or not any additional land is needed, and if so, whether the institution should be moved or remain at its present site.

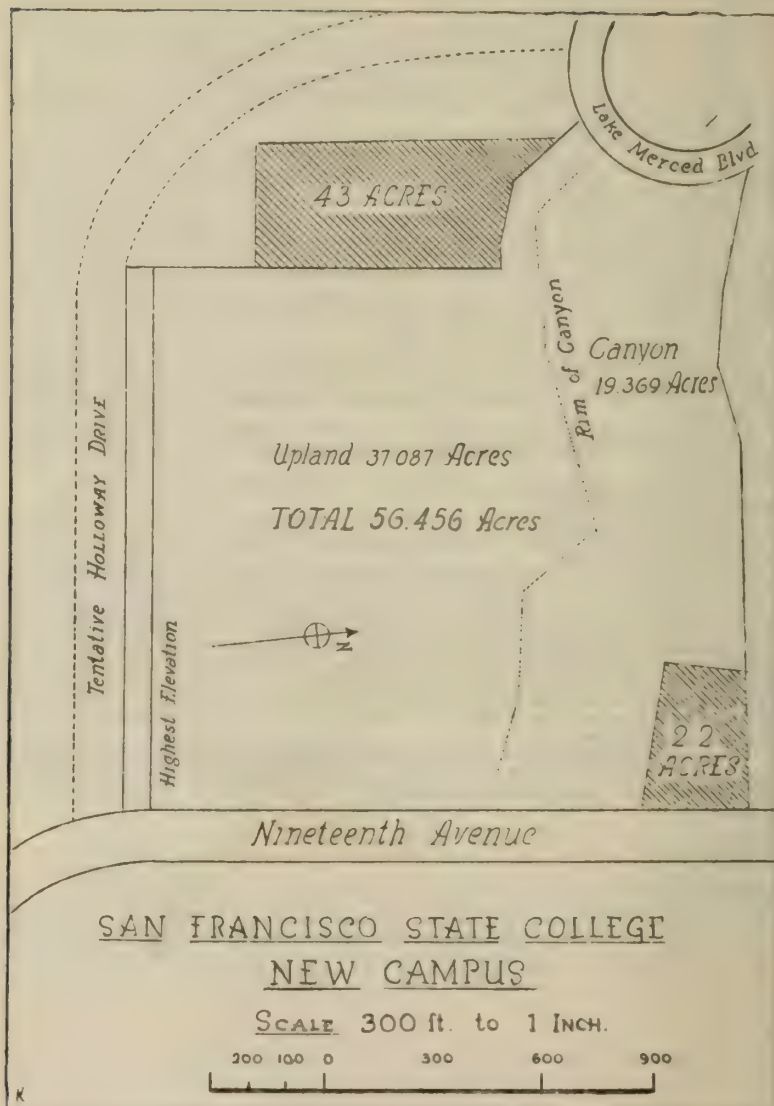

For these reasons the committee does not approve of the bill now in the Legislature, Senate Bill No. 234, for $500,000 for the purchase of additional land at the present site.

There are two parcels of land included in the campus which are owned or controlled by other agencies.

One of them is the old library site which was purchased by the San Jose College Foundation for $55,000 and which eventually must be acquired by the college if it remains in this location.

The other comprises approximately two acres. This land did belong to the State College and was given by the State of California to the City of San Jose for public purposes. They, in turn, transferred it to the high school and now it appears that in order to get it back and add it to the campus where it is required it will be necessary eventually to come to some agreement with the high school district. At the present time it appears that it may be necessary for the State to buy it. It seems that out of equity this property should be transferred back to the State without cost. The high school building is antiquated and will not be serviceable very long. This matter might very well be considered in relation to moving the institution outside of the congested area.

It should be recognized that San Jose State College is in essence a city institution, that many of the students work in town. It also is operated in connection with the junior college, which is in part supported by local taxes.

Santa Barbara College Site

Additional land must be secured at the Santa Barbara State College site of approximately 18 acres before a master plan can be prepared and before that institution can be completed.

San Francisco College Site

At the new San Francisco State College site two small parcels of land should be acquired at once.

One of these parcels, four and four tenths acres, will be deeded to the State for the college under the terms of an agreement with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as soon as actual building on the new site begins. The other parcel, two and two tenths acres at the northeast corner, should be purchased. It will cost $600 per acre, or a total of $13,200. This is provided in Senate Bill No. 620. (See map preceding and also see letter of April 23, 1943, from the Department of Education, subject, additional land needed by the California State Colleges.)

These two institutions are moving to new sites. Their present sites should be disposed of as soon as the move is completed.

Fresno College Lands

Fresno State College desires three parcels of land. These are covered in Senate Bill No. 240 in the sum of $114,500. One parcel consists of 15 acres four blocks east of the present campus and adjacent to the college stadium. It is owned by the College Foundation. It has cost them $34,500. This is considerably less than the present appraisal. The foundation will turn it over to the State at cost.

In order to take care of their agricultural courses, the college wishes to secure approximately 80 acres of land at an estimated price of $40,000.

The third parcel of land consists of two blocks immediately east of the college campus available at an appraised value of $40,000. This is for future expansion and is not needed immediately.

The purchase of this land would round out the college program and provide a plant which should be adequate for many years.

Repair Program for State Buildings*Current Repairs to Be Made and General Repairs at the Termination of Hostilities

The current costs of repairs to keep the State buildings in satisfactory condition should be met during the coming biennium. Some adjustments have been made in the budgets for 1943-45 by adding to the maintenance functions at the different State institutions to assist in this program.

This will provide for the hiring of a small additional maintenance force, plumbers, painters and carpenters if they can be secured. It will not provide a complete maintenance program. It has been suggested that a special fund be set up biennially to take care of repair and maintenance to be spent under the supervision of the State Architect. This appears to be a desirable procedure.

Since the State has not carried on a comprehensive repair program, this small step up does not bring the State buildings up to the condition in which they should be maintained. There is an accumulated cost of repairs which should be made as soon as possible after the war. The State Architect estimates that such a program will cost approximately $3,000,000. It is felt that this sum should be appropriated for this purpose and made available either by the current session of the Legislature or at some subsequent date, so that a proper comprehensive repair program can be undertaken as soon as sufficient manpower is released to make this possible.

It is recommended that in the future the State Architect carry on a continual survey of all State buildings and recommend at each biennium as to what repairs should be made to keep the buildings in proper condition. The biennial appropriations necessary to do this should be made. The practice which has been prevalent in the past of using money appropriated for making repairs for minor construction should be discontinued.

Capital Outlay Program to Be Undertaken at the Termination of Hostilities

The total sum recommended for this purpose of $36,551,767, $6,990,000 of which will be self-liquidating, leaving $29,561,767 net outlay.

This is presented on the following summary sheet and supported by details for each institution and agency. The various State agencies request buildings and land which would cost approximately $116,000,000, covering a 10-year program. Of this amount some $112,000,000 is for sites and actual construction and approximately $4,000,000 for repairs. The long-term program is not well considered but the program of preferred projects of immediate necessity totalling $68,826,853 is pretty well considered. (See sheet following, summary of recommendations.) Out of these requests for $68,000,000 the committee has selected in the order of priority for the different agencies some $29,561,767 in net capital outlay and an additional $6,990,000 for office space in Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego which can be paid for by the savings in rent. A consolidated schedule showing the agency, the building and estimated cost follows:

Plans and Specifications With Actual Working Drawings to Be Prepared
During the Coming Biennium for the Building Program Proposed

The committee recommends that an appropriation be made available to the State Division of Architecture for the making of studies, preparing of plans, specifications and actual working drawings for the several State buildings included in the proposed program. These are to be prepared during the coming biennium so as to make effective the building program recommended herein as soon as hostilities end and material and manpower are available.

It is believed that 4½ per cent of the construction outlay proposed of $36,551,767, or $1,644,830, will be sufficient for this purpose.

By doing this preparatory studying and planning during the current biennium, there are three distinct advantages to be gained. (1) These plans, specifications and working drawings can be prepared in the time available with sufficient consideration to fitting them to the locations where the buildings are to go, properly coordinating them with existing buildings, and the ultimate plan of the institutions. (2) By having sufficient time to study the problem the most economic methods of construction and the largest possible standardization which is possible can be secured. This will serve to reduce both the cost of construction and subsequently the cost of operation. In particular, standardization of hospital buildings, homes for superintendents of hospitals and schools, buildings for guards and other employees can be accomplished. The State has never secured the maximum results along these lines. (3) Sufficient of these plans can be ready and on hand so as to let bids for construction work as soon as hostilities cease and material and manpower are available.

There are many other miscellaneous advantages to be gained by careful and concentrated planning where a sufficient period of time, at least two years, is available.

Detailed information and supporting data will be found in the following pages of this report. It is felt, however, that the facts generally necessary to consider the recommendations of the committee have been presented. Anyone desiring supporting information will find it in the following pages of the report or in the more comprehensive files above referred to.

The Over-all Results to Be Accomplished by the Recommended Building Program

The over-all results which will be accomplished if the building program previously recommended is adopted are as follows:

First of all, the institutions requiring land and water will have these supplied during the coming biennium. The land can be secured at reasonable costs and can be used in some instances to make certain institutions more nearly self-supporting. These added sites can be definitely considered as they will fit into the building program.

Second, the repair program will extend the life of the State's buildings and will cut down on depreciation, as well as making them more serviceable.

While the capital outlay program of $36,551,767 does not entirely meet the needs of the State as they will exist at the close of the coming biennium, June 30, 1945, it will do much to relieve the overcrowding in our institutions and it will provide much of the office space now being rented, and in the case of the Legislature it will immediately give this body adequate offices for their functioning. The whole program will make up for the suspension of building which came with the World War, and which will continue over three or more years. It will make possible for the State to keep abreast of all building needs by making a more modest appropriation biennially, and if this is done no accumulated building needs running into many millions of dollars will be required in the future.

As respects the University of California and the State colleges, it will place them in a condition to meet a return of their student bodies with the close of the World War. In the case of the State colleges at Santa Barbara and San Francisco, it will make it possible for them to move as an operating institution to their new sites. This could not be done without a very large appropriation in each institution for it is difficult to move a part of a college and operate satisfactorily on campuses separated by several miles.

Senate Resolution No. 151

(Senate Journal June 14, 1941, page 2783)

Relative to the creation of a Senate Committee to Study State Building Needs

WHEREAS, While the need for improvements at certain of the State institutions is extremely pressing, it appears that it would be inadvisable for the State to embark in the immediate future on any comprehensive building program in competition with the construction activities of the Federal Government during the existing National emergency; and

WHEREAS, It further appears that the cost of a comprehensive building program should be paid from any excess of revenues over expenditures under existing Revenue Laws; and

WHEREAS, In spite of the fact that the need for additional space to house the officers and the employees of the State has grown in recent years, no comprehensive plan has yet been made for the orderly construction of buildings adequate to meet that need; and

WHEREAS, The report of the Subcommittee of the Senate Committee on Finance on a State Building Program, appearing on page 2407 of the Senate Journal for June 6, 1941, was adopted unanimously by the Senate upon a roll call vote; and

WHEREAS, In that report the subcommittee recommended among other things, that an Interim Committee of the Senate be appointed to make a thorough investigation and to report to the Legislature when it next convenes on the need for and the cost of a plan adequate to care for all State agencies and institutions, and that when the report of such interim committee has been prepared, a special session of the Legislature be called to enact legislation to carry into effect such of the recommendations as seem to it fit and proper; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That a Senate Investigating Committee on State Buildings and Construction, to consist of five Members of the Senate appointed by the Senate Committee on Rules is hereby created, which committee shall study and survey, accurately and in detail, all facts and acts relating to or touching upon the need for and the cost of a plan adequate to care for all State agencies and institutions and to consider a comprehensive State building, construction and improvement program and shall report to the Senate not later than March 15, 1943, or at any special session of the Legislature called to consider the subject, its recommendations for legislation; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall consist of three Members of the Senate appointed by the Committee on Rules of the Senate. Vacancies in the membership of the committee occurring at any time shall be filled by the Committee on Rules of the Senate.

The committee in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) all the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon Senate committees by the Rules of the Senate, and the Joint Rules of the Senate and Assembly, as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such Rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full. The powers specified in such Rules may be exercised by the committee after the final adjournment of this session; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership, and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such legal, clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary;

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such Rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws in any wise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;

(8) To act during this session of the Legislature, including any recess hereof, and after final adjournment hereof, until the commencement of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;

(9) To file a report with the Senate during any session of the Fifty-fourth Legislature and with the Senate during the regular session of the Fifty-fifth Legislature;

(10) To summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records of every kind and description, to issue subpoenas and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of testimony; and

(11) To do any and all other things necessary or convenient to enable it fully and adequately to exercise its powers, perform its duties, and accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee, each of its members, and any representative of the committee thereunto authorized by the committee or by its chairman, is authorized and empowered to administer oaths and the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate or persons designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpoenas, orders and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee; and be it further

Resolved, That every department, commission, board, agency officer and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district of or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee, upon request, any and all such assistance, and information, records and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created; and be it further

Resolved, That the members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($0.05½) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals, incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu of such expenses for accommodations and meals an allowance of eight dollars ($8) per day; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Senate for expenses of the committee and its members, and for any charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed, after certification by the chairman of the committee, upon warrants drawn by the Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Consideration of Senate Resolution No. 31

Relative to the Senate Investigating Committee on State Building and Construction created by Senate Resolution No. 151, adopted June 14, 1941

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the Senate Investigating Committee on State Buildings and Grounds created by said Senate Resolution No. 151, is continued as a committee at this session, with those members it had on January 1, 1943, who are now Members of the Senate and with all the powers and duties defined and conferred by said Resolution No. 151, with power to act until the making of its final report to the Senate, the date for which is extended to April 15, 1943; and there is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Senate at this session for expenses of the committee and its members and for any expenses, charges, or claims it may incur, to be disbursed as in said Resolution No. 151 prescribed, a sum of money equal to the unexpended and unencumbered balance of the amount originally made available by said Resolution No. 151.

Explanatory Statement of Report

At each session of the Legislature, under normal conditions, there has been presented by the various institutions and agencies of the State a building program and many special bills have been introduced to provide buildings, lands and office space for the various State agencies. In addition to this, many of the State departments ask for large appropriations in the budget for the purpose of paying rent for space occupied by the agency.

The total amount of the appropriations requested for the construction of buildings and the rent of additional quarters has varied from biennium to biennium and has increased with the growth of the State so that now it approximates ten million dollars a biennium.

In spite of the fact that the State has appropriated large sums of money for building in the past and has had several proposed ten-year building programs, no coordinated building program has ever been adopted or followed by the State.

The appropriations for building needs have been sporadic; that is, an accumulated need has grown up and then a relatively large appropriation has been made to try and catch up. This occurred in 1931 during the Rolph administration when it was coupled with a desire to help relieve unemployment. Moreover, the building requirements to provide for normally increasing population have not always been supplied and an accumulation of overcrowding in the mental hospitals and other custodial institutions has never been fully met. This has resulted in continuing the use of obsolete and hazardous structures.

A definite plan of meeting obsolescence and depreciation generally has not been carried into effect. Neither has a definite program of repair been carried forward. Frequently money which should have been expended on repair has been expended for new capital outlay in order to meet expansion demands.

The result has been that inmates in our institutions have in many instances been overcrowded, and in certain instances they have been housed in structures that have been condemned as hazardous by the Fire Marshal and unfit when measured by proper health standards.

It is apparent that the several so called "Ten Year Building Programs" have not been carried into effect.

It is also very clear that the actual construction itself has not been carried on in the most economical manner so that the State might receive the greatest return for the money invested. Hospital and institutional buildings have not been standardized so as to hold to a minimum operation and maintenance costs. The wide difference in costs for buildings for practically the same purpose as between institutions and agencies, such as the cost of superintendents' houses at the State hospitals and for similar educational buildings at the various State colleges, on their face indicate that these differences should be questioned.

The cessation of building by the State, resulting from the present World War, will produce an accumulated building need which must be met when this can be done. Practically no building was done by the State to meet its housing needs during the present biennium, 1941-42. Obsolescence and depreciation will continue and the growth of the State will enlarge the demand for more building, and the already accumulated need will pyramid.

New Institutions. In addition to the building needs of existing institutions, the Legislature has already approved the removal of two educational institutions from their present locations to new sites. These new sites for the San Francisco State College and the Santa Barbara State College have already been purchased. The Legislature has also already approved certain entirely new institutions but has made no appropriation for buildings. One of these is a building for defective and psychopathic delinquents. Another is for a psychiatric building for insane criminals at San Quentin. The third, for which no buildings have been provided but the institution has been established, is the Youth Correction Authority.

The Problem of Rented Space. At the State Capitol and at San Francisco and Los Angeles the State rents a very large amount of space for the various State agencies. While the rent paid in general is at favorable rates, nevertheless the total sum paid in rent would amortize the State's investment in buildings of its own to provide this space and, in addition, the space provided could be coordinated with the other State offices and the needs of the State so as to produce a greater efficiency and economy.

San Diego presents a special problem for not only does the State rent considerable space but location is such that these offices are to a degree isolated from other State offices. The City of San Diego has donated a site for a building to cost $500,000 or more.

The committee, after going over the San Diego situation first hand on the ground, approved a State building for San Diego.

The Repair Problem. No definitely planned repair program for State buildings, adapted to maintaining these buildings in good condition and extending their life and usefulness, has ever been devised or operated for the State. Prudent business management demands that such a program should be made effective. The advice of the State Architect should be secured in this matter.

Advance Planning and Economy. A brief consideration of the whole problem of the State's building needs clearly indicates that in order to meet the situation which will be presented when this World War ends and the State can once again resume its building, together with the problem of the need to relieve unemployment, advance planning is highly desirable. This advance planning is essential, not only to determine what the State requires but also is necessary to work out the detail of the building program itself and the plans for building so that the State may not only have a plan but may also adopt the most economical procedure and be ready to start operations when building can be resumed and when jobs should be available for our returned soldiers.

Although this Senate committee was created by Senate Resolution No. 151, adopted June 14, 1941, it was expanded by Senate Resolution No. 131, adopted January 20, 1943, and has continued its studies up to April 15, 1943, so that all of these matters have motivated and guided the committee in its consideration.

Operation of Committee

After organization of the committee on October 14, 1941, it proceeded at once to hold hearings and make investigations.

State Architect

State Architect Anson Boyd offered the services of his division and the committee requested that he prepare a report to the committee on what buildings were needed indicating the priority ratings of the construction of such buildings.

Institutions

The committee called before it Carl Applegate, Deputy Director of Institutions, to report to the committee on the conditions of the institutions and the future building requirements. He expressed the hope that the committee would examine all of the institutions and consider the fact that the Fire Marshal had reported that housing capacity for 6,176 beds had been condemned. He also stated that the mental hospitals are housing 18 per cent more than normal capacity.

The testimony of Mr. Applegate indicated that the program covered by the appropriations of 1939 had not been carried out and in particular the 500-bed ward which would have eliminated the most serious housing problem had not been completed, and that bids were not put out until July of 1941, although the money was appropriated in 1939. All members of the committee emphatically stated that when the Legislature appropriated an amount of money for a certain unit or building it should be used for that purpose and not transferred to another fund for another use.

Folsom

Mr. Clyde I. Plummer, Warden at Folsom Prison, was called to submit a plan covering the construction requirements of that institution for the ensuing 10 years.

University of California

Mr. James H. Corley, Comptroller of the University of California, presented a 10-year building program for the University for its seven campuses amounting to $30,000,000. He also requested that since the $2,000,000 Medical School in San Francisco and the $500,000 Veterinary School in Berkeley can not be constructed during the war that these appropriations made by the 1941 session of the Legislature be continued in effect.

Inspection Trips

After reviewing the testimony before it and the general problem of the building needs, the committee concluded that in order to satisfactorily consider the entire matter it would be necessary to inspect the buildings at the State institutions and other State buildings.

The committee made six inspection trips, devoting 11 days to personally examining State buildings. In each instance buildings were carefully examined and the needs of the particular institution or agency considered with a responsible administrator of the particular agency concerned. In particular, the matter of overcrowding, fire hazards and health conditions were inquired into. The need for additional lands at each institution was considered. The following institutions and agencies were visited by the committee on the dates indicated:

Agnews State Hospital	October 23, 1942
Camarillo State Hospital	November 19, 1942
Mendocino State Hospital	December 9, 1941
Napa State Hospital	December 9, 1941
Norwalk State Hospital	November 17, 1942
Pacific Colony	November 18, 1942
Patton State Hospital	November 17, 1942
Sonoma State Hospital	December 8, 1941
Stockton State Hospital	January 12, 1943
California School for the Blind	October 30, 1942
Industrial Home for Adult Blind	October 30, 1942
California School for the Deaf	October 30, 1942
Ventura School for Girls	November 19, 1942
California Institution for Men	November 18, 1942
California Polytechnic School	February 26, 1943
Fresno State College	February 25, 1943
San Francisco State College	February 24, 1943
San Jose State College	October 23, 1942
Santa Barbara State College	November 19, 1942
University of California	October 30, 1942
San Diego (To investigate need for a State building)	October 22, 1942

No detailed statement will be presented concerning the conditions found in each institution since it was concluded that the general condition of unsatisfactory housing and overcrowding could be solved in the case of the institutions by the department itself, taking into account the problem as a whole and the nature of the patients to be cared for. The detailed allocation of the buildings to be constructed will therefore be shown in an attached schedule.

Conditions to be Remedied

It is the general conclusion of the committee that remedies should be found for adverse conditions that exist. For example, at Stockton where women inmates are housed in a building that is antiquated and a distinct fire hazard; such as exist at Agnew, where fifty women patients are sleeping on the floors; the insanitary kitchen and inadequate refrigeration at the Mendocino State Hospital; the 4-story main building at Napa constructed in 1876, a part of which can not be used because of the fire hazard; the overcrowding of approximately 16 per cent, with patients in the main building at Napa, occupying halls and alcoves; the administration building at Patton, damaged by earthquake so that the upper story has been removed, at Sonoma State Home, the patients sleeping on the floor.

Both the representatives of the Department of Institutions and the newly created Youth Correction Authority concur in that the first priority should be the new institution for defective and psychopathic delinquents. While this is a new institution, those who are specialized in the care and treatment of both delinquents and those mentally deficient join in this recommendation, that if only one service can be provided, this one should be given right of way. The committee concurs in this recommendation.

Penal Institutions

An examination of the penal institutions clearly demonstrated that there are a considerable number of the inmates who have a deteriorated mental condition, that they should be segregated from the other prisoners and treated for this condition. It appears to be wise to centralize this treatment at San Quentin. The Legislature, at a prior session, approved the building of such an institution but did not appropriate money. This item should be given early priority.

Maritime Academy

(See section on Conclusions and Recommendations, Page 2841)

Schools for the Blind and the Deaf

A number of buildings in these two institutions for physically handicapped children are unsatisfactory for their safety and care. In addition, there is a waiting list. Since a small expansion will meet the full requirement to assist these handicapped, and since their education will make them self-supporting, it seems highly desirable that the State include a building program at these institutions to meet this situation.

Recommendations and Detailed Explanation of Proposed Program

Land and Water. Previously we have indicated the land and water to be acquired for the State agencies and institutions during the current biennium. Further detailed information will be found in connection with each institution and agency requesting building which must be placed on new sites. Further details will be found in the supporting documents attached to this report as exhibits.

There are some institutions where construction is necessary to make water available and where no new lands or water rights need to be secured. The two outstanding cases of this are in relation to the water supply for the Preston School of Industry at Lone and the Rector Canyon Dam to supply water to our Napa institutions.

At Preston the State owns water rights on Sutter Creek but a dam must be constructed and the ditch improved to make this water supply available to the Preston School. This should be given early consideration for the reason that if this water is made available more crops can be produced by the institution. The other historic case involving water supply is the Rector Canyon Dam on the Napa State Farm. Money has been appropriated and is available for the construction of this dam. This money will not revert. It is recommended that the completion of this dam now held up by priorities be effected as soon as possible so that a more adequate water supply will be available to the Veterans' Home, Napa State Hospital, the Game Farm and the Napa State Farm.

The adequacy of the water supply at the Norwalk State Hospital, and the problem of a water softening plant at the Camarillo State Hospital should be studied by the Division of Water Resources.

Repairs. The program of repairs previously discussed is more comprehensively covered in the attached report of the State Architect addressed to the Legislative Budget Committee on February 24, 1943. Beginning on page 37 of this report and concluding on page 40, detailed schedules showing the State's needs are presented. The grand total is shown to be $3,716,900. This will be adjusted somewhat to coordinate it with the capital outlay program where necessary.

*Capital Outlay—$38,275,397.** A capital outlay program for each department and institution as presented to the committee is attached hereto. These requests have been arranged in the priority order established by themselves. Subsequently this was reviewed by the Legislative Auditor representing the Building Committee, the Deputy Director of Finance Mr. James Dean, and the technical staff of the * See tabulation sheets for explanation.

Department of Finance headed by Mr. Ellis Groff, representatives of the departments concerned, together with the State Architect, Mr. Anson Boyd, and members of his staff. In this way the most pressing needs of the institutions and agencies have been listed in their order of importance. This selection was substantiated after careful review of the situation. While the committee report differs in some respects from the recommended schedule prepared by the Department of Finance at the request of the Citizens' Tax Committee as indicated on page 9 of their report, the various buildings recommended are substantially the same. The exceptions have been explained.

Building Plans

In the summary recommendations we have specifically suggested that four and one-half per cent of the building costs be appropriated immediately so that the State Architect may prepare plans for the entire building program. This has been approved for several reasons. First of all, the planning for State institutions and buildings has not been entirely satisfactory. As respects the State institutions, the committee suggests that there should be a master plan for all these institutions and that model plans should be available for typical buildings. These should be constructed with a view to economy in construction, but also with the idea of reducing operations to the minimum. The committee was impressed with the new ward building at Patton as a possible model. The committee also viewed with some criticism the costs to the State for residences for superintendents of institutions that exceed in value and luxury the average private homes of persons in private life holding positions of comparable responsibility. They also questioned the reason for the wide range in costs for residences for similar officers in different institutions.

The committee feels that provisions for surgery, dental examination and treatment and X-ray departments should be in one building for greater efficiency. The service buildings for the institutions should be located in relation to the other buildings of the institution.

There should likewise be a master plan for the State colleges and the special schools so that they may be coordinated with the greatest efficiency.

Plot plans should be available for every institution and building and the location of plumbing, wiring and underground sewage should be carefully entered on the map so that future repairs and alterations can be carried on with the greatest facility.

Plans for the new buildings should fit into the master plan. These plans should be prepared during the coming biennium and be available for use as soon as manpower and materials can be secured. The committee believes that the time intervening will make it possible to do a better job of planning with due regard to the need of the institutions and for economy than has been accomplished in the past. They are counting on these desirable results.

Small Capital Outlay Items

A number of the institutions and agencies included rather small capital outlay items in their suggested programs. Some of these only called for a few hundred dollars in amount and they are in the nature of items that will occur regularly each biennium. They might very well be characterized as "incidental capital outlay." The committee is of the opinion that much of the incidental capital outlay of this nature which occurs periodically should be included in the biennial budgets and should not be considered in the larger capital outlay program under consideration. These smaller items, therefore, have been left out of this report.

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 4, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature Senate Bill No. 375, entitled: "An act to amend Sections 2893, 2896, 2897 and 2898 of the Elections Code, relating to ballots in case of the death or disqualification of a candidate."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

Two of the sections amended by the bill are Section 2893 which enumerates those cases in which a vacancy on the ballot for a general election shall be filled, and Section 2897 which requires the printing of a candidate's name upon the ballot for the primary election unless he has died. The author of the bill advises me that the only intent and purpose of the bill was to provide that if the death of a candidate occurred 30 days before the date of either the primary or general election, his name should not be printed on the ballot; the existing law requires the printing of the candidate's name on the ballot unless his death occurred at least 25 days before the election. However, while the bill was being considered by the Legislature certain language now present in the two sections above referred to was stricken out. That language provides for the disqualification of a candidate—and a resultant vacancy on the ballot at the general election—if he fails to secure the nomination of the party with which he was affiliated on the date "his declaration of acceptance of nomination was filed." Due to the omission of this language, the effect of the bill would appear to be as follows: Whereas a candidate would be disqualified if he failed to obtain the nomination of the party with which he was affiliated on the date his declaration of candidacy was filed, he would not be disqualified if he had entered the contest by declaring his acceptance of nomination prior to the primary election; the Attorney General advises me that in his opinion such would be the result of the enactment of the measure.

This would be a change in the existing law of some importance and one which was inadvertently not given due consideration by the Legislature; it was not until after the bill had been delivered to me that the author himself realized the effect of the measure.

Under these circumstances I feel that I should withhold my approval. The Legislative Counsel states that amendments have been prepared to another bill which will incorporate the purpose of the author of this measure, in order that a bill may be passed which will accomplish what he intended.

Respectfully submitted.

EARL WARREN, Governor

Senate Bill No. 375 ordered to the unfinished business file.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 4, 1943

*To the Honorable Members of the Senate
State of California, Sacramento, California*

GREETINGS: I am returning herewith without my signature Senate Bill No. 608, entitled: "An act to amend Section 644 of the Penal Code, relating to habitual criminals and parole."

My objections to this bill are as follows:

The bill amends Section 644 of the Penal Code, commonly known as the Habitual Criminal Law, by adding three paragraphs which provide (1) that the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles may parole any prisoner subject to the provisions of the section after he has served seven years if none of his convictions was a crime of violence or committed by the use of force or threats of violence; (2) that the board may parole any such prisoner after he has served 12 years if only one of his convictions was a crime of violence or committed by the use of force or threats of violence; and (3) that the provisions above summarized shall apply to all prisoners now serving time in State prisons.

The bill would emasculate the Habitual Criminal Law. For 15 years the present statute has embodied the sound principle that where an individual has by his anti-social conduct demonstrated that he is a recidivist with incorrigible tendencies, he should be isolated permanently from society or confined for an extended period. To that end this law was placed upon the statute books. Through the years which have intervened since its first enactment its originally drastic terms have been modified until at present it applies only to those who have been previously convicted of certain specified felonies and, even in those cases, the committing court has discretion to provide that the defendant shall not be ineligible for parole. Under this bill a prisoner whose criminal record included convictions of grand theft, arson, extortion, bribery, perjury, and receiving stolen goods would be eligible for release on parole after serving seven years, which, by the earning of time credits while in prison, might be reduced to four years, nine months. And a prisoner whose record included two or more convictions of the above mentioned felonies and also one conviction of murder, robbery, kidnapping, or rape with force and violence could be paroled after serving 12 years or a "net" time of less than eight years. In my opinion, where a trial court has not exercised the discretion which the present law vests in it to except a defendant from the operation of the Habitual Criminal Law, the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles should not be empowered to extend such leniency.

In addition, it should be noted that the bill would make it necessary for the board to find, as to each conviction suffered by a prisoner, whether or not it was a "crime of violence or a crime committed by the use of force, violence, threats of force, or threats of violence," in determining whether the prisoner was eligible for parole. I can not see how it would be practically possible for the board to decide that question as to a previous conviction of burglary or extortion, for example, which occurred in another State many years prior to the time when the board was called upon to review the man's case.

I sincerely believe in the parole system properly administered and supervised. I have urged—and the Legislature has passed—a bill which will make it possible for a man who has served his time and paid his debt to society to have his rehabilitation judicially established and earn a full pardon. But I also believe that the safety of life and property requires the mandatory confinement for an extended period of those whose conduct has demonstrated that they constitute a menace to society. The legislative committees of the District Attorneys' Association, the Peace Officers' Association, and the Sheriffs' Association have expressed their disapproval of the bill as impairing materially the substance of the Habitual Criminal Law, and I concur in their opinion.

Respectfully submitted,

EARL WARREN, Governor

Senate Bill No. 608 ordered to the unfinished business file.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Slater:

Senate Resolution No. 141

Relative to the Golden Wedding of former Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Breed, Sr., Sunday, May 9, 1943

On Sunday, May 9th, marital ties become golden for the Honorable and Mrs. Arthur H. Breed, Sr., the highly esteemed parents of our distinguished colleague, Senator Arthur H. Breed, Jr., the latter several years ago having succeeded his father as a Member of the State Senate of California.

To many present and former Members of the State Senate, particularly those who served with former Senator Breed during his many years of devoted public service in the Legislature of California, the golden wedding is an event of considerable pleasure as they recall with sincere appreciation the friendship they have enjoyed with Mr. and Mrs. Breed, the latter a very kindly lady and keenly interested not only in the welfare of her husband and family but also in contributing to the happiness of countless friends.

It is therefore very appropriate that the Senate of the State of California should join in extending its congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Breed on their Golden Wedding Day, coupled with the hope that they may live to enjoy many more delightful years of wedded life in the sunshine and happiness that has always enriched the half century they now attain; be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That the foregoing tribute of regard be forwarded by the Secretary of the Senate to former Senator and Mrs. Breed in whose honor this resolution is adopted.

Resolution read and unanimously adopted.

REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Swing asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following report of the committee appointed to investigate the water conditions at Needles printed in the Journal:

Report of Committee in re Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 17

To the Members of the Senate

Pursuant to a resolution heretofore adopted by this honorable body, a committee was appointed to come out during the present session of the Legislature, with power to investigate and determine whether the boundary line between the State of California and the State of Arizona was definitely determined and could be actually located, and also to formulate the flood damage and condition at Needles, California.

The committee appeared pursuant to this resolution assembled at Needles, California, in February of this year. The short time the committee had to devote to the problems involved makes it impossible to render any comprehensive report. It is our opinion that a committee should continue, not for the purpose of making the usual investigations, but for the purpose of continuing the study of matters which will affect the final determination of the boundary line between the two States, as well as for the purpose of bringing together the entities interested in doing the things which will protect Needles from further damage and make repairs of the flood damage already inflicted.

One of the contributing factors to the conditions existing at Needles was the construction of Parker Dam. This dam was constructed and is operated by the Federal Government in the interest of the Metropolitan Water District. However, according to the opinion rendered by the Attorney General of this State, the Metropolitan Water District is not liable to the City of Needles or to individuals suffering damage as a result of such operation but the district is liable, if at all, solely to the Federal Government.

The committee has attempted to have the various interested entities come to an agreement as to the nature of the work necessary to be done at Needles to prevent further damage, and to work out a satisfactory distribution of the cost. All entities have been very cooperative; however, the Metropolitan Water District has felt that it was not authorized to expend any of its funds in making such repairs. Otherwise, the district has been helpful and its officials have been cooperative.

We believe that a legislative committee could not bring the various entities into an agreement as to the nature of the work to be done, and for making a plan for meeting the cost thereof.

Everyone familiar with this problem realized that it must be solved promptly and that the work must be done expeditiously, if we are to relieve the constant threat to further damage to private property, and remove the present menace to the public health.

The boundary line between Arizona and California is described in our Constitution as being along "the middle of the channel" of the Colorado River. While this boundary line was more or less definitely established many years ago, the river since such time has meandered back and forth across the channel in such a manner that it is now impossible to tell exactly where the boundary line may be. In San Bernardino County the tread of the stream has bent toward California. Farther to the south it has bent toward the State of Arizona. Whether the change in the tread of the stream was caused by accretion or evulsion is not determinable from any evidence we now have. This must be ascertained before we can determine the location of this line.

It is highly probable that within a comparatively short time other very radical changes in the stream will take place. These must be noted at the time of their occurrence in order to be of any benefit when we approach the problem of locating this line.

A legislative committee will have no occasion for frequent meetings, nor for frequent inspections, but should have power to assemble the factors resulting in the past changes in the stream, and in preserving the evidence and causes of changes in the future.

This work can be best and most economically done under the supervision of a legislative committee which can concentrate upon this problem rather than leaving it to the regular State departments.

If you authorize a further committee to handle these problems, such a committee would immediately bring together the entities interested in solving the flood damage problems and would arrange for the accumulation and preservation of the evidence respecting the boundary line. The committee would have no occasion to travel extensively, nor would the serving on such committee involve any great hardship upon the members thereof.

Too much stress can not be placed upon the accumulation and preservation of this important evidence, for sooner or later the boundary line between these States must be definitely established, and when we approach our sister State for the purpose of agreeing upon the location of the boundary line, we want to be able to approach it with a full knowledge of the factors necessarily involved and with the idea and hope of solving it amicably and satisfactorily to both States.

Respectfully,

RALPH E. SWING
BYRL R. SALSMAN

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Senator Carter asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following explanation of his vote regarding Assembly Bill No. 879 printed in the Journal:

Explanation of Vote on Assembly Bill No. 879

Since I voted against the adoption of Senate Bill No. 103, which reduced the sales tax in the same manner as Assembly Bill No. 879, I feel that my vote on Assembly Bill No. 879 should be explained.

I am fundamentally opposed to reducing the sales tax from 3 per cent to 2½ per cent because I believe that such a reduction will in no way benefit the ordinary taxpayer. Assembly Bill No. 879 contains some very necessary provisions with respect to the administration of the proceeds from the sales tax which are set aside as a Postwar Employment Reserve. These provisions are not in Senate Bill No. 103, which has already passed the Senate. Since Assembly Bill No. 879 will merely supersede Senate Bill No. 103 as to the reduction of tax and will add provisions with respect to the administration of the Postwar Reserve Fund, I have, therefore, voted for Assembly Bill No. 879.

OLIVER J. CARTER

Mothers

By J. R. DORSEY, Bakersfield, California

MR. PRESIDENT: Throughout the history of the world we find various nations setting aside special days in memory of events of importance in their particular country. This was usually the anniversary of some great battle, the birthday of some man who had accomplished much for his country, or perhaps the celebration of a great discovery, but it remained for the Twentieth Century in this Land of Freedom to set aside one day in the year on which to do honor to those most worthy of honor—our mothers.

On the ninth day of May, 1914, President Wilson signed a bill that had passed both houses of Congress declaring the second Sunday in May a legal holiday to be known as Mothers' Day. In signing this bill, he issued the following proclamation:

WHEREAS, By a joint resolution approved May 8, 1914, "designating the second Sunday in May as Mothers' Day, and for other purposes," the President is authorized and requested to issue a proclamation calling upon the government officials to display the United States Flag on all government buildings, and the people of the United States to display the flag at their homes or other suitable places on the second Sunday in May as a public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country:

Now, therefore, I, WOODROW WILSON, President of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the said joint resolution, do hereby direct the government officials to display the United States Flag on all government buildings and do invite the people of the United States to display the Flag at their homes or other suitable places on the second Sunday in May as a public expression of our love and reverence for the mothers of our country.

The amount of good accomplished by the observance of this day and other customs which occasionally draw families together can never be over-estimated. From being the slave of the household the mother has now risen to her proper place, the queen of the family.

The heroism of the average mother is the commonest, and yet the least remembered form of heroism. Ah! When I think of that broad fact I gather hope again for poor humanity, and this dark world looks bright; this diseased world looks wholesome to me once more, because, whatever else it is or is not full of, it is at least full of mothers.

Well may we pause to pay honor to her who is God's best gift to men . . . MOTHER. It was she who shared her life with us when as yet our members were unformed. Into the valley of the shadow she walked that we might have the light of life. In her arms was the garner of our food, and the soft couch for our repose. There we nestled in the hour of pain, there was the playground of our infant glee. Those same arms later became our refuge and stronghold. It was she who taught our baby feet to go and lifted us over the rough places. Her blessed hands plied the needle by day and by night to make the little garments that we should wear. She put the book under our arm and started us off for school.

MOTHER

Mother, that's the name
Though not so very long,
It is heard the whole world over
In story, rhyme and song.
The poets write about it—
The singer sings it too.
It is the dearest word
In all the world
To you, and you, and you.

Remember how she loved you,
When you were a little chap?
And you would bring your toys to mother
And pile them in her lap.
Remember how she would play with you
Until it was time for bed,
And hold you in her arms
Until your baby prayers were said?

Don't forget how proud she was,
When first you went to school,
And learned to say your A. B. C.'s;
And know the Golden Rule.
Remember how she would say to you
In voice so sweet and mild,
"Don't forget the Golden Rule,
When you grow up, my child."

The great men of this world
Owe their success in life,
Not to sister, or brother—
Not to children or wife;
But they owe it all to mother,
For it was she who taught them
How to live the life of noble deeds,
That crown their efforts now.

So don't forget, as you climb
Up the hill of life with pride,
That your dear, old-fashioned mother
Is going down the other side,
And if she has passed forever
To the happy world above,
Just keep her memory always green
With constant thoughts of love.

So here is a toast to mother,
Come, pledge it once with me
That you will always try to be
The man that mother knew you would be,
And when success has crowned your efforts
You can say to all men, "Brother,
The place I've reached in life today
I owe to my dear mother."

There is a proverb which says, "God could not be everywhere; so He made mothers." It is not good theology, but it conveys a noble interpretation of the function of motherhood. The divine care for human lives has no better symbol than the unremitting attention which a true mother gives to her children.

The exalted place the mother occupies is utterly incomparable. She is the maker of standards not only for her own household but for society in general. She is very largely the arbiter of the destiny of the State itself. Small as the circle of her influence seems to be, restricted as is its area, she represents an essential and indispensable unit in the domestic and social scheme of things. Laws may regulate and have a determining effect upon our course of action, but ideals are mightier than laws and these are largely generated in the home. No matter to what place of distinction woman may come, she has no more exalted office than that which is given her as the mother of her household. If her capacity to rule in this highest sphere of her influence is impaired or jeopardized, no other distinction that is conferred upon her may compensate for this loss.

Any study of the biographies of the good and the great inevitably discloses the mighty influence mothers have exercised in fashioning and shaping the careers of those who have been the world's chief benefactors. The testimony of the ages gives to the mother the place of supremest power in determining the destiny of men and nations.

The presence of an American mother honors any place, although it be the audience chamber of the President of the United States. When the President steps into the presence of an American mother, he is before his superior.

Sir, it is impossible in words to measure the sacredness of motherhood. It is the sweetest note in the great anthem the ages chant to God, and the radiance of His infinite mercy is reflected in a mother's smiles, a mother's tears, a mother's prayers, a mother's love.

Not until the tired hands that supported the cares of infancy and ministered to the developing years have been folded forever; not until the tired eyes grown dim and weary with the anxious vigilance of countless hours and endless days that seemed eternal have closed in death, do we begin to grasp the depth and tenderness of this mother love.

In all the channels of human activity; in all the record of human martyrdom, self sacrifice and valor, the example of woman is unsurpassed by man. We need but mention the loyalty of Artemisia to the memory of Mausolus, the devotion of Margaret Roper to Sir Thomas Moore, the affection of Eleanor for Edward, the heroism of Lucy Hutchinson in the Castle of Newark, the daring of Catherine Herman at the siege of Ostend, the fortitude of Lady Russell, the eloquence of Cornelia, the constancy of Madame Lavergne. The discovery of the American continent on which have been wrought the elemental problems of representative government, of practical science and of every form of progress, the very existence of the American Republic, are due, primarily, to a woman.

If Isabella had not risked her personal fortune in support of the then considered strange, almost fantastic, project of Columbus, no ships would have ever left the Spanish shore. And it is especially fitting that in a country which so largely owes its being and progress to a woman's courage, the love of woman should form the sublimest attribute of its people. The mothers of the race should be the objects of its most unselfish devotion.

Service is the keynote of character—for the individual and for the nation. The type of service rendered unceasingly indicates the spirit of the individual or the nation. The spirit which motivates the life of a mother is one of self denial and unselfish devotion and service. Would to God that more of this spirit and service could motivate the affairs of nations today.

Greater than our expansion of industry, stronger than the unlimited sources of physical energy, visible and invisible, is the indomitable courage and spirit of our people. To our people democracy is no longer an ideal or a dream; it is a living, vital reality. It is neither a tyrant nor a corporate state, but it is an instrumentality for the promotion of their welfare and happiness. They hold aloft the torch of democracy to the world and illumine the path of progress to a more abundant life. Mothers of such gallant men, I salute you! American motherhood has always been a symbol of strength. The colonial mothers had to face all the hardships of a strange new land; yet they raised sons who were able to carve a great nation out of a wilderness. The pioneer mothers crossed trackless deserts in the covered wagons; yet their courage never faltered. Heroines in homespun, they kept faith with their dear one.

The mothers of modern America have likewise faced hardship—the tragedy of seeing their sons march off to a global war, serving our Country with courage and devotion, carrying our Flag on sea, on land, and in the air—the Flag without taint of scandal or spot of dishonor—a righteous Flag that has never rippled in support of an unworthy cause, flying for all of the people of the earth to whom its message has always been the same—Liberty. And those mothers have shown that same fortitude, that same courage that we have learned to expect of American womanhood. Today, when the world is darkened as never before with the storms of conflict, there is still the light of mother-love to guide us on our way.

"If the path of life has led a son to fields of honor, the mother's heart will glow with pride ineffable. If he is called to war she will bid him good-bye with dry eyes, although her heart is broken with tears. She will maintain a firm and hopeful men, that he may gain success and courage from her sustaining example. When he sleeps upon the tattered bunk, her spirit will keep watch. Whilst he is slumbering, she will be whispering to him, 'My soul wherever you may be, whatever your fortune or your fate may be, I am here, an undivided heart laid upon you, may God preserve and protect you that you may soon return, confirmed to take your place once again by our fireside, and may God bless you and be with you during the deadly hours of battle that you may be rescued and brought to the bosom of your family and to mother.' In the silence of waiting, she will die a thousand deaths, but will choke back her sobs and keep her together. She will search for him amongst the slain and try with kisses to warm the dead and responsive lips to life. She will coffin her heart with the bleeding body, and her soul will keep the eternal vigil of a deathless love. The American Mother will make the supreme sacrifice."

A mother watched intently over her little son, sick with a strange malady that had come upon him almost at birth, six months before. A specialist was summoned, an operation performed, while the doctor labored by uncertain oil lamp 27 years ago, the boy's mother stood in prayer. "God if you will save my child, I will raise him to serve You now his fellowmen." The mother's prayer was answered. The boy grew up, straight and tall in body and in soul. That boy died in the service of his God and his fellowmen. His name was Colin Kelly, the first great hero of this brave war. To his mother and to Mrs. Thomas S. Sullivan, the mother of the five Sullivan boys who went down with their ship, "The Junco," and to Mrs. Ophelia Blackson of Bunkerfield, California, personally known to me, who has four sons in the armed forces, three of whom are Marines, and the mothers of all of our young men in the armed forces who are helping to win this war whether in the factories or on the battlefield, every American today pays a special tribute.

In a little burial ground near Versailles a crumbling stone marks the resting place of a mother who in life resided in a large family of sons and daughters. Across the face of the stone is carved her name, date of her birth, and of her death. The last line is reserved for her epitaph, brief but comprehensive: "She stayed at home."

She never made a speech, wrote a book, or held an office. She was too busy making a home, that indispensable spot upon which society has and must always depend. In taking care of their wishes, in teaching baby hands to turn to Right, compass, and in providing for her husband she was so fully occupied that she had no time for responsibilities that did not have to do with home and family life. She was loyal to God and to her home.

"She stayed at home." Surely no more touching or effective tribute could be paid a mother than this. It contains all that anyone might say, however eloquently gifted, of her duty, sacrifice, suffering, and kindness. Why is not she who stays at home as worthy of honor and remembrance as the great captain or admiral whose genius has mobilized armies and navies and saved nations?

Back of every achievement

Is a mother's love.

Back of every great deed

Is a mother's prayer.

Back of every hero

Who won a hard fought race

Look! You'll find

A mother there!

You know how absolutely necessary it is for us to do everything possible here at home to maintain speed and accuracy in turning out the tools and equipment so essential to victory.

You feel just as uncomfortable as I do, I know, when you think of what our boys in uniform on land, sea and in the air must face—chuck freezing in the depths—arctic cold, tremors, fever, thunderous bombardment, nerve-wracking silence, gnawing hunger for just a word from the folks back home.

We all feel a personal debt when we think of our boys under fire who have left their homes, their mothers, their wives, and sweethearts, yes, have sacrificed their very lives, to keep us safe. Their sole reward is knowledge that they are doing their part.

Safe in our homes, enjoying all the comforts of life, can we feel the same inner glow of satisfaction at having done our duty without shouldering a part of the sacrifices which our boys far from home are making?

Our men in uniform are facing death. Any self-denial we make pales to insignificance. Unless we give generously of our money and service we will not be worthy to share in the victory they will win in battle.

You and I know these things. You and I are constantly asking ourselves, "What can I do?" We can't all be Soldiers, Sailors, Marines, or Red Cross nurses. We can't all build machine tools or airplane engines. Most of us must stay behind to keep the essential machinery of everyday life running smoothly. We must see to it that the minimum requirements of food, clothing, fuel, power, transportation, and communication are supplied to those who need these things.

There are many things that we, as individuals, can do—that we must do—as part of our war effort. Working together, we can provide means of keeping up the spirits of our boys in uniform. We can give them something to smile about in their few brief moments on leave from army routine. We can strengthen their fighting spirit by giving them full assurance that their mothers, sweethearts, wives, and families shall not suffer so long as we have home, food, and clothing to share with them.

Right here in this Country we can help win this war by seeing to it that the workers in our vital war production plants are kept strong, healthy, and confident. We can prepare for the possibility of attack by strengthening our hospital, clinic, and nursing services and maintaining those institutions which have had long experience in caring for children.

"But how can you and I do these things alone?" someone might well ask. Obviously we can't do them alone. Their accomplishment depends on teamwork—the kind of teamwork we have been famous for. Not all of us can fight. Nor can all of us knit socks, work in armament plants, wrap bandages—BUT—every one of us can buy defense bonds!

Mothers, it has been an honor to remember you today. Every day, especially during this war, is essentially a mother's day, for whether recognized or not the mother stands at the center of all that is best and noblest in life. One can not read the story of the men and women who have occupied a large place in human affairs without realizing that behind and often obscured to the world's vision, the mother has played a determining part in the shaping of events. It is her hand that, like a sculptor's, shapes and fashions the character giving to it symmetry and proportion. We have before us, a Nation, a twofold task: The winning of this war and the preservation of the American way of life. We can not preserve our way of life unless we win this war. But if we win the war and lose our freedom in the process, we shall have fought in vain. It was only yesterday that certain defeatists declared that a democracy could not fight a war and still stay free.

We must accept this challenge. By our words, our thought, our actions, we shall prove that this Nation can pass through the flames of war and emerge both victorious and free.

So now let us remain in battle formation and march forward like a Theban phalanx and continue our efforts until the reign of the Prince of Peace is firmly established upon this earth and

"Til the war-drums throb'd no longer, and the battle-flags were furl'd
In the Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World."

MESSAGES FROM THE GOVERNOR

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE, SACRAMENTO, May 5, 1943

*To the Members of the Senate
of the State of California*

GREETINGS: As a member of agency I am calling your attention to a legislative development in Washington which I believe is of the utmost importance to California and particularly to our elder citizens and our great farming industry.

Some weeks ago there was introduced in the House of Representatives a joint resolution "making an appropriation to assist in providing a supply and distribution of farm labor for the calendar year 1943."

Included therein, as a means of attracting farm labor, was the provision:

The Federal Security Administrator shall promptly notify each State that grants under such title will be available for the payment of old age assistance with respect to any person without regard to remuneration received by such person for agricultural labor performed by him during such period; and no State shall be required in determining need in the case of any individual to take into consideration any income or resources derived by him from such agricultural labor.

The bill was passed in this manner but was sent to conference. In the conference the above provision was limited to those States which have not increased old age pension allowances since April, 1943. As far as we can ascertain, there is at this moment but one State in the Union which has enacted such a statute this month.

It becomes apparent, therefore, that old age pensioners in every State in the Union except California are to be privileged to retain their earnings for agricultural labor and are thus to be encouraged to produce for victory. On the other hand, the senior citizens of California are to be deprived of that right and thus discouraged from participating in the war effort.

Whatever the reason for this change in the legislation may have been, it results in a gross discrimination against our State at a time when we are crying out for all of the farm labor that can be obtained. It would seem to be a penalty placed upon us merely because we have made an honest effort to adequately care for our deserving elders during times of abnormal living costs.

I have just been in conversation with Washington and have ascertained that the resolution in this form has been signed by the President. Any remedy for the situation would seem to lie in corrective legislation by Congress.

The matter is of sufficient importance, both to our senior citizens and to the agriculture of California now preparing for a victory harvest season, to warrant an immediate effort being made to undertake corrective action. If it were not for the fact that I must spend the next 30 days in California reviewing the bills passed by the Legislature, I would leave immediately for Washington to see if this discrimination can not be rectified in time to assist in the harvesting of crops this season. Someone should undertake the task. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the California Legislature should immediately take appropriate action in the matter and it is my suggestion to you that a joint committee be named to proceed to Washington immediately in an attempt to bring an end to such a discriminatory law.

Respectfully,

EARL WARREN, Governor

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolution was offered:

By Senator Shelley:

Senate Resolution No. 147

Relating to deduction of earnings from agricultural labor from old age assistance and the creation of a committee in respect thereto

WHEREAS, House Joint Resolution No. 96, as passed by the Senate of the United States included, as subdivision (1) of Section 5 thereof, provisions that no person should be deemed not to be a needy individual by reason of remuneration paid to such person for any agricultural labor performed by him from the enactment of the resolution until six months after the termination of hostilities in the present war; and that no State should be required, in determining need in the case of any individual, to take into consideration any income or resources derived by him from agricultural labor; and

WHEREAS, Conference reports amending House Joint Resolution No. 96 were adopted by both houses of Congress, whereby the benefits of the subdivision were withheld from any State which had increased the amount of aid payable to recipients of old age since April 30, 1943; and

WHEREAS, The State of California has at the present session of the Legislature increased the maximum monthly individual grant of aid to the aged from forty dollars ($40) per month to fifty dollars ($50) per month; and the State of California is the only State which has increased the amount of aid payable to recipients of old age assistance since April 30, 1943; and

WHEREAS, House Joint Resolution No. 96 in the form in which it was put by the amendments made by the conference report is flagrantly discriminatory against the State of California, and penalizes this State for its action in increasing the amount of aid to an amount more nearly adequate, under present conditions, for the maintenance of health and decency; and

WHEREAS, The farm labor shortage in the State of California is no less severe than in other States whose contributions to the production of food and other agricultural products do not surpass nor even equal the contribution of the State of California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That a committee of the Senate is hereby created, consisting of three members of the Senate appointed by the Rules Committee; and be it further

Resolved, That this committee is instructed and authorized to go to Washington to consult with the proper representatives of the Federal Government, the Federal Social Security Board, and with members of Congress, and protest vigorously against this unfair and unjust discrimination against the State of California and the citizens of this State, and seek by every means possible to persuade the Congress of the United States to eliminate or, if H.R. 96 becomes law, repeal this deterrent against the procurement of all assistance possible in the production of food and fiber in this State; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Senate for the expenses and <sup>to</sup> ~~and~~ the members of the committee may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed upon certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Rules.

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 122

By Senator Donnelly:

Senate Resolution No. 122, as Amended

Relative to appointment of a Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Japanese Problems

WHEREAS, Japanese people resident in the State of California have proved to be a serious menace to the peace and safety of the people of the State and of the United States as a whole; and

WHEREAS, The Japanese people have been removed from the State, such removal appearing to be only temporary; and

WHEREAS, On May 19, 1943, and on November 2, 1920, the people of the State of California adopted an Alien Land Law; and

WHEREAS, The Alien Land Laws were designed to prevent aliens ineligible to citizenship from directly or indirectly acquiring any interest in or dominion over land used or to be used for agricultural purposes; and

WHEREAS, The reason for the passage of the laws was: The clash of two races and two civilizations, socially and economically incompatible, no question of the inferiority or superiority of either race being involved; and

WHEREAS, By subterfuge and device the Alien Land Law has been circumvented until it has become a virtual nullity; American born Japanese have been substituted for their alien parents as owners or lessors, American citizens have been induced to do the same thing, while all the time the land purchased or leased was acquired with the intent that it be used by aliens forbidden to own or lease the land; and

WHEREAS, Great areas of land over which such aliens exercise all of the rights of ownership are situated along the shore lines of this State and in many other places vital to the military, political, and economic welfare of this State; and

WHEREAS, Such a condition existing under a State law designed to protect the American farmer from the deleterious economic competition in the growing and marketing of farm produce constitutes a menace to National defense, to the citizens of this State and Nation, and to the American grower and dealer; and

WHEREAS, The problem presented is not one primarily of Federal jurisdiction but is one of a State concern which nevertheless endangers the National security; and

WHEREAS, The return of Japanese people to the State after termination of the war may conceivably constitute a serious menace to the peace and safety of the people of the State in subsequent years; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That there is hereby created a Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Japanese Problems which shall investigate, ascertain and appraise all facts concerning the return of the Japanese people to this State after termination of the war, and all matters relating to evasions of the Alien Land Laws, to recommend amendments to those laws or additional laws to prevent such evasions and to consider any and all phases of the social, economic, political and National problems arising out of the present war between Japan and the United States of America; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee shall consist of five Members of the Senate appointed by the Committee on Rules thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That the committee hereby created in exercising the powers and performing the functions vested in it by this resolution shall have: (i) All the powers conferred upon legislative committees by Article 8, Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code; (ii) and Sections 9490 to 9412, inclusive, of the Government Code, except when inconsistent with this resolution, all the powers conferred upon committees by the Rules of the Assembly, the Rules of the Senate as they are enacted and amended from time to time and such rules are hereby incorporated herein and made a part hereof the same as if they were set forth in this resolution in full; (iii) all powers necessary or convenient to accomplish the objects and purposes of this resolution, including but not limited to the following duties and powers:

(1) To select a chairman from its membership and to employ and fix the compensation of a secretary and such clerical, expert and technical assistants as it may deem necessary;

(2) To create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to undertake or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee;

(3) To adopt and from time to time amend such rules governing its procedure (including the fixing of its own quorum and the number of votes necessary to take action on any matter) as may to it appear appropriate;

(4) To contract with such other agencies, public or private, as it deems necessary for the rendition and affording of such services, facilities, studies and reports to the committee as will best assist it to carry out the purposes for which it is created;

(5) To hold public hearings at any place in California at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee;

(6) To make a complete study, survey and investigation of every phase of the subject of this resolution, including but not limited to the operation, effect, administration, enforcement, and needed revision of any and all laws both Federal and State, in anywise bearing upon or relating to the subject of this resolution;

(7) To meet either during sessions of this Legislature or during any recess thereof at any and all places in this State, in public or executive session;

(8) To act during this session of the Legislature including any recess thereof, and until the convening of the Fifty-sixth Legislature;

(9) To file reports with the Senate during the Fifty-fifth Session thereof or any special extraordinary session thereof, and to file its final report with the Fifty-sixth Legislature;

CONSIDERATION OF SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 137

By Senator Salsman:

Senate Resolution No. 137

Relating to creation of a Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, defining its powers and duties and making an appropriation for its expenses

WHEREAS, Hundreds of changes in the organization and administration of the State Government are proposed at each session of the Legislature. The complicated machinery of State Government erected to serve the citizens of this State, can function only under law. New circumstances constantly arise which previous statutes did not contemplate. It is necessary for the Legislature to study these circumstances carefully, with a view to revising and amending the law relating thereto, in order that the most efficient, economical, and equitable administration of the laws may be fostered.

During the interim between sessions it is desirable to ascertain and collate the facts upon which legislation may be based. The Legislature can best function as a fact-finding agency through legislative committees; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, That there is hereby created a Senate Committee on Governmental Efficiency and Economy, which committee shall study and investigate, accurately and in detail, the organization, functions, and administration of the State Government and of any department, agency, or subdivision thereof and of the governments of the cities and counties of this State, for the purpose of recommending changes and proposing legislation in order to promote efficiency, to reduce and eliminate costs, to provide for the consolidation of functions and removal of duplication, and to do all other things necessary and proper to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the State and local governments and the agencies and subdivisions thereof.

The committee shall consist of five Members, appointed by the Rules Committee. Vacancies on the committee shall be filled by appointment by the Speaker.

Upon the appointment of its members the committee may organize, appoint a secretary, and employ such clerical and technical assistants and adopt such rules as in its discretion it deems necessary and proper to enable it to carry out to full force and effect the powers granted and the duties imposed herein.

The committee is authorized and empowered to summon and subpoena witnesses, require the production of papers, books, accounts, reports, documents, and records, of every kind and description, and to take all necessary means to compel the attendance of witnesses and to procure testimony. The members of the committee may each administer oaths, and all of the provisions of Article 8 of Chapter 2, Title 1, Part 3 of the Political Code, and of Sections 9400 and 9412 of the Government Code, relative to the attendance and examination of witnesses before the Legislature and committees thereof, shall apply to the committee appointed under this resolution.

The committee is hereby authorized and empowered to make a complete investigation and study of all matters and subjects heretofore referred to and relating thereto, and to do any and all things necessary or convenient to enable it to exercise the powers and duties granted to and imposed upon it.

The committee may create subcommittees from its membership, assigning to the subcommittee any study, inquiry, investigation or hearing which the committee itself has authority to take or hold, and the subcommittee for the purpose of this assignment shall have and exercise all of the powers conferred upon the committee limited by the express terms of the resolution or resolutions of the latter, defining the powers and duties of the subcommittee, which powers may be withdrawn or terminated at any time by the committee.

The committee may hold public hearings at any place in California, at which hearings the people are to have an opportunity to present their views to the committee. The committee may also meet in executive session. The committee is hereby authorized to act during sessions of the Legislature, including any recess thereof, or after final adjournment, but in no event beyond the convening of the Fifty-sixth Legislature. The committee may report to any session of this Legislature or to the Regular Session of the Fifty-sixth Legislature, on or before March 15, 1945.

Every department, commission, board, agency, officer, and employee of the State Government and of any political subdivision, county, city, or public district or in this State shall furnish the committee and any subcommittee upon request, any and all assistance and information, records, and documents as the committee or subcommittee deems proper for the accomplishment of the purposes for which the committee is created. The Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, or other officers designated by him are hereby directed to serve any and all subpoenas, orders, and other process issued by the committee, when directed so to do by the chairman or by a majority of the membership of the committee.

The members of the committee shall serve without compensation but shall be allowed mileage at the rate of five and one-half cents ($.055) per mile each way incurred in connection with their services upon the committee and other actual and necessary expenses for living accommodations and meals incurred in connection with their services upon the committee, or in lieu thereof an allowance of ten dollars ($10) per day for accommodations and meals.

The sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Senate, for expenses of the committee hereby created and its members, and for any other charges, expenses or claims it may incur under this resolution to be disbursed after certification by the chairman of the committee by warrants of the State Controller drawn upon the State Treasurer.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received, read, and, on motion of Senator Seawall, ordered printed in the Journal:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
 OFFICE OF THE CONTROLLER, SACRAMENTO, May 7, 1943

Honorable JEROME L. SULLIVAN
 State Senator, Capitol

DEAR MR. SULLIVAN: Effective January 1, 1943, the Federal "Revenue Act of 1942" providing that every employer is required to withhold certain deductions, now better known as victory tax, from the salaries, wages, and per diem allowances paid to every employee, was introduced by the United States Government. The act provides that the deductions shall be made at the time the employee's pay roll is prepared, that the deductions shall be accumulated until the end of each quarter of the calendar year when in the whole shall be paid to the United States Collector of Internal Revenue. The phrase "every employee" has been determined to include each State official and employee.

In applying this act to the State Legislature it appeared to be the duty of the Secretary and Sergeant at Arms of the Senate, the Chief Clerk and the Sergeant at Arms of the Assembly and the chairman of each standing and interim committee of both houses, to make these deductions and their subsequent transmittal to the Collector of Internal Revenue.

This divided responsibility has proven to be highly unsatisfactory and confusion has ensued in connection with the collection and payment of this tax. In fact, delinquencies have occurred which will require a thorough analysis of the status of each account in order to determine whether or not these deductions have been remitted to the State Treasurer and then forwarded to the Collector of Internal Revenue in accordance with the provisions of the act.

It is believed that this confusion should be corrected immediately and can be readily corrected by placing this responsibility in one of the duly organized departments of the State Government.

It is believed that the State Controller would be the proper officer to assume the responsibility of collecting and transmitting the victory tax. This office will be glad to carry on this additional work if that be the wish of the Legislature.

It is estimated that the total cost of doing this work, including the compensation of the two employees, stationery, postage, and accounting equipment, will be in the sum of $400 per month.

Very truly yours,

HARRY B. RILEY, Controller

Senate Resolution No. 147

Relating to deduction of earnings from agricultural labor from old-age assistance and the creation of a committee in respect thereto

WHEREAS, House Joint Resolution 96, as passed by the Senate of the United States included, as subdivision (1) of Section 5 thereof, provisions that no persons should be deemed not to be a needy individual by reason of remuneration paid to such person for any agricultural labor performed by him from the enactment of the resolution until six months after the termination of hostilities in the present war; and that no State should be required, in determining need in the case of any individual, to take into consideration any income or resources derived by him from agricultural labor; and

WHEREAS, Conference reports amending House Joint Resolution 96 were adopted by both houses of Congress, whereby the benefits of the subdivision were withheld from any State which had increased the amount of aid payable to recipients of old age since April 30, 1943; and

WHEREAS, The State of California has at the present session of the Legislature increased the maximum monthly individual grant of aid to the aged from forty dollars ($40) per month to fifty dollars ($50) per month; and the State of California is the only State which has increased the amount of aid payable to recipients of old-age assistance since April 30, 1943; and

Resolved, That the sum of two thousand five hundred dollars ($2,500) or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby made available from the Contingent Fund of the Senate for the expenses and claims the members of the committee may incur under this resolution, to be disbursed upon certification by the chairman of the committee upon warrants drawn by the State Controller upon the State Treasurer.

INTRODUCTION

In the First and Second Preliminary Reports of the Legislative Budget Committee we have covered the operations of the committee in general through the preparation of the 1943-45 Budget and have explained in detail the over-all picture of the Budget and the resultant General Fund surplus. We have presented an analysis of the operations and the budget items for several departments and agencies of the State, including the legislative, the judicial, the executive and the administrative officers, boards and commissions. In this we have followed the same order in which these matters are presented in the Budget and in the Budget Appropriation Bill. In this report we will cover the first part of the administrative departments and related agencies, again following the set-up in the Budget and the budget bills, beginning with the Department of Agriculture on page 112 of the Budget and Item 50 of the Appropriation Bill, and going through to the Department of Finance on page 259 of the Budget and including Item 84 of the Appropriation Bill.

The departments covered herein include the following: Agriculture, Education and Employment. The Fourth Partial Report will begin with the Department of Finance and conclude with Social Welfare, covering the rest of the administrative departments and related agencies.

1. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

General Fund

Items 50 to 55, inclusive, page 5, Assembly Bill No. 1600, pages 112 to 158, inclusive, of the Budget. The allocations from the General Fund for all of the activities of the department supported from the General Fund, for support, Item 50, is placed at $2,613,812. This is a decrease of $53,360.

Of the divisions showing decrease, that of Animal Husbandry is the largest with a decrease of $120,045. An increase of $18,492 in the Bureau of Markets and $13,603 in the Bureau of Rodent and Weed Control, together with smaller increases, offset a part of this sizeable decrease, leaving a net decrease of $53,360.

Special Fund

Item 52, for support from the Department of Agriculture Fund, is placed at $4,077,592. This is a decrease of $67,706.64. Revenues, however, show a decrease of $284,526.96. Meat Inspection shows the largest drop with $146,065, and Shipping Point Inspection second with $65,842. The largest increases are Milk Stabilization, $57,781, and Canning Tomato Inspection, $58,202.

Approximately 60 per cent of the activities of the department are now supported from special funds. Ten years ago only 39 per cent of the total budget from the department was provided from special funds. These special funds then totaled approximately a million and three quarters of dollars.

Number of Employees

In 1933 the department had a total of 779 employees. Ten years later the total is 880. The total number for each year of the current biennium and in the Budget for 1943-45 and for the general and special funds are as follows:

Number of employees	1941-42	1942-43	1943-44	1944-45
General Fund -----	434	431	429	428
Special Fund -----	454	467	451	451
Total -----	888	898	880	879

Salary Saving

As for other departments and agencies of the State, the salary saving item has been included in the Budget. In the case of the General Fund activities of the department, the salary savings already set up are 14.5 per cent. This is considerably higher than for other departments. A review of the actual staff paid from the General Fund indicates that this approaches the total salary savings that may reasonably be expected. For this reason no additional salary savings for the General Fund of the department is suggested.

The salary savings set up for the special funds of the department is placed at 5.25 per cent. It is believed that an additional 5 per cent here is not out of line. This will increase salary savings for the special funds by approximately $123,000, making a total of $260,810. Additional observations on this item are considered subsequently in connection with the request of the department for restorations of budget cuts.

Salary Savings by Increasing Work Week From 38 to 40 Hours

An additional saving in salaries can be secured through increasing the work week in the Department of Agriculture from 38 to 40 hours. The amount of this increase for other than the office staff can only be determined by examining the duties and hours of work of the various field employees. Many of them now work in excess of 40 hours.

Leadership Wanting

Many of the functions of the Department of Agriculture are essential to safeguard the industry and to protect the welfare of the consuming public; however, we can no longer say, as was stated in the First Partial Review Committee Report of 10 years ago that agriculture is now the primary industry of California. Due to the war and unprecedented advances in wartime economies, particularly in aircraft and shipbuilding, agriculture has taken second place. However, California is still essentially an agricultural State. Today, in contrast with 10 years ago, agriculture is in a favorable economic position. It is no longer a question of selling agricultural products at a profit and at a better price, but rather of being able to find any market. It is now primarily a matter of production. All that can be produced and can be sold under the Federal restrictions with few exceptions yield a profit and in many instances, a very handsome profit. The difficulty now is in finding a sufficient supply of agricultural labor and in producing a satisfactory volume of food, not only to meet our local needs but to make up the deficit for food which is of primary importance in war, by increasing the present output.

The problems of agriculture and production are further complicated by Federal regulations and Federal lifting. The failure to recognize the farmer's need for gasoline and tires, for farm machinery and parts, and their needs for essential labor at the time when crop losses are heavy, and the failure to recognize the disaster of fixing the prices of certain farm products at such a low level that they can not be produced profitably in coordination with other related crops have been tragically disastrous.

In the milk industry, this lack of understanding has forced the sale of many dairy herds for butchering. As long as the killing of thousands of young chickens that might otherwise have provided the meat shortage if they had been raised for fryers. Thousands of acres of fertile land are lying idle for the reason that there is no guarantee that harvest losses can be secured.

In this serious situation the State Department of Agriculture has carried on negotiations of importance for the welfare of the farmer; however, the department has not expressed any particular leadership in the promotion of the production of food to meet what will be an apparent shortage. The department, it is true, is limited in its authority primarily to a regulatory and a policing activity; however, the opportunity was present to have assumed a much greater leadership than was accomplished. If this leadership had been exercised it is possible a super body to direct production of food would not have been requested.

Wartime Economy

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 6 of December 22, 1941, of the extraordinary session of the 1941 Legislature presented on page 15 of the First Partial Report, called on all departments, including the Department of Agriculture, to economize in every possible way and to assist in the war effort. The Director of Agriculture did not at that time reply to the communication from the committee asking for a report in compliance with this resolution. Subsequently, during the course of the preliminary hearings for the 1943-45 Budget in the office of the Director of Finance, on December 5, 1942, his attention was called to this, and on December 18, 1942, he covered the matter in a letter to the Legislative Auditor.

The Director of Agriculture reported that if the program of the department is continued as laid out that on June 30, 1943, approximately $200,000 will remain unspent in the General Fund appropriation of the department. This will result, after the department has taken up approximately $86,000 for the special $15 salary bonus, and an expenditure of some $28,000 promised by Mr. Killian, the Director of Finance, to take care of war emergency matters, so that the actual anticipated saving from the appropriation would approximate $314,000 if these two items had not been met from regular appropriations.

In the special fund a saving of $109,000 would be realized, over and above some $64,000 spent from this fund for the emergency salary adjustment. The total gross saving for the department is reported at approximately $309,000. The following tabulations, Tables A and B, summarize this situation for both the general and special funds.

Subsequent to the report of December, 1942, the budget for the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine was adjusted so as to absorb part of this surplus by making an expenditure of $57,200 for the control of Oriental fruit moth, $5,000 for inspection of vehicles to prevent spread of this moth, and an additional $18,900 was required to increase the emergency salary adjustments in accordance with the Swing Bill, Senate Bill No. 15. This would leave a balance in the General Fund on June 30, 1943, of $113,400. The tabulation of the emergency adjustments made are as follows:

Emergency salary adjustments.....	$105,540 00
Emergency war work.....	26,200 00
Inspection station, Banning, fruit and vegetable standardi- zation.....	2,000 00
Expenses, Oriental fruit moth.....	57,200 00
Highway inspection stations, Oriental fruit moth.....	5,000 00
	<hr/> $195,940 00

The revised saving as of June 30, 1943, and the items listed above, will show savings in the General Fund of a total of $309,340.

The savings in the special fund will be returned to $75,000 in the place of $100,170 indicated in the letter of December, 1942. Additional salary increments of $3,270 caused the reduction.

An examination of the operation of the department shows that the work concentrated in keeping down trade tariffs and the use of restrictions. A corresponding message for the six months period, July 1st, to December 31, 1942, was 2,450,000 tons compared with 3,108,000 tons for the same period in 1941. There is a decrease of 23 per cent. In the beginning of the present session the Fair and Labor Program was discontinued.

Departmental Reorganization

In December, 1940, the department was reorganized, controlling the divisions that were then in 17 bureaus (11), 19, and two four divisions. There are the divisions of (1) Administration, (2) Food Industry, (3) Animal Hygiene and (4) Economics. No new positions were set up in four these divisions. This provided better administrative management.

In most inspection, as a result of the war, a considerable amount of the work was taken over by the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture through an amendment of the Federal Meat Inspection Act, providing for the inspection of slaughter houses during wartime working for the duration and six months thereafter. This results in a cessation of the system of inspection in the State department and as the future is difficult to predict should some change transfer. The expenditures of this system cannot be reduced and constitute on the lower level until the Federal Government withdraws from the inspection in the State. When the State inspects the results, the points are for sale, while Federal inspection is paid for from Federal funds.

In the Bureau of Chemistry it has been proposed that it is left to reduce the price on fertilizer 20 per cent or from 25 cents per ton per quarter to 20 cents per ton. This will benefit the industry and the farmer, and not without enough money to enforce the Fertilizer Act. The purchase of this message has been approved to Assembly Bill No. 704 now before the Legislature.

In the nursery stock inspection, the amount of inspection has been a problem to the purchaser of nursery stock and has been costly. It is (1941-1942) proposed on the point of origin would be more satisfactory and cheaper. Assembly Bill No. 1719 permits this procedure.

Economy in Issuing Licenses

In its regulatory activity the department issued approximately 100,000 licenses annually. For several months the department has been working on a plan to develop a simple standardized license to be issued in each field to be used as a means of considerable savings in printing, issuing, collecting fees, issuing and payment. Your Legislative Auditor, in doing a study of the department, has been a member of the department of Agriculture, has reviewed the Department of Agriculture, and is cooperating with them and concurs in the belief that the department can save approximately $6,000 annually in postage and printing costs by the issuance of the proposed plan. This same economy can be extended to other departments.

Other economies have been made in the department. These will not be listed in detail.

The activities in forwarding economies of the Department of Agriculture have been presented in more detail than will be the case for other departments. This is for the purpose of giving a view of what actually can be done by one or more of the State departments in making economies effective in comparison with the report on Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 6, those referred to, and in forwarding the war effort.

Support of Department

Approximately 60 per cent of the activities of the department are supported from special funds, and about 40 per cent from the General Fund. This means that such activities can not be shifted fairly without agreement of the industries paying the bills.

It is apparent, however, that these divisions of the industries supplying funds for their own inspection and regulation have also shifted their operations as a result of the war, and that their problems have changed accordingly. A corresponding shifting of emphasis by the Department of Agriculture to meet these wartime problems is logical.

General Fund Activities to Assist in Food Production

In the General Fund, assistance has been rendered in a number of ways in the effort to produce more food. Some of the steps taken are listed herewith:

1. One employee of the department is working with the California State Employees Association to secure State employees to help in harvesting, in canneries and other agricultural activities on their time off. This employee also helps in securing farm labor to relieve the shortage.

2. One employee details approximately 60 per cent of his time to assist in Victory garden drives.

3. The director and assistant director are continually meeting with the United States Department of Agriculture War Board on their programs of farm labor, burlap bag shortage, farm machinery and equipment shortage, etc.

4. They assisted in continuing airplane seeding and dusting programs under wartime conditions, also assisted in distribution of tartaric emetic and sugar for pest control under WPB and OPA restrictions; also, promoted continuation of Central Valley Water Project and initiated plans for utilization of Japanese farm equipment.

5. They assisted in securing adoption of Federal order allowing slaughterers for intrastate business to bid on Federal meat orders.

6. The Bureau of Markets coordinated with the Market Committee of Food Distribution and Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture.

7. The director conferred in Washington, D. C., with OPA on milk prices on behalf of the State's dairy industry.

8. The Administrator of the Division of Animal Industry assists the Army in securing veterinarians.

9. Various other employees assist whenever available from their regular programs on various wartime agricultural problems.

At the Governor's budget hearings and subsequently before the Ways and Means Committee, the director of the department has indicated that there can be a further shift of the time of the regular employees to the problem of wartime food production. It is recommended that the maximum effort be directed to this, rather than recommending a specific cut in the appropriation for the department. It is believed that a greater degree of leadership can be exercised in this respect and that the staff of the department can be so arranged as to materially assist in this wartime effort to produce food.

Budget Request Reduced

The original budget requests of the Department of Agriculture were reduced $705,027 by the Governor's Budget. An analysis of these requests and deductions for the Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth Fiscal Years are presented in the following tabulation:

	Original Budget request	Printed Budget	Deduction
General Fund—Support .....	$3,034,183	$2,613,812	$420,371
General Fund—Capital outlay .....	2,530	2,130	400
Special Fund—Support .....	4,361,848	4,077,592	284,256
Totals .....	$7,398,561	$6,693,534	$705,027

Deductions are further divided as follows:

	General Fund, support	Special Fund, support	Total
Salaries and wages .....	$371,165	$162,123	$533,288
Operating expenses .....	28,976	61,923	90,899
Equipment .....	38,766	60,210	98,976
	$438,907	$284,256	$723,163
Capital outlay .....	400	----	400
	$439,307	$284,256	$723,563
Less pro rata, Department administration .....	18,536	----	18,536
Totals .....	$420,771	$284,256	$705,027

This reduction of $705,027 is a considerable contrast with the continuously increasing expenditure program that the department has had for many bienniums.

The salary deductions made in the budget hearing are covered principally by an estimated salary savings which result from inability to fill vacancies. In the General Fund, total deductions for salaries were 14.57 per cent of requests and a total savings of $296,880. In the special fund, deductions for salaries were 5.25 per cent of the requests, with an estimated saving of $133,810.

Restorations Requested by Department

The department came before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee on March 3, 1943, and asked that certain restorations be made in their budget. In particular, it was pointed out that the salary savings were drastic, but they agreed if the positions could not be filled the savings would accrue and asked for assurance that they could receive money from the Emergency Fund if positions could be filled. The request did not win for the continuation of a specific amount.

A careful review of the comparative situation which has been made in relation to the entire budget indicated that the money saving anticipated for the Department of Agriculture will cover almost the cost of the program to be the Federal authorities recognizes the particular labor problem of agriculture and relaxes restrictions. At the present moment this does not appear to be likely as concerns the Department of Agriculture itself. Should this occur, the Department will have the opportunity of presenting the matter to the Department of Finance. It is believed that the degree of economy may exceed the estimate.

In the Governor's Budget a number of positions were eliminated. In the Bureau of Markets the positions were deleted. Three positions were vacant at the time; however, the director requested that two of these positions be retained. Subsequent to the budget having been of them were filled. One was for an intermediate stenographer clerk and the other a stenographic operator who prepares slugs for typewriters and other necessary stenographic positions machines. A review of the operation of the department indicates that these two positions are particularly essential and that it will require $4,750 for the salaries for these positions.

Examination of the department's work, which is a recommendation for expenditures made by the department, indicates that certain services can not be rendered if this clerical staff in the Bureau of Markets is reduced. Therefore, it appears reasonable that the adjustment item should be adjusted by the Department of Finance in the sum of approximately $10,000. This is a bookkeeping item and should be added by the Department of Finance to the general budget. I believe a reduction in emergency help of $10,000 will mean reduction in services approximately 80 per cent of which is represented in adjustments charged for these services. This also should be adjusted by the Department of Finance, making a total adjustment in the two items of $18,000.

Consolidation of Special Funds

A review of the operation of the several special funds of the department indicates that considerable economy in accounting and management can be made if those funds that are run and up in small departments are consolidated into one fund. If the services of the one of these departments employed by those funds can be assumed as well for the general funds without the necessity of detail required in setting up separate considerable additional economy will result. For example, on page 112 of the Budget under the Bureau of Plant Supply, one had some independent items, not being included in the general fund, but being separate market work, machinery and glassware testing service. The annual collections range from $4,000 to $20,000. If these are combined the economies suggested will result. There are possibly other similar situations that will be demonstrated when a more detailed review of the management of the department is made. It is recommended that legislation be enacted making this possible.

Accounting and Administration Should Be Reviewed

While the accounting of the department is somewhat complicated by the number of special funds and special services, and also from the fact that certain services are seasonal, it appears that a comprehensive and further detailed survey of both the accounting and the administration of the department will yield results, both for economy and improved administrative control.

Use of Automobiles

The Department of Agriculture as far back as 1925 had established a better control of the use of automobiles than most of the departments of the State. This practice of controlling automobiles has continued in the department to a greater degree than in other departments. Economy in operation and in original capital outlay for automobiles has been secured. This procedure should be continued and extended.

The department requested $26,800 from the General Fund for automobiles to cover 43 replacements and two new cars. From the special fund the request for this purpose was $55,700, covering 69 replacements and one used car. All requests for automobiles, both for replacements and for additions, were stricken from the entire Budget, and for the General Fund a lump sum appropriation of $250,000 was set up as Item 223 in the Budget Bill. This is to be expended under the written authorization of the Director of Finance, and the replacement of automobiles and the requests for new cars for the bureau will come before him for individual consideration. The general matter of purchase, use and control of State automobiles will be discussed when we consider this item. It is sufficient to say here that this is part of the program for the complete control of State automobiles, and it is believed that the procedure in eliminating them from the individual budgets of the departments at this time is desirable.

Possible Elimination and Adjustment of Services

There are a number of adjustments in the services of the Department of Agriculture which should be considered in order to determine whether certain services should be continued or abolished because of necessity, economy, or to make the services rendered definite.

One of these matters concerns the foreign cold storage meat inspection, page 113 of the Budget. There was expended during the 1941-43 Biennium $841.20 for this service and the proposed expenditure for the coming biennium is placed at $602. It is questionable if this service is necessary. Consideration should be given to eliminating it.

Agricultural Prorate Act

It was the intention that the Agricultural Prorate Act would carry itself. Experience has demonstrated that collections made when the prorate is set up do not always carry all the costs to the final conclusion of administration for any industry. This was particularly true in the case of the brandy prorate, also in the case of other prorates where legal difficulties were encountered. In one case fees were collected when the operation of the prorate was held up, and the return of these fees presents a problem. It is believed that in considering the setting up of any prorate then an estimate should be made of the entire costs so that residual costs are not left to the State.

Bureau of Fruit and Vegetable Standards

While the establishment of certain standards for fruits and vegetables in order to protect the grower and the consumer and to develop a reputation for California products and thus help in their marketing is desirable, such standardization should be made to serve all of these purposes and not just assist in making prices higher for the consumer. They should actually be administered impartially on the basis of desirable standardization and during the time when all such agricultural products can readily be disposed of there is no purpose in enforcing standardization in such a way as to reduce the quantity of commodities going on to the market.

A review of the entire matter of standardization, so as to clarify its purpose and its enforcement, should be made.

The Bureau of Shipping Point Inspection is particularly necessary so that California shippers will have some guarantee that the agricultural products shipped will be accepted at destination.

Duplicating Inspections

The shipper of fruits and vegetables to purely intrastate markets is sometimes annoyed and frequently suffers a financial loss through the fact that after having secured an inspection of commodities he is about to ship and which he thinks is a guarantee that he can sell these commodities when he gets them to the consuming market, he has this shipment stopped one or more times en route in one or more counties, and moreover, it sometimes occurs that after the shipment arrives in the consuming market it will again be inspected and a part or all of it declared as unsalable. The shipper has lost the cost of hauling, the time of inspection and has had the annoyance of duplicating inspections. It has furthermore been charged that the delays caused by these inspections in transit have been such as to be the real reason for the deterioration of fruits and vegetables so that they were not in a condition to pass final inspection at the place of destination.

The administrators of the Department of Agriculture could work out a plan to eliminate this situation and at the same time allow for the proper inspection necessary to protect the public and to maintain a desirable standard for California fruits and vegetables.

Publicity Men

An examination of the budget of the Department of Agriculture, page 114, under "General Office," discloses a number of titles that are found in various departments of the State and usually cover up various promotional activities more or less for the promotion of department heads or other individuals rather than for the general welfare of the State. These are as follows: Administrative Assistant, Agricultural Information Assistant, Agricultural Exhibit Technician and Editorial Assistant. These positions have been carefully examined and we find that the Administrative Assistant was formerly the departmental accounting officer and has been in the department for a long period of time. He is familiar with the operations of the department and with his broad experience he should be able to render real administrative assistance. It is suggested however, that more of the problems of the department connected with accounting, collection of fees and administrative organization be given to him for review.

The Agricultural Information Assistant has also been in the department for a number of years and he performs a number of duties other than giving out information. He does supply the general public with information.

The Agricultural Exhibit Technician formerly functioned with county fairs. The word "exhibitor" has now been eliminated in the title set up in the Personnel Board. This is somewhat misleading but he does more than help with exhibits. With local fairs practically eliminated for the duration, this man has been assigned the job of promoting Victory gardens, and he is meeting with considerable success. It is believed that such titles should as clearly as possible indicate the work performed, and certainly should not be misleading.

Another example of a misleading title is found on pages 115 and 116 of the Budget, under the Division of Plant Industry, where three positions are set up, Associate, Assistant and Junior Systematic Entomologist. Neither the Director of Agriculture nor your committee could discover any logical reason for such terminology.

The Editorial Assistant handles in reference, market news, etc.

Since it is demonstrated that the above positions have actual functions of value to perform and not of a personal promotional nature, and since any excess time they may have can more profitably be used to assist in the more production of food, no recommendation is included for the elimination of any of these specific positions.

Printing

The total allotment for the Department of Agriculture for printing is approximately $25,000. A careful control of this printing will result in a modest savings. However, if the department could get its printing done at a saving below commercial prices, which the State Printing Plant should be able to make, a savings of approximately 20 per cent or more should be realized.

Bureau of Rodent and Weed Control and Seed Inspection

This bureau has had two of its functions enlarged because of the war. These are the control and destruction of rodents and seed inspection. Seed inspection has been enlarged recently by the addition of grain seed. Also, due to the scarcity of seeds, closer inspection is required to prevent the sale of inferior seeds.

Rodent control and destruction has become more important due to the spread of rodents that are carriers of bubonic plague and the occurrence of at least two cases of human infection. Bubonic plague has been found on rodents in a number of additional counties during the past year and has been found adjacent to army camps. The Department of Public Health conducts surveys to determine the occurrence of infected rodents and the Department of Agriculture, through its Bureau of Rodent and Weed Control, carries on the poisoning and destruction of the rodents.

Not only has the expansion of infested areas added to the problem, but cases have increased because of the inability to buy reliable insect poisons. No lessening of this activity can be envisioned under the circumstances. The only suggestion is that a fuller cooperation be entered into between the Federal Government and an endeavor be made to secure funds for the extermination of rodents in areas that are adjacent to military camps and installations, and to points of debarkation.

Predatory Animal Control

This is found on page 110 of the Budget with a total appropriation of $53,000 proposed as compared with $47,700 for this activity for the current biennium.

Only one regular supervising hunter and trapper is employed, while $22,550 a year is set up to employ seasonally hunters and trappers. The problem of predatory animals destroying domestic flocks and livestock has become accentuated due to the inability of farmers to secure ammunition to use in keeping down the predatory animals, also the limitation on hunting through gasoline and ammunition restrictions. Considerable demand has been made that this activity be increased so as to cut down the livestock losses and increase the production of meat for our armed forces.

Before anything is done in this matter the whole problem of the control of predatory animals should be considered and this activity should be coordinated with the same activity in the Department of Natural Resources, Fish and Game Commission.

On page 485 of the Budget of the Fish and Game Commission of the Department of Natural Resources, under "Game Conservation" are listed some 24 employees devoted to this activity. There are four supervising hunters and trappers, 16 hunters and trappers and four lion hunters. It is believed that large beneficial results and considerable economy can be secured by coordinating these activities of the two separate departments.

Division of Animal Husbandry

On page 121 of the Budget the Bureau of Livestock Disease Control is set up, showing 67 employees. This division had 82 employees in 1941-42. The reduction has occurred primarily in the group of veterinary livestock inspectors, for nine less persons are employed than were in 1941-42. This has resulted from the dropping off in the bovine tuberculosis control. The program started in 1931-33 and has culminated in the results desired by having a completely free State. In order to maintain this accredited condition, reinspection periodically is necessary and a considerable force will be required to do this. It is believed, however, that the number of veterinarian inspectors can be further reduced.

There is one position earned in this budget, that of sheep disease specialist, that is now vacant through the death of the incumbent. This leaves the department without a specialist in this field. If this position is not to be filled, there should be a saving of $6,240 a year in salary, plus traveling expenses.

The Bureau of Meat Inspection appears on page 123 of the Budget. As has been pointed out, this staff has been reduced materially due to the fact that the Federal Government has extended its inspection of meat, as previously mentioned. This over all force has declined from 20 in 1942 to 16 budgeted for 1944-45.

The Bureau of Meat Inspection supported from the special fund is found on page 142 of the Budget. These are the meat inspectors paid for by the industry for inspecting meat at the time of slaughter. In 1941-42 this bureau had 141 inspectors. In 1942-43 it was reduced to 99, while for the coming biennium the number in the Budget for each fiscal year is placed at 89. This reduction is due to the extension of Federal inspection, as previously explained.

This bureau also makes inspection of foreign cold storage meat. This is self-supporting and has never been a very large item.

The Division of Organization, Development and Arbitration is found on page 125 of the Budget. There does not appear to be any logical reason for the title given to this activity. It seems to be the catch-all for the department.

Bureau of Dairy Service

This appears on pages 122 and 123 of the Budget. This bureau, supported by the General Fund, has 23 employees. It is self evident that a total of 23 employees, including both clerical and technical staff, could not provide an adequate milk inspection service for the State.

On pages 138 to 140, inclusive, are listed the special fund Bureau of Dairy Services. These include ice cream inspection, butter grading, market milk inspection and glassware testing service. Seventeen employees are listed for these several activities. These specialized activities are paid for by the industry. Both groups, to a considerable degree, deal with the same products and with the same persons. It is not, however, a complete overlapping.

Milk inspection is carried on primarily by the cities and counties inspecting their source of supply. Different cities have different standards. The State has established a minimum standard, but municipalities may adopt stricter standards, and frequently do. Not all cities have the same requirements, nor do they maintain the standards adopted for long periods of time. This frequently results in numerous and duplicating inspections of milk supply sources by the inspectors from several cities and possibly also by the State to see if the minimum standards are maintained. The whole procedure is unbusinesslike and unnecessarily burdensome, both to the producer and to the taxpayer. A similar situation did prevail in meat inspection. This has been solved. It is recommended that the milk inspection situation be solved in a similar way. No large savings will result to the State, but the cessation of the annoyance to the producer of numerous inspections and the elimination of the costs of duplicating inspections to the local taxpayer will be achieved.

Farm Debt Adjustment Commission

This appears on page 154 of the Budget. This appropriation is eliminated for the coming biennium. The machinery for carrying on this activity remains in existence since it possibly will prove to be useful at some subsequent date.

Poultry Improvement Commission

Item 53 of Assembly Bill No. 1600 appropriates $19,473 from the Poultry Testing Project Fund, and Item 54 appropriates $10,000 from the Fair and Exposition Fund, while Item 55 appropriates $1,600 from the Exposition Fund for permanent improvements.

The Poultry Improvement Commission operates a poultry testing project located at Modesto. It was established in 1939 by the California Poultry Improvement Act. Poultry producers place a specified number of hens in this establishment for official recording of production. Twenty-six bird units are the bases. The object is to encourage the breeding of poultry along the best established lines to meet all factors of commercial requirements. The services of the commission are open to any poultry producer in the State; however, only a relatively few take advantage of it. In 1942, there were only 35 entries and only 30 separate breeders, for some of them had more than one entry.

This is a service which is clearly of direct value to the industry. In other like cases for other industries the costs thereof are supported entirely by the industry involved. When this particular agency was created the sponsors, appearing before the Legislature, stated that if this activity were supported in part during the first two years, or the first biennium, the revenues derived would be sufficient to support the activity. This has not materialized. It is estimated that the income will be approximately $11,000 in the past two years, while expenditures for operation will be in excess of $20,000, without including the $1,000 allocated for capital outlay. It is clear that if this system is to continue it will have to be supported by appropriations from other than its own funds. It is approximately 50 per cent self-supporting now. The Legislature should decide whether it wishes to carry a part of this activity from State funds so to make it entirely self-supporting. If it is the desire to make it self-supporting, then a schedule of fees should be established to charge growers for the services rendered for their produce. The present fee is $30 per entry. The present revenues are derived primarily from the sale of eggs. The total revenues from all sources estimated for the coming biennium 1943-45 is $29,105, of which $16,610 is derived from the sale of eggs. If it is not worth to the producer the small fee to support to make it self-supporting, then it certainly is questionable if the State should carry it on at the expense of the general taxpayer.

If this activity is carried on largely supported by State funds then the services should be available to all of the poultry producers of the State, which would require an extension into other counties and a total cost of many times the present appropriation.

The administration believes that if the State does not interfere they may have during the coming biennium as many as one hundred thousand chickens and 50 separate breeders.

There are already only 100 licensed poultry breeders in the State for whom the particular testing would be of advantage.

2. DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

This department is covered by Items 56 to 84, inclusive, pages 6 to 8, inclusive, of Assembly Bill No. 1, 1943 and pages 116 to 234, inclusive, of the Budget. This section covers the following agencies: Agricultural State Board of Education, Department of Education, California State Library, Commission for Vocational Education, The Seven State College California School for the Blind, California School for the Deaf, California Maritime Academy, California Polytechnic School, University of California, Hastings College of Law, California Historical Association. Each of these activities receives separate consideration, however, a general statement is desirable for an understanding of all of the appropriation items and the budget items as respects education. All of the items concerning education in the Budget do not appear in the Appropriation Bill. In fact, by far the largest proportion of the money expended for education does not appear in the Appropriation Bill since this is made by a constitutional provision reserving for the support of education.

Reference to pages 140 to 174, inclusive, of the Budget, under "Payments and Grants to Counties and County Units of Local Government" will give the detail of allocations to the Department of Education, High Schools, District Junior Colleges, Vocational Education, Schools, Contributions to the Teachers' Retirement Fund, and Free Textbooks. The item for the protection, purchase and shipping of free textbooks appears in the Budget Bill as Item 59.

Apportionment to Elementary Schools

The apportionment to the elementary schools is a fixed charge prescribed by Section 6 of Article IX and Section 15 of Article XIII of the State Constitution. This money is apportioned on the basis of $90 a year for every student in average daily attendance. All that is available from school fund revenues is automatically appropriated and the remainder is made up from the General Fund. For the current biennium, 1941-43, the sum from the General Fund was placed at $84,087,695.28. The estimate for the 1943-45 Biennium is placed at $88,167,000, or an automatic increase in appropriation from the General Fund of $4,079,304.72.

The increase was brought about largely by the influx into California of war workers and their families. This has created an extreme housing problem in the areas about defense industries, such as Richmond, Vallejo, Beneta, San Diego, Sacramento, Alameda, San Bernardino and many other areas. Some local schools have had their enrollment jumped from less than 100 to in excess of 2,000 within the space of a few months.

Financing has been complicated because of the fact that money is allocated on the average daily attendance of the prior year, so while the need may occur in 1942 the apportionment based on 1941 average daily attendance will not be sufficient. Fortunately, in many instances, the Federal Government has assisted these local districts where the problem has arisen from war activity.

Average Daily Attendance Not Audited

The reports on average daily attendance for the purposes of the appropriation of school funds, and this applies not only to the elementary schools but likewise to the high schools and junior colleges, are made to the Department of Education. There the Division of Research and Statistics goes over these reports and adjusts them where it is believed necessary, and these figures are used by the State fiscal officials for the allocation of money by constitutional appropriation. These average daily attendance figures have never been subjected to proper audit and for the past several years have not been audited. The Department of Finance cannot certify as to whether or not the amount of money being apportioned is proper or is too much or too little. In fact, the Department of Finance never could so certify.

There seems to be some doubt as to whether or not under the law the Department of Finance is required to audit the records of the average daily attendance, and it is even questioned as to whether they have the right to do so. It is recommended that the average daily attendance records for the purpose of the appropriation of State money should be audited, and audited thoroughly, periodically by the Department of Finance, and this should be the basis of their recommendation for the appropriation of money based upon average daily attendance.

Reference to the total amount indicated above, $88,167,000, indicates that this is a large item of appropriation and that a neglect to properly audit it and a failure to make such an audit is significant of neglect of the exercise of proper fiscal control. If the authority does not and has not existed to make such an audit it long since should have been remedied. If any doubt exists at the present time as to the authority to audit this matter it should be cleared up.

The padding of average daily attendance figures by certain questionable methods in other than the elementary schools is well known. A bill has been introduced into the Legislature for the purpose of remedying some of these abuses.

Apportionment to High Schools

The apportionment to high schools is likewise a fixed charge prescribed by Section 6 of Article IX and Section 15 of Article XIII of the State Constitution, as is the case with the elementary schools. The actual and estimated requirement to meet this for the 1941-43 Biennium is $69,193,806.14 and the estimate for the 1943-45 Biennium is placed at $60,712,000, or a decrease of $8,481,806.14.

This estimated decrease arises from a falling off in high school enrollment which has been brought about primarily from the war. The draft has caught a few of the older students. A considerable number of high school boys have volunteered for the various services and a much larger number of students have quit school to work in the war industries or to answer the demand for manpower in the labor market which has been depleted through the demand of war industries and the armed services. It is believed that this condition will maintain and will probably show an acceleration during the remaining period of the war. This will cover at least the next Biennium.

Effect of Manpower Demand on Enrollment

The increased impact on manpower is evidenced by the following: It is estimated our armed forces in December, 1943, will reach 10,700,000 men, an increase from 6,400,000 in December, 1942, and our munitions industries will reach 10,500,000 employees in December, 1943, as compared with 8,700,000 a year earlier, and with our agricultural demand for labor continuing at 8,500,000 hands, and with other essential industries calling for at least 8,000,000 men in December, 1943, as compared with 7,700,000 a year earlier. It is self-evident that with this demand there will be fewer and fewer students in high schools, State colleges, junior colleges and our universities. The United States must boost wartime manpower by at least 6,400,000 workers by December, 1943. Fighters and workers will expand from 22,800,000 to 29,200,000 out of our total population. It is self-evident that the tendency must be for further reduction in school attendance for all ages that are capable of helping to fill the demand for labor.

The average daily attendance figures for apportionment of money to high schools should be audited by an independent agency.

The Apportionment to the District Junior Colleges

The allocation of funds for the junior colleges is a fixed charge prescribed by Sections 4.51 to 4.56, inclusive, of the School Code. This is controllable by the Legislature. The total apportionment for the 1941-43 Biennium for this purpose was $5,420,990.

The amount required by the 1943-45 Budget is $4,273,000, or a decrease of $1,147,990. This decrease has been caused by students going into the armed forces and to war industries and for replacement in nonwar industries.

Approximately $1,500,000 per year is derived from the Junior College Fund. This fund is supported by oil royalties.

These accounts for apportionment should also be audited regularly.

Vocational Education Apportionment—State's Share

Approximately two-thirds of this expenditure is a fixed charge set up by Section 4.84 of the School Code. The remainder is determined by biennial legislative appropriation in the Budget Act. The amount in the Budget for 1943-45 is $795,404, a decrease of $13,423. The Legislature can control this entire amount as well as the one-third found in the Budget Act, which is Item 60 on page 6, where $300,000, in round numbers, is appropriated.

Teachers' Retirement Contribution

A discussion of the status of the Teachers' Retirement Fund will be found in the Second Partial Report. It is pointed out there that this fund has an actuarial deficit of approximately $145,000,000. In this first section of the report the contribution of the State and its lack of relationship to the needs of the fund was explained.

This appropriation is in the nature of a fixed charge prescribed by Section 5853 of the School Code. This is, however, under the control of the Legislature. It has been since established 5 per cent of the Indebtedness Tax collections. The amount received in the biennium 1941-42 is set up as $974,518.75. It is estimated that it will amount to $750,000 for the coming biennium, 1943-45. This is a decrease of $224,518. This decrease occurs at a time when other resources are yielding increased amounts and when the demand on the Teachers' Retirement Fund is increasing. This is a further demonstration that there is absolutely no relationship between the needs of the Teachers' Retirement Fund and this part of its support.

There are bills in the Legislature materially affecting the Teachers' Retirement Fund and one of them at least which changes the State support and places the liability entirely on the State. This bill, which is indirectly an appropriation, should be given most serious consideration.

Free Textbooks

The requirement for free textbooks is prescribed in Section 7, Article IX of the Constitution. The amount, however, is determined solely by the appropriation made by the Legislature, and it can be reduced, increased or entirely eliminated, as the Legislature determines.

This is item 50 in the Budget Bill. The amount for appropriation for 1943-45 is $1,470,770. This is an increase of $220,770.82 over the actual and estimated expenditures for the current biennium.

This figure was arrived at in a very practical, but most unsatisfactory procedure. The amount has no relationship to the needs of the State for textbooks for the children of the public schools. It does not cover the printing and publication of the series of books selected by the State board and approved for publication. It does not supply more than 75 per cent of the number of books that would be supplied under normal costs.

This amount of money was determined by considering what capacity the State presses and bindery could handle for the next biennium, over and above its estimated load of printing and binding for other purposes, and then the amount of the appropriation was fixed at a sum sufficient to fully take up the capacity.

The Legislative Budget Committee has considered previously the confusion which exists in the control of the printing of textbooks and the conflicting responsibility for the adoption, printing and distribution of textbooks, and this will be covered subsequently in a separate report. A summary of the constitutional and statutory provisions covering the responsibility for the adoption and publication of school textbooks as prepared by the Legislative Council is presented herewith:

Responsibility for the Adoption and Publication of School Books

We have been requested to make an analysis of the various constitutional and statutory provisions showing the respective responsibilities of the State Board of Education, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Department of Education, State Curriculum Commission, and Superintendent of State Printing in the adoption and printing of school textbooks.

In general, it may be said that the State Board of Education adopts the textbooks after a recommendation and public hearing of the Curriculum Commission. The State Board of Education appears to be in charge of the compilation and printing. The duties of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in this connection are somewhat uncertain. The Superintendent of State Printing is in charge, under the Department of Finance, and subject to the approval of the Board of Education, of the mechanical act of printing.

The compilation and adoption of the elementary school textbooks is the function of the State Board of Education under the provisions of Article IX, Section 7 of the Constitution.

The Department of Education is not mentioned in the Constitution and is given no powers in connection with textbooks by the School Code. But the Director of Education, who is also the Superintendent of Public Instruction (Sch. C., Sec. 2.1361) is the executive officer of the State Board of Education (Sch. C., Sec. 2.1321) as well as the executive officer of the department (Sch. C., Sec. 2.1360). As head of the department, he may arrange and define the work of the department, and assign to officers and employees such duties and labors as he sees fit (Pol. C., Sec. 350).

As Superintendent of Public Instruction, he shall execute the policies of the State Board of Education, and, under rules prescribed by the board, direct the work of all appointees and employees of the board (Sch. C., Sec. 2.1414).

The Board of Education shall adopt and cause to be published textbooks and teachers' manuals (Sch. C., Sec. 6.260). It shall compile in whole or in part and manufacture textbooks, and do all things necessary for the purpose of procuring a uniform series of textbooks for use in the elementary schools (Sch. C., Sec. 6.270). The Superintendent of State Printing shall have supervision of all the mechanical work of printing, subject to the approval of the State Board of Education or the representative appointed by the board to supervise the work (Sch. C., Sec. 6.280).

From these sections, it appears clear that the Board of Education is the authority designated to adopt (subject to certain restrictions of power granted to the Curriculum Commission), compile, and cause to be printed the textbooks for use in the elementary schools. The Department of Education as such has no authority in this respect, nor has the director of the department as such.

However, as Superintendent of Public Instruction and executive officer of the board, he is to carry out its policies and direct the work of its employees. How far he may or should act in this capacity is not clear. If the board has textbooks printed, does it as a board supervise the work of printing, does it act only through the representative appointed pursuant to Sch. C., Sec. 6.280; or does the superintendent in carrying out the policies of the board and his power to direct the work of appointees and employees of the board supervise the work of printing?

The answer to these questions can not be determined by the sections. The responsibility is undoubtedly that of the board, but it may also be that of the superintendent.

There would appear to be no responsibility upon the Curriculum Commission. This commission is an advisory body with powers to recommend to the Board of Education specifications of textbooks (Sch. C., Sec. 6.263 and 6.264), and to which is given a right of public hearing before the Board of Education selects the textbooks (Sch. C., Sec. 6.265). It has no power to adopt or have books printed. Two recent cases were brought to determine whether it had the right to a public hearing before the adoption of textbooks. In Coward v. Dexter, L. A. No. 463, 551, the Superior Court of Los Angeles County held that the Constitution gave all power in respect to textbooks to the Board of Education. In Fletcher v. Dexter, San Diego County No. 102, 521, it has been reported that the decision was to the contrary. The Coward case was appealed, but the issue has probably become moot by the withdrawal of the Silver-Burdett Co. from their contract with the State Board of Education.

The Superintendent of State Printing is charged with printing the textbooks at the State Printing Office (Const., Art. IX, Sec. 7). He has supervision of all the mechanical work connected with the printing, subject to the approval of the Board of Education or its representative (Sch. C., Sec. 6.280). He has certain other powers of selecting style (Pol. C., Sec. 529) and modifying orders with the approval of the Department of Finance (Pol. C., Sec. 531). However, his powers appear to be merely mechanical and subject to the approval of the Board of Education. The Department of Finance authorizes the work to be done in the State Printing Office (Pol. C., Sec. 542).

In this connection, however, the Superintendent of State Printing is required to list the name, quantity and weight of paper used for the order and certify under oath that all material, stock and paper furnished to the office under contracts are of the quality and weight required by the contracts (P. B. C. Sec. 520 (6)). They are not allowed to impose any power other than mechanical work, since the approval is in the Board of Education or its appointed representatives. There is no express provision as to the quality of paper, size of type, type of binding, etc., but in case of disagreement between the board and the Superintendent of State Printing, which would prevail is not clear.

The foregoing discussion does not apply to the selection of high school textbooks, as they are not adopted by the State Board of Education, but merely voted with the State Board and adopted by the governing board of each high school district (Sch. C. Sec. 6379).

FRED B. WOOD

By JOSEPH L. KNOWLES

The Attorney General has indicated in a recent decision that the State Board of Education is more responsible rather than the Superintendent of Public Instruction in the matter of the selection, adoption and printing of textbooks. It is doubtful if this responsibility can be extended fully with all the duties that is required in producing a textbook.

The situation of conflicting authority should be definitely cleared up so that never again can the responsibility be shifted from one to the other.

Conditions that permitted the recent contract for paper for textbooks made with an Eastern paper house which resulted in having inferior paper and without any material saving should be prevented. Likewise, the possibility of the Director of Finance interfering with normal purchasing procedure and practically negotiating this contract which will result in the children of the State of California having textbooks printed on inferior paper, should be prevented. The Director of Finance now has authority to take over any purchasing matter or any contract for purchasing and to let such contracts with or without competitive bidding. While the clauses under this provision have not been numerous there have been several of a serious nature in the last four years.

The conflicting responsibility between the Superintendent of Public Instruction and the Board of Education has resulted in the heated controversy over the Salem-Burdett Publishing Company contract which is still in the courts. It is plain that this confusion should be cleared up and several bills have been introduced into the Legislature from the committee for this purpose.

The matter of what quantity of textbooks should be printed has not been reviewed. It is doubtful if the printing plant can satisfactorily expend the amount of this appropriation. It is also questionable if this amount of money should be expended during the time of labor shortage and whether or not the material required should be diverted from war activity to school textbooks. Unless it is demonstrated that the schools will be injured and can not satisfactorily continue during the next biennium, it is believed that a lesser appropriation would make possible the carrying on of a necessary program and that the postponement of several of the books adopted can be postponed until after the war effort.

This appropriation could be reduced to $1,250,000 or even less, or possibly to $1,000,000 without materially injuring the program of the distribution of free textbooks, for the reason that with wartime conditions at least 25 per cent more books can be secured for the same money, and the securing of this additional quantity of books for the same expenditure would go a long way toward filling the gap that might be created by the postponement of this expenditure for a two-year period.

Concentration should be exercised in publishing those books that already have been adopted so that their supply will be sufficient and books available from other sources can be used for the next two years.

The Use of Textbooks

We have indicated that the whole matter of free textbooks will be the subject of a separate report on some subsequent date. In this all phases of the matter will be covered. One subject affecting the possible size of an appropriation for printing free textbooks is the matter of the use of these books. It frequently happens that school districts order large quantities of the required texts but since the actual text to be used in a school district is controlled locally, the free textbooks supplied by the State may never be opened but lie unused in some storage closet. There is no compulsion that requires the use of the free textbooks supplied by the State. Either they should be used or they should not be supplied. The State Board of Education should take adequate steps to determine in advance of printing what quantity of textbooks will be used and should not base their orders for printing on the number of students enrolled in the particular grades for which textbooks are to be supplied. Such a procedure will reduce the production of a useless number of texts. It is not only wasteful but it means that needed texts for other subjects could be produced if the cost of the surplus texts not used was saved.

State Board of Education

This appears on page 158 of the Budget and Item 56 of Assembly Bill No. 1600. In prior budgets no segregation was made of the allotment to the State Board of Education. It was included in the appropriation for the support of the department. The segregation has been made so as to set up definite accounting and budgetary control of these expenditures. The appropriation is only $6,400, which pays for part time to an intermediate stenographer-clerk and for traveling expenses.

Clearly, if the State Board is to exercise all of the functions that have been claimed in the past, and they have all of the powers and duties as stated in the law as interpreted recently by the Attorney General, this appropriation is by far insufficient to support what will be required.

Department of Education

This is Item 57 of Assembly Bill No. 1600, and covers pages 159 to 167, inclusive, of the Budget. The total appropriation is $478,651, which is an increase of $24,780. The largest single increase is in the Department of Administration in the sum of $11,031, while the largest decrease is in schoolhouse planning in the sum of $5,098.

Considering this appropriation includes an emergency salary adjustment of $15 per month per employee, the increase is not out of line. It appears, however, that schoolhouse planning might possibly have been reduced further for the reason that there will be little or no construction of high schools during the war, with the exception of schools in congested areas for war defense workers.

Employees

The department has 79 employees, as compared with 75 in the previous biennium. Four positions were dropped and they were allowed two new positions for the coming biennium, although they requested a much larger addition.

The salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, who heads the department, is fixed by the Constitution at $5,000 per year. That of the deputy director is fixed by statute at $4,500 per year. There have been numerous attempts to change the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and make it more in keeping with the dignity and responsibility of the position; the people have turned this down. It appears that the position should pay more if we compare it with the salaries paid to the city superintendents in a number of our city school systems.

With the statutory salary at $4,500 a year for the deputy director, it has been impossible to find anyone to take this position at this salary following the retirement of Mr. Sam Cohn, who occupied this position for many years. The director has requested that this salary be increased and he suggests a figure of $6,000. The person he wishes to employ has been offered even a higher salary in local school systems in the State, and can not be expected to accept this position at too great a sacrifice.

An examination of the organization of the Department of Education at once demonstrates that department appears to be top-heavy in executives. For example, in the departmental administration, out of 32 employees there are eight administrative positions, as follows:

No.	Title	Basic salary range	95th F. Y.	96th F. Y.
1	Director -----	$416 67	$5,000	$5,000
1	Deputy director -----	375 00	4,500	4,500
1	Assistant to executive secretary -----	200 (15) 260 00	3,300	3,300
1	Administrative assistant -----	300 00	3,780	3,780
1	Administrative adviser -----	300 (20) 380 00	4,740	4,740
1	Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction -----	340 (20) 420 00	4,740	4,740
1	Assistant Superintendent of Public Instruction (one-half salary) -----	340 (20) 420 00	2,610	2,610
1	Assistant Director of Education -----	340 (20) 420 00	5,220	5,220

Further examination of the several divisions of the department indicates that they have relatively small divisions as measured by the number of employees, headed by a chief who is supposed to be an expert in his field. Some of these divisions have only six or seven employees including the executives, and not only have a chief or an assistant chief but they also have a chief of a bureau. In the case of the Division of Adult and Continuation Education, where there are just three employees, there is a chief of the division at part salary. In the Division of Health and Physical Education, with three employees, they have a chief of the division and a chief of the Bureau of Physical Education for Girls. There are several other divisions that have the same or even a more pronounced overemphasis on administrative personnel.

The truth of the matter is that these people are supposed to be specialists in their fields and frequently their principal work consists merely of contacts with the local school systems. It appears that a reorganization and regrouping of duties in the Department of Education, with the application of definite measurement as to the responsibilities, more required and the results secured will materially reduce the overload. A job system of work process with a time analysis will at once demonstrate where unnecessary services are being provided.

Salary Savings

The salary saving item has been included in the budget although it is felt that this can be approximately doubled or an additional saving of $8,400 be made.

Miscellaneous Expenses

Miscellaneous expenses consist of posting, traveling, telephone and telegraph, etc. Printing and traveling in particular, throughout the Budget are excessive. The administrative officers in the Department keep many trips for the purpose of addressing school gatherings, meetings of associations and public meetings. It is suggested that the Superintendent of Public Instruction make a review of this matter, and where any public address does not clearly forward the work of the department, the employee should not be allowed to address the meeting although it may be a school gathering or a meeting of association. It is necessary in the war effort to curtail travel, yet in every single division of the budget of Education appears an increased item for travel.

New Services

It was the desire of the department to establish new services for the coming biennium. Some of these were not considered feasible and effort, and although these services are probably necessary or desirable, it is plain that they should not be undertaken until the war is over.

California Historical Association

On page 166 of the Budget, the California Historical Association is included under the Department of Education. It is a separate section in the budget but is included in Item 57 in the Appropriation Bill. The total appropriation is $5,000, to be spent primarily for the part-time salary of the director and for a part-time stenographer clerk. This is a misnomer, for it is really not a full-fledged historical association which is supported by the appropriation. The money merely goes for the support of the work done by an instructor in history employed full-time by one of the private universities of the State. It is often from an analysis of the proposed expenditures that they will not support a historical association which would be in keeping with the historical background and the population and size of this State. The appropriation is done in the way of a subsidy and it is doubtful if it can be justified on the basis of the service rendered to the people of the State.

Restoration Requested by the Department

The department came before the Assembly Ways and Means Committee early in March, 1943, and asked for certain restorations in their budget. They stated that their original request had totalled $474,524, which was cut in the Governor's Budget by $25,672 to $448,852. However, the Governor included the California Historical Association as an item in the department's budget, rather than a separate budget item as was done in the previous biennium, so that the actual cut amounted to $410,132. The Director of the Department requested partial restorations.

In the Division of Credentials he asked for three new employees and for files and equipment to bring the handling of credentials up to date, since they are from six to eight months behind. This request would have cost $23,800 for the biennium. He also requested a chief of the Bureau of Parent Education, with a salary range of $290 to $350 per month, a position that was abolished on June 30, 1940. He also requested another chief for a Bureau of Early Childhood Education, with a salary range of $260 to $320 per month. He requested two additional positions, educational advisors on wartime problems, salary range, $290 to $350 per month, and he also asked for an additional allotment for travel in the sum of $2,200.

As respects the Division of Credentials, an examination of their situation disclosed that they were in a very bad state of confusion. The job has been poorly handled, or rather, mishandled. The filing system is not kept up to date; correspondence can not be answered for the reason that the files can not be used. In order to serve the public, the school boards and the teachers, this Division of Credentials should have its work up to the minute. It is not believed that the employment of additional personnel in the number requested will solve the problem. It appears that some method to suspend the work required while the situation is being cleared up would be preferable.

Although this division is self supporting, because each applicant for a credential is required by law to pay $3, yielding a total of $60,000 per year, while the cost is only about one-third of the yield, it is recommended that both as a service to the public and to provide some slight relief on the demand on manpower that the law be amended for the duration. This can be done by providing that all valid credentials for regular teachers, or for all those except emergency temporary credentials, shall be extended automatically to June 30, 1945, or through the period of the coming biennium, and that all new full time credentials granted shall be granted for this same period of time. This procedure will relieve the work of the division so that the staff can clear up the confusion that exists. A bill has been prepared by the Legislative Budget Committee for introduction into the Legislature to make this possible.

No New Divisions Recommended

In view of the fact that the department already seems to be overstaffed, with chiefs of bureaus and chiefs of divisions and administrative personnel and with relatively few workers and assistants under these various administrators, it appears that the Governor's decision not to approve the establishment of the two new bureaus requested was in line with rendering all assistance to the war effort. It does not appear that new divisions should be set up on a permanent basis during the extraordinary conditions resulting from the present war, which will have the effect of continuing such services indefinitely after the conflict.

Lanham Act Administration for Schools

The request for three new employees to work out for school districts requests for Lanham money for new schools did not appear to be justified in view of the fact that the school districts could take care of this matter themselves, and also due to the fact that the Federal Government has created this situation and they so recognize it by defraying the expense of this work up to the present time.

Educational Advisor on Wartime Problems

A review of the Department of Education indicates that the present staff should be able to divert some of its activities from a peace-time program so that they might very well cover the problems which would fall under the purview of the two requested educational advisors on wartime problems. Some of the peace-time activities, particularly the addressing of public gatherings on the theory of education, might very well be discontinued for the war and the wartime problems concentrated on in line with Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 6, passed by the Special Session of the 1941 Legislature immediately following Pearl Harbor.

The additional request for traveling could not be justified when compared with the actual expenditures of the current biennium.

The State Library

This is Item No. 58 in Assembly Bill No. 1600, and is found on pages 148 to 170, inclusive, in the Governor's Budget. The appropriation for support is $355,750, an increase of $20,137 over the current biennium. Practically all of this increase is in emergency salaries and wages. No additional positions are provided for and only a small sum for normal salary adjustments.

In accessions and equipment the requests correspond with the current biennium and include the continuation of subscriptions to keep files complete and enough for binding to meet current requirements. There is one special item of $1,000 for the California Reports which does not appear the previous year for the reason that they were not available.

The State Library has been on an economical basis, as compared with other departments, since 1931. It is possible to make some salary savings—probably 5 per cent. The only other savings that can be made in the Budget will be through reducing services or eliminating the purchase of books and subscriptions for periodicals. Considering the individual divisions of the expenditure, normal and emergency salary adjustments reflect an increase of $20,000 so there is an actual decrease in equipment of $1,400.

Commission for Vocational Education

Item 60 in Appropriation Bill, Assembly Bill No. 1600 and pages 171 to 176 of the Governor's Budget. The total expenditure from the General Fund in the Budget Bill is $300,000, which is in addition to the amounts appropriated under the provisions of Section 4.84 of the School Code.

Federal Support. The Federal Government, under the Smith-Hughes Act and under the George-Deen Act, provides Federal grants for vocational education. The summary of the sources of appropriations and funds are set up on page 171 of the Budget. The amount requested to meet the Federal Government allotment, under the Smith-Hughes Act, is a fixed charge provided by the School Code, Sections 3.520 and 4.84, and amounts to $714,482 for the biennium. This is an automatic appropriation over which the Legislature sometime past gave up its normal control. Under the Federal George Deen Act, $200,000 a year is made available by the Federal Government provided it is passed by the State. This is under the control of the Legislature and is subject, principally, to legislative determination. This is Item No. 60 and the only appropriation made in the Budget Bill for Vocational Education and is less than half of the amount that is appropriated approximately by the sections of the School Code.

In addition, reimbursements are made to the school districts for the coming biennium as a grant in the sum of $795,404. The only amounts included in the Budget total are the appropriations made by the Legislature and the fixed appropriations. The Federal appropriations are excluded.

The expenditures for Vocational Education are divided into two main categories: (1) Supervisors and Teacher Training, $474,728 for the biennium, an increase of $26,000 which comes primarily in salary adjustments, and (2) The reimbursements to school districts in the amount of $2,384,176, an increase of $32,000 for the biennium.

No increase was allowed for employees, there being 39 full-time and eight part-time employees.

Salary Savings. No salary savings have been estimated in the Budget. This is for the reason that the money expended is such that required to match available Federal funds and if there is a salary saving it would merely mean a reduction in Federal funds.

Finance Administrative Personnel. With 39 full-time employees we find that there are four business clerks and State supervisor, part-time, and one assistant chief of the bureau, and that there are 39 supervisors, assistant supervisors, special supervisors, district supervisors, regional supervisors, and technical supervisors.

Vocational Rehabilitation

For the coming biennium the State is budgeting $730,000 for vocational rehabilitation. This is in increase of $45,000, most of which is in salaries and wages, both for emergency and normal requirements, and for the addition of two new positions. The work of this division is twofold: the training of physically handicapped so that they may be fitted for employment.

A considerable outlay is made for training supplies and equipment for use by the physically handicapped and also a large sum, $98,500—for tuition. This is paid to both public and private educational institutions. The division also expends approximately $30,000 a biennium for medical appliances. These are extraordinary expenditures. Better accountability for equipment should be established and an inventory procedure followed. Equipment on hand or any that will be returned should be taken into account in making the Budget. These expenditures should be audited and definite procedures established.

The Budget Committee has not had time to complete a full examination of these items. However, it is recommended that the Department of Finance make a specific review of these expenditures and if it finds that valuable equipment has been purchased for instruction purposes for use by the physically handicapped, this equipment should be returned to be used for the instruction of additional students rather than be retained by the student on the basis of a gift from the State.

Salary Savings. Salary savings of approximately $15,000 are set up in the Budget. It is believed that an additional 5 per cent of the amount paid out in salaries and wages can be saved.

The State Colleges

These appear in Items 61 to 73, inclusive, of the Appropriation Act, pages 178 to 223 inclusive, of the Budget.

Although the State Colleges have individual items of appropriation in the Appropriation Act, and each one has an individual budget set up in the Governor's Budget, the actual process of arriving at the amount to be budgeted for support was based upon a total figure and then an allocation was made through the joint agreement of the Superintendent of Public Instruction and presidents of the seven colleges.

It was quite evident from requests submitted by the State colleges and subsequently demonstrated in the Budget hearings that the presidents were endeavoring to secure as large an appropriation as possible and were making every effort to maintain the institution status quo, and in particular not to dismiss any of the faculty, despite the fact that their enrollment had fallen off drastically. It was plain that they were not yet ready to recognize that we are in a serious war, and in their budget requests they endeavored to carry on their regular program, and in certain instances were using the war as an endeavor to expand. They expressed great reluctance at making any economies that would mean the elimination of a single class, or the discharge of a single employee. They seemed to have a great fear that a budget reduction would actually mean they would have to discharge someone.

It is recognized that it requires a certain base expenditure to maintain a State college institution without reference to the number of students enrolled; however, there can be some adjustments with a material decrease in enrollment. It is self-evident that education can cost more than it is worth and that the cost of education can be held to a reasonable figure through the elimination of exceedingly small classes and by following other procedures of good management.

Present Student Cost of Education. Reference to the budgets for the several State colleges will yield information giving the present student cost, actual for the years 1941-42, estimated for 1942-43 and the budget amount as estimated for the coming biennium. In every single instance the present student cost shows a very decided increase. For example, the increase cost per student in Chico is $401 in 1941 to $533 in 1944; for Humboldt, it increases from $371 to $547; for San Diego, from $314 to $341; for San Francisco, from $284 to $340.

This estimate per student cost, moreover, is based on an estimated enrollment which is liberal and which we do not believe we will have, so that the actual per capita costs will undoubtedly be higher than in the Budget.

Cost of California State Colleges, 1933-34, 1944-45. Following is a tabulation showing the actual expenditures of the seven State colleges from 1933-34 to 1941-42, and the estimate for 1942-43 through 1944-45. This tabulation is broken down so as to show the various unit costs for the several institutions. The last two columns on each of the sheets give the costs as set up in the Governor's Budget.

The net enrollment for this Budget is placed at 6,500, while the actual enrollment at the close of the first three weeks of the 1943 term was 6,046, so that all of the present student costs will be higher than in the Budget.

Increase in Per Student Costs. Reference to the table under the cost per student for the years 1933-34 will show an average of $221.79, while the same figure for 10 years later, 1943-44, shows an increase to $358.36. The highest per student cost in 1933-34 was Humboldt, $371.82. Because of the smallness of size it still was the highest in 1943-44, but the cost had gone up to $548 per student. The situation at Chico was more pronounced. For 1933-34 the per student cost was $252.59; 10 years later it was $530.

Formula for Appropriation

In view of the fact that the enrollment in the State colleges has shown a decrease in excess of 45 per cent and that the proposals were for an even greater decrease, the Budget allocation was fairly arrived at by assuming a total enrollment of 6,500 and allowing an allotment of $300 per year per student. This total sum was then allocated by the committee of college presidents and a representative of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to the several colleges on the basis of their administrative problems. This resulted in the smaller institutions receiving a larger amount per student, which is necessary for their administration. This allocation was generous in two respects. First, the sum of the enrollment figure of 6,500 was at least 500 in excess of what the enrollment will actually average. The following tabulations of the trouble it caused in the California State colleges and State spread credits to the summer of 1944-45, by Dr. Lee A. Burkman, Assistant Director of Education, prepared as of March 16, 1943, amply substantiate the contention made by the Legislative Assembly in the Budget hearings.

The second factor allowing for a generous allocation was in using per student allotment of $300 per year. This is in excess of the actual costs of operating these institutions during their normal history. The highest average per student cost actually expended was in 1941-42 when it was $288.50, while the estimated expenditures for 1941-42 were placed at $345. This was calculated on a fictitious enrollment and one liberal estimate made for new adjustments were allowed for the decreased enrollment. An allotment of $340 per pupil would have been generous. This allowance, together with an individual institution and the abolition of unnecessary classes and the concentration upon essentials and these things which would have helped the war effort, could have resulted in maintaining the institutions and would have made possible a saving of approximately $500,000.

The representation for State colleges was based also on the argument of the increased cost of living and increased costs of commodities. Therefore, in normal times with inflation in these items, it should be possible for these institutions to maintain their present enrollment without any material increase in appropriations.

The contention that classes must be maintained for a small number of students when two or three times the number could be handled without additional costs should be applied to the sciences when the student body increases so that appropriations that were not decreased as a percentage have comparable with a decrease in enrollment should be increased as a percentage as the increase presented by the enrollment. In fact, if they are held in line with the testimony presented by the administrators of the State colleges they should be able to return to the 1940-41 enrollment without more than a 12 per cent increase in appropriations.

Capital Outlay Deferred. The capital outlay program of the State colleges has been held to the bare minimum and the funds for construction, improvement and equipment are only for essential requirements and do not meet the capital outlay needs, which were deferred for a period of years.

Used for Expenses Abroad. In some of the institutions additional fund is needed for expenses of the students attending, some in Europe and Santa Barbara, where they are to study to meet other emergency and additional fund is required but appropriations are necessary of sufficient size in 1943 that are more or less adequate.

All studies of capital outlay have passed from the Budget because of the inability to carry on construction during the war. The needs of the State colleges should be included in the reconstruction postwar building program being considered by a special Senate committee.

School for the Blind at Berkeley

This is Item 74 and 75 of the Appropriation Act and is found on pages 224 to 228, inclusive, of the Appropriation Budget. The appropriation in the Budget Bill is for $275,704, an increase of $20,000 over the 1941-42 appropriation. The large increase is in support and subsistence, amounting to $12,875. One item in particular, laundry expenses, dropped in cost in 1941-42 but must be carried forward for the coming biennium.

This institution is small and does not appear to increase to any very large figure. It does not, however, take care of all those who need admission. The capacity was increased by 10 during the current biennium to a total enrollment of 140. Since it is small, the per capita cost is relatively high. The actual cost for 1941-42 was $850 per student. It is estimated that for 1944-45 the cost will be $981.79.

Personal. Personal expenses at $1 per one hundred inmates.

This institution has been budgeted rather closely since 1931 and is so small that it does not present any great possibility for adjustment.

Postwar Building. Construction should be given to including this institution in the postwar building program.

School for the Deaf

This is Item 76 to 79, inclusive, and is located on pages 229 to 234, inclusive, of the Governor's Budget. The appropriation for support is $500,170, an increase of $62,985. The largest item of expense is for support and subsistence—$29,821, instruction and care—$24,414, and for maintenance and operation of plant—$10,760.

The enrollment is expected to increase from 324 in 1941-42 to 320 for the other year of the current biennium and for the coming 1943-44. The student cost for 1941-42 was $775 and it is estimated that it will increase to $922 in 1944-45. The number of employees 201 equals the same as for the current biennium or 195.

The increased allowance for operating expenses is to meet the increasing cost of food and supplies and for a special fund for laundry. This cost has shown an unprecedented increase from $8,888 in 1941-42 to $12,000 for 1942-43 and $14,000 for each year of the coming biennium. This is an increase of 100 per cent increase. The laundry is done in a contract house the same as at the School for the Blind and it is not possible to secure laundry work in the near or better figure.

It is recommended that the Department of Institutions make a particular effort to solve this problem and provide opportunity of having this laundry done at some other institution or possibly by contract with San Quentin Prison.

This institution has been budgeted closely and presents no particular opportunity for material savings. In fact, it may prove to be good economy to increase the personal instruction and the supplying of hearing aids so as to accelerate the teaching results and graduate these students earlier and make them self supporting and thus relieve the State of their support in the near date.

Building Program. This institution should be given a high priority in the postwar building program. It has a number of antiquated buildings that present real hazards in an institution of this kind.

Item 78 of the Appropriation Act is a support item appropriating $8,100 for the expenses of deaf graduates attending the Gallaudet College after graduating from California School for the Deaf. This shows an increase of $5,261. This increase is brought about by an increase in the number of graduates of the California School who are attending. If the expected number does not materialize the money will not be spent.

California Maritime Academy

Item 80 of the Appropriation Act, pages 235 to 239, inclusive, of the Governor's Budget. The appropriation for this school from the General Fund is $177,236. This is an increase of $70,246. The largest increase is in subsistence—$25,536. The other increases are in instruction—$13,897, maintenance and operation of base—$18,414, and maintenance and operation of ship—$18,733. Strange enough, instruction costs at this school show a decrease of $3,187 although the course has been shortened from three years to 16 months.

The enrollment is expected to be stabilized at 132, continuing the same number as in the current biennium throughout the coming biennium. The cost per student, which was $733 in 1941-42, will increase to a high of $1,091 in 1944-45. This increase is following the line predicted when the school was established and the claim was made by its proponents that the per capita cost would not go up and would never reach as high as $1,000 per student per year.

Federal Contributions. It is recognized that by placing the school on a short time course, cutting it to less than half the time formerly required, that this is assisting the war effort. We find, however, that the Federal contribution still remains at $50,000 for the biennium and that all additional costs—most of them following from increasing prices due to the war—are being borne by the State. The number of personnel increased from 28 in 1941-42 to 40 with the coming biennium, and salaries and wages increased from $48,500 a year to $76,300 a year for 1944-45. Personnel and administration doubled in this period and the maintenance force at the base increased from one to six. The paid maintenance and operation force of the ship doubled, increasing from three to six. The original claim that the boys would run the ship from top to bottom has been abandoned to a degree with the employment of three seamen in addition to the original complement of a carpenter, a boatswain, and an intermediate stenographer clerk. The school is also employing 10 messmen to relieve the students of waiting table and dish washing work in order that they may concentrate on their subjects. The head of the school stated that this was for the reason that the course had been reduced from 36 months to 16 months. It is therefore presumed to be a wartime procedure which can be expected to be eliminated after the war. If the course is maintained on the present 16-months basis, which is the equivalent of more than doubling the number of graduates, the increased costs are justified since this follows the furthering of the war effort. The committee feels that every reasonable assistance should be given at this time. It does seem that there should be an emphasis placed on wartime training and an adjustment should be made when the school returns to a postwar basis.

New Shore Base. The Maritime Academy has been in a state of confusion for some time as respects its future. The original base at Tiburon, supplied by the Federal Government without cost to the State, was taken over in the beginning of the war by the Federal Government, and the academy's ship had to be moved and a new land base secured. Quarters and berthing were provided at the Ferry Building. The Board of Managers of the Academy had internal dissension over the establishment of a base for the school and even concerning the question as to whether the school should be continued.

The location at the Ferry Building is not satisfactory for all purposes. Opportunity for physical training, exercise, recreation and sports in particular is lacking. Also, living quarters are not entirely desirable.

After considerable discussion the site at Morro Cove in Solano County, near the Carquinez bridgehead, was selected. The Legislature appropriated $2,500,000 to build a permanent plant. Governor Olson vetoed this and the school remained at the Ferry Building. Subsequently the administration changed its mind and $200,000 was appropriated from emergency funds for temporary facilities at the Morro Cove base, including the dock, barracks, equipment and utilities.

An inspection of shore facilities by a member of the staff of the committee disclosed that what had been provided was satisfactory for living quarters and classrooms but not adequate or complete for a shore base, even for a temporary period. Docking facilities had not been provided, and a difference existed between the officers of the school and the authorities in Washington. It was clear that if this question could not be settled satisfactorily that no further expenditure of money should be made at Morro Cove. Subsequently this matter was settled satisfactorily. It might, however, have been decided adversely. It is therefore recommended that in connection with any and all establishments of the State that no money be expended in construction or be involved in any other way when the final values to be received are involved in the determination of the question beyond the control of the State. The expenditure of money under such circumstances should be held in abeyance until a decision is made so that the investment will not be jeopardized by a possible adverse decision.

It is clear that the needed additional construction to complete the temporary establishment and to provide a shore base and facilitate the training of maritime officers by the academy should be expedited. The Governor's Budget, on page 239, suggests an additional sum of $474,300 to be financed by an urgency appropriation immediately effective during the current biennium. A bill for this purpose has been introduced in the Legislature. A considerable proportion—well over half—of this expenditure will be expended for permanent improvements which could be delayed, at least to a considerable degree, until after the war and which are not necessary for the occupancy of the temporary buildings and the maintenance of a wartime establishment. Unless the construction of permanent buildings is to be undertaken much of the work which contemplates a permanent establishment should be postponed until after this question is decided.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature for an appropriation for a permanent construction. The amount is blank but it is estimated that this will be for $1,500,000 or $1,750,000. A close review should be made of these plans so that the most economical plan adequate for the needs of the school is secured. It should be kept in mind that the cost should be considered for if this is materially increased the amount per student cost will go up even beyond the present high figure. Conditions of employment for maritime officers will probably be adversely affected at the close of the war with the resumption of maritime activity by the world's nations that traditionally sent ships and men to sea. It is not believed that Pacific Coast shipping can absorb even 30 or 40 graduates per year under normal conditions.

Certainly the school should not be constructed on monumental lines but should be practical and conservative.

Advantages of Constructing a Permanent Plant. It is reported that the Maritime Academy can secure priorities so as to begin immediately the construction of a permanent plant. Since the matter of priorities is changeable and can not be considered definite upon materials now offered for delivery, it seems somewhat imprudent. However, there is a built-in savings in planning to build a permanent plant and proceeding therewith in accordance with the recommendation of the site and other construction matters stated on page 259 of the Governor's Budget and covered by the proposed appropriation for an amount of $474,500 mentioned above. Such construction should make it possible to save some $50,000 to $60,000 in the program. This together with other possible economies and a small improved condition of construction in certain kinds of construction, should make it possible to build a satisfactory school house of a permanent character for considerably less than the $1,750,000 now mentioned. Possibly a savings below this figure of a half a million dollars can be secured.

The construction cost, however, of such an institution at this time will be some 20 per cent to 30 per cent higher than under normal prices.

Reputation and Costs. The Maritime Academy has, through the performance of its graduates, built up a very favorable reputation with the Pacific Coast shipping interests. It is essential to secure this reputation and to be able to place all graduates. The academy must therefore continue to emphasize quality and in no way sacrifice this for quantity. With the limited number of students the per student cost will always be relatively high. It is apparent, therefore, that to continue to justify this the academy must continue to maintain its high reputation and be able to place its graduates. Therefore attention must be paid to quality and the costs.

California Polytechnic School

The California Polytechnic School is Item 81 in the Budget Bill, and is from pages 240 to 248 inclusive in the Budget. This support appropriation from the General Fund for the biennium is $71,468. In the Budget this total is shown as an increase. This is a little surprising without an explanation.

The facts are that previously this school was supported by appropriations under the provisions of Section 19626 of the Business and Professions Code, whereby it secured money from the Fair and Expositions Fund which is derived from participation horse race moneys. At the annual session of the Legislature in 1941 it was necessary to make an appropriation from the General Fund since the proceeds from the horse race money were insufficient to keep the institution open.

There is no material increase in expenditures for support but rather a decrease of $17,481, when we compare the actual expenditures made from all funds for support for the current biennium as compared with the 1943-45 Biennium.

Cost to the General Fund During the Biennium. Reference to the Appropriation Bill, Item 81, indicates that the actual cost to the General Fund may be noticed from two sources as provided in the Appropriation Bill itself. These are the provisions that the amount appropriated shall be reduced by any amount received during the Ninety-fifth and Ninety-sixth Fiscal Years under the provisions of Section 19626 of the Business and Professions Code, that is, from the Fair and Expositions Fund. This amount will depend upon the amount received by this State from the horse racing. Secondly, there is a provision that any moneys received by the California Polytechnic School for the training of personnel in the armed forces during the biennium shall be deposited in the State treasury in augmentation of this item. This would make it appear as if the school can spend all the money received from the Federal Government for training members in the Army or Navy. However, the actual contract and agreements concerning this service provide that after the school is reimbursed for what it has spent, there remain costs, any receipts over and above this shall be deposited in the General Fund in the State treasury. The contract with the Navy for training personnel is of such a nature that a balance covering rent and depreciation on buildings should be returned to the General Fund. An examination of the contract between the California Polytechnic School and the Navy for the training of personnel shows that it is reasonable and fair and is much more equitable than the provisions which the University of California claims that they have had to accept. If the University of California could secure as fair a contract, the appropriation for this institution from the General Fund would be offset in a considerable sum.

Location of Plant. The Polytechnic School now has two units. The major one is located at San Luis Obispo. The secondary unit, known as the Voorhis Unit, is near San Dimas, Los Angeles County. The Voorhis Unit was given to the State of California through the Department of Education, and its acceptance and the operation and maintenance thereof was never specifically considered by the Legislature of California. The assumption of the operation of this plant was entered into purely by an administrative department of the State. It involves the expenditure of State money and the use of appropriations. It involves the establishment of a continuing cost. It appears that all such matters should first be approved by the Legislature. If this procedure can be followed in general, to have the effect of negating the appropriations and the control thereof established by the Legislature, the fact that such a situation can be brought into existence is a further indication of how far the Legislature has gone in abdicating its authority to make and control appropriations of State funds.

It appears reasonable that the Legislature should review this whole matter and make its own determination as to the future of this particular activity. The fact that the matter has been covered in the Budget can not be considered as approval by the Legislature of the method and procedure followed in getting it into the Budget.

Enrollment and Unit Costs. The normal enrollment of regular students in this institution has decreased as they have in the State colleges and the cost for normal operation should be reduced accordingly. The only mitigating circumstance is the fact that the school is now training Navy personnel and has assigned to it 400 cadets for instruction.

The actual enrollment for 1941-42 was 828 and the cost per student, $346. The estimated enrollment for 1942-43 and the two following years, or the coming biennium, is placed at 660 and the cost for student, from $334 to $402. The Naval personnel mentioned above will not only pay its own way but it should also help to cover the overhead so as to reduce the per capita cost for the regular students.

The institution has directed itself to assisting in the war effort to a greater degree than any other of the State educational institutions.

Improved Accounting Desirable. It is believed that the accounting procedure of the institution should be reorganized and a more definite control established.

In particular, there should be a segregation in the matter of the Project Fund and the expenditure of State moneys. Proper charges should be set up against the Project Fund for all expenditures made out of the State fund which go directly, and even indirectly, to the support of the projects. It might be desirable to have all operations where projects are involved completely as projects and without any possibility of expending State moneys, directly or indirectly in their support. In such instances a proper allowance for use and depreciation of State property should be made.

An audit should be made of the entire institution with the object in view of starting off anew with an adequate system designed to meet the particular problems of the institution.

University of California

Items 82 and 83 in the Appropriation Bill and pages 249 to 252, inclusive, of the Budget, cover the University of California. The two appropriations for support amount to $15,790,831, yet the Budget covers this whole matter in three and one-half pages. It is quite apparent that this is not, in effect, a budget, but merely a statement for the appropriations and a recapitulation of the objects of expenditure in a summary form.

The fact is that the university is set up by a constitutional provision, that practically no control is exercised over its expenditures by the State. No full and actual budget has ever been presented by the university to the Governor for inclusion in his Budget or to the Legislature for consideration. The university presents enough to support a request, amply backed up by its great influence and its high reputation.

The Legislature, having once made its appropriation with such minor limitations as are included in the Appropriation Act, allows the university to withdraw its money from the State treasury, and in compliance with these minor restrictions, then expends it for the purposes of the institution along with the other funds which it has available.

Biennial Appropriation Not the Entire Appropriation from the State. The money appropriated by the Legislature under the Budget Act of $15,790,831, mentioned above, is not the only money the university receives from the State. There are five continuing and recurrent appropriations. There is one for salaries, under Chapter 426 of the Statutes of 1919, in the sum of $149,450 a biennium. The other four are for support; one, Chapter 427, Statutes of 1919, $400,000; one for the Medical School, Chapter 428, Statutes of 1919, $100,000; one for extension courses, Chapter 429, Statutes of 1919, $100,000; one for Scripps Institute, Chapter 737, Statutes of 1921, $45,000. The university, therefore, will receive from the State for the coming biennium by appropriation, current and recurrent, $16,601,281. This is a decrease of $1,792,537.

Recurrent Appropriations Unnecessary Encumbrances. The total sum of these five recurrent appropriations is $310,450. This amount is insignificant and meaningless when compared with the total of $10,901,281 in the total appropriation. It is so small as to be practically meaningless, and yet the accounting of the State in the Treasurer's Office, the Comptroller's Office, and the Department of Finance and in the university are cluttered up with these five recurrent appropriations, with five funds and accounts to be maintained, when they all could be obliterated by adopting a better budget procedure and having the appropriation for support made biennially without the recurring items. It is very doubtful if the university receives any additional funds or special considerations because of these particular amounts in recurring appropriations. It is suggested that the university itself review this matter and unless it finds some very compelling reason for maintaining these recurrent appropriations that it ask the Legislature to abolish them and to make the one appropriation from the General Fund for the support of the university.

Decrease in Capital Outlay. The decrease of $2,476,000 in capital outlay resulted from the fact that properties could not be secured to construct the first unit of the teaching hospital in San Francisco and the first unit for the College of Veterinary Medicine. The university intends to ask that these be reappropriated.

University Fund. The decrease of $1,792,537 in the support item of State funds is not so important to the university as if this occurred to other State departments. This for the reason that there is a surplussage fund that will yield for the next biennium $8,514,753. This shows a decrease of only $622,189. In other words, the university had available for the current biennium from all sources $20,372,309. For the coming biennium, it would have available, if the capital outlay items are reappropriated, $27,775,978, a decrease in all funds of a little over $2,500,000.

On the other hand, the enrollment in 1941-42 was 25,452, and the enrollment for 1942-43 was 20,000, a decrease of 10,000 or 40 per cent. The expenditures per student increased from $489 in 1941-42, to $850 for 1943-44 and $890 for 1944-45.

Consideration of these 1941 figures shows that the university was generously treated, for in addition the university will receive Federal assistance for those classes which are given for those in the armed services. This will provide another cushion for the university.

Formula for Appropriation Allowance. As in the case of the State colleges, the formula used for arriving at the appropriation for the University of California was most liberal. First of all, it was based on the liberal formula allowed in setting up the appropriations for the State colleges, for where the State colleges were allowed $360 per student, the university was allowed in the calculation $460 per student. This was applied to the estimated enrollment, which was placed at 15,000. This enrollment figure, therefore, was also correct for the actual enrollment at the university as of February 25, 1942, was 15,100 students, and out of those 330 were on contract with the United States Government and should not have been counted in the formula for appropriation. A net figure of 14,770 should have been considered as the base and an estimate made of the average number enrolled for the biennium. It is quite possible that when the impact of manpower becomes as pronounced as it will be with the increase in armed forces and war industries, as indicated in an earlier part of this report, the enrollment of the university will further decline so that the average enrollment possible will be not more than 12,000.

Furthermore, in applying the formula to the university to determine the cost of instruction on an enrollment basis, certain allowances were first made and then the allowances for instruction and overhead were added to this. These allowances included the entire amount required for research, extension courses, pensions, retirement, scholarships, all emergency funds, $600,000 to be used for the retention of key personnel, $50,000 a month or $1,200,000 for salary adjustments, the entire cost of the Grinnell Foundation, the entire cost of special functions, such as the University Hospital, Scripps Institute, and in fact expenditures for all campuses except Berkeley, Los Angeles, and Davis.

While this procedure in a sense is a rule of the thumb method, if it erred at all it erred on the side of liberality. This is demonstrated by the fact that the actual expenditure per student for the Fiscal Year 1941-42, from all sources, was only $483.68.

Strict economy and still allowing for the maintenance of all the essential services of the university on a wartime basis would have meant that the university would have gotten along on a budget of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 less than the appropriation, as first presented in the appropriation bill accompanying the Budget.

Hastings College of Law

This appears in Item 84 of the Appropriation Act, pages 253 and 254 of the Budget. The appropriation for the Hastings College of Law is $68,132. This includes an annual appropriation of $7,000 for interest under provisions of Section 1484 of the Political Code.

The appropriation is an increase of $26,810 over the previous biennium. The increase is made necessary for the reason that the college funds show a decline of $17,831.

The total actual expenditures of the college from all sources will show a decline of $7,277. The decline in revenues are primarily due to a falling off in fees from students.

This is a poor man's law college. Most of the students work and pay their own way. It is the only place where there is an opportunity to secure a regular law course available to many of those who must work their way. If the institution is to be maintained it requires all of the appropriation requested and approved in the Budget.

DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT

Pages 255 to 258, inclusive, of the Governor's Budget. No item of appropriation is found in the Appropriation Bill for the reason that although the Department of Employment is listed as a State department and is operated technically as a State department, the revenues for administration come from the Federal Government.

No budget hearings were held and the matter was not considered by the Governor and although the formal budget is included in the Governor's Budget the expenditures therefor are not included in the budget totals.

For the current biennium an appropriation was made by the Legislature for support to match the Federal grant under the Wagner-Peyser Act. Only $78,095 was expended. When the Federal State Employment Offices, then a part of the Department of Employment, were transferred to Federal jurisdiction the remainder of the funds then became surplus and will not be expended. The Budget therefore shows a decrease in expenditures in the amount of $78,095.

Since the Department of Employment is technically a department of the State Government, and since funds collected from the employers and employees of California are expended for the unemployment insurance benefits, and since the unemployment reserve, now in excess of $400,000,000, is part of the proceeds of this tax, we are including herewith a brief statement of the budget results for the Department of Employment. The magnitude of the operations of this office and the size of the funds involved should be known to the Legislature. This whole matter was the subject of a legislative investigating committee headed by Senator Ward. Subsequently numerous bills were introduced into the Legislature concerning it. The total expenditures for the department are $6,719,840. This is a decrease of only $718,467. The grant under the Social Security Act covered the total expenditures.

The department, in 1941-42, had 2,557 employees. For the coming biennium they are budgeted for 1,332. This is a considerable decrease in personnel but not as great as the decrease in benefit disbursements. However, the number of accounts and collections have increased to offset decrease in benefit payments.

Funds and Accounts Not Audited

The Federal Government currently checks the operations of the Department of Employment but they have made no audit of the accounts and records of the department.

Under the statutes creating the department there is a provision that the Department of Finance shall audit the Department of Employment accounts and records. The Federal Government, through the Social Security Board, are supposed to supply the necessary funds. Although they have been repeatedly requested to supply the necessary funds they have failed to do so. This matter has been brought to the attention of the Legislature at prior sessions but no effective remedy has been provided.

With an expenditure for operations in 1939-41 in excess of $9,000,000, and with a budget for the coming biennium of almost $7,000,000, and with benefit disbursements in prior years running into millions of dollars per month, and even in these times of minimum unemployment with benefit disbursements in excess of $1,000,000 a month, and with a reserve fund in excess of $400,000,000, there are sufficient and compelling reasons why these funds should be thoroughly audited and periodically audited on a continuous basis.

It will cost approximately $200,000 to make a reasonably complete audit of these records and accounts. This should be done to protect the State and for the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

The situation demands that the Legislature should take every step possible to secure the allotment of Federal funds so as to get under way at an early date an audit of the records and accounts of the Department of Employment.

This concludes the Third Partial Report of the Legislative Budget Committee. The report does not cover all of the departments outlined for this section of the report as stated in the Senate Journal for March 20, 1943, for two reasons. First, the loss of employees of the committee's technical research staff to the Army and Navy made impossible to get in and turn off of the material that has been collected and the running of the printing press. Secondly, the rapid pace at which the work of the Senate of the Legislature has proceeded has required such close attention and has caused such demands on the staff of the committee in supplying information around the numerous amendments of bills before the Legislature that completion of this report was delayed. It appeared that larger values would result by completing the report sooner, resulting from our previous studies for immediate use by the Legislature rather than waiting this time to the completion of a formal report.

The budgetary process, the numerous conditions of the State not included in the report has already been laid out in the printing of the Executive Budget, then in the consideration of the Budget before the Legislative Council and then in the consideration of several appropriations and bills for the reorganization of the State Government that were laid before the Senate of the Legislature. This material will be made in continuing studies of those several departments and will be used in subsequent reports.

Respectfully submitted

The contract shall also state the date and method of payment for such fluid milk, which shall not be later than the last day of the month following the month during which the fluid milk was purchased, the charges for transportation to be paid by the contributor, and may contain such other provisions as may not be in conflict with this chapter, and shall contain a proviso to the effect that the producer shall not be obligated to deliver in any calendar month fluid milk to be paid for at the minimum price for fluid milk that is used for Class 1, as said class is defined in Section 741.2 of this code. A signed copy of such contract shall be filed by the producer with the director within five days from the date of its execution.

(6) The processing, processing, bottling, transporting, delivering or otherwise handling in any marketing area of any fluid milk or fluid cream which is to be or is sold or otherwise disposed of in such distribution at any place in the geographical area within the market, outside and excepted territories or limits of such marketing area, whether such place is a part of the marketing area or not, at less than the minimum minimum and maximum prices established in such marketing area.

(7) The payment of a bonus price to any producer for fluid milk or fluid cream which is distributed to any person, including agencies of the Federal, State or local government, created upon property within the geographical limits of such marketing area, for less than the minimum prices established by the director to be paid by distributors to producers for fluid milk or fluid cream for said marketing area.

(8) The processing or marketing of any fluid milk or fluid cream by distributors from producers within a marketing area where a stabilization and marketing plan is in effect for less than the minimum prices established in such plan, regardless of whether such milk or cream is subsequently sold or distributed within or without such marketing area, or whether or within the jurisdiction of the State of California; provided, however, that if such fluid milk or fluid cream is subsequently sold or distributed in a marketing area within the State of California where a stabilization and marketing plan is in effect, then the distributor shall pay the producer thereof not less than the minimum prices established in such plan in the marketing area where such milk or cream is sold or distributed; and provided further, that in the event such fluid milk or fluid cream is subsequently sold or distributed in any place within the jurisdiction of the State of California where no stabilization and marketing plan is in effect, then such milk or cream may be paid for by the distributor to the producer thereof at not less than the average price paid by distributors in the marketing area for such milk or cream of similar grade and quality at the plants in the vicinity where such milk or cream is sold or distributed, as such prices are determined by the director from contracts required to be filed with him pursuant to this section.

(9) Provisions whereby the director designates and prescribes or provides methods for designating or prescribing minimum prices to be paid by distributors to producers, for fluid milk in one or more of the various classes; provided, however, that the prices so designated or prescribed shall be based upon the economic relationship of the price of fluid milk for the marketing area involved to the price of manufacturing milk, taking into account the additional costs incurred in producing and marketing fluid milk over and above costs incurred in producing and marketing manufacturing milk, including the normal costs of manufacturing and labor transportation, and such other costs which the director finds are necessary in order to carry out the purposes of this chapter; and provided further, the director finds that such prices will tend to effectuate the purposes and policy of this chapter and will insure consumers a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk.

Any stabilization and marketing plan may contain the following provisions:

(c) Provisions whereby distributors shall report to each producer from whom fluid milk is secured, the volume of fluid milk received from such producer in pounds of milk, the milk fat test of such milk and the amount of fluid milk in milk fat pounds paid for in the several classes and the prices paid for the various classes for each month.

(d) Provisions whereby the director designates and prescribes or provides methods for designating or prescribing minimum prices to be paid by distributors to producers for fluid cream; provided, that the prices so designated or prescribed shall be based upon the economic relationship of the price of fluid cream for the marketing area involved in the price of manufacturing cream, taking into consideration the additional costs incurred in producing and marketing fluid cream over and above costs incurred in producing and marketing manufacturing milk; and provided further, that the director finds that such prices will tend to effectuate the purposes and policy of this chapter and will insure consumers a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome cream.

(e) Provisions whereby the director designates or prescribes methods to provide uniform prices to be paid to all producers supplying fluid milk to distributors for pasteurization purposes in the marketing area involved by pooling the returns of all such fluid milk; provided, that no equalization pool shall be established unless the director, after hearing, determines that producers who supply distributors with not less than sixty-five (65) per cent of the total volume of fluid milk used for pasteurization purposes and who represent not less than sixty-five (65) per cent of the total number of such producers desire the establishment of such pool, but no hearing shall be necessary if said sixty-five (65) per cent, by volume and production, of such producers petition the director in writing to establish such equalization pool as a part of the plan. If the director finds that an equalization pool is necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter he shall make provision therefor. The director may designate the local control board for the marketing area as his agency to operate the equalization pool and may permit such local board to employ a pool manager and such other necessary personnel and to incur such expenses incidental to the operation of the pool as the director finds are necessary. The director is hereby empowered to require distributors to make reports to the pool manager at such intervals and in such detail as he finds is necessary for the operation of the pool which reports shall be kept confidential as to any individual distributor but shall be available to the director or his agents and the pool manager, and such employees of the pool as are necessary to the operation of the equalization pool.

No provision of any pooling program shall prevent any distributor from paying premiums for quality; provided, all producers supplying fluid milk of like quality to such distributor are paid similar premiums, nor shall any provision prohibit the paying of different prices to producers based on differentials in transportation, adjustments or deductions made by a cooperative association of producers to its members, including the blending of proceeds received from the sale of fluid milk by such cooperative in other markets. Distributors who purchase fluid milk from producers for pasteurization purposes shall deduct from payments due such producers at such time and in such manner such sums as the director determines are sufficient to insure uniform prices to all producers subject to the provisions of the equalization pool, irrespective of the usage of such fluid milk by the distributors. Distributors shall make, in addition to the deductions herein prescribed, such additional deductions per pound milk fat as the director finds necessary to pay all expenses incidental to the operation of the equalization pool, including the establishment of a reserve account to insure prompt payments to producers. The deductions herein prescribed are in addition to any other deductions prescribed by this chapter.

(f) Provision whereby sales stimulation or consumer educational programs may be formulated and administered to increase the consumption of fluid milk and fluid cream, or other dairy products; provided, that such programs shall be carried on without reference to a particular brand or trade name; and provided further, that no such sales stimulation or consumer educational program shall be carried on which shall make use of false or unwarranted claims on behalf of such products or which disparages the quality, value, sale or use of any fluid milk or fluid cream or any other agricultural commodity authorized by law to be marketed within such marketing area.

Before any stabilization and marketing plan may provide for sales stimulation and consumer educational programs, not less than 65 per cent of the producers and who produce not less than 65 per cent of the total volume of fluid milk consumed in any marketing area shall petition the director in writing for the inclusion of such a program as part of the stabilization and marketing plan. If such a program is requested by distributors it shall be necessary that not less than 65 per cent of the total number of distributors and who distribute not less than 65 per cent of the total volume of fluid milk for consumption in the marketing area shall petition the director in writing for the inclusion of such a program as part of the stabilization and marketing plan.

The petition shall bear the signatures of petitioners, their addresses and the approximate daily volume of fluid milk handled in gallons and milk fat pounds and the type of product distributed, together with the estimated cost of the program each month and the number of months the program is to continue in operation.

A sales stimulation and consumer educational program instituted by producers shall be financed by all producers supplying fluid milk to the marketing area. Such program, if instituted by distributors, shall be financed by all distributors supplying fluid milk to the marketing area. If such program is instituted by both producers and distributors, both producers and distributors shall finance the program equally.

If the program is instituted by producers the director is hereby empowered to require producers to pay assessments of not more than two mills ($.002) per pound milk fat, or if the program is instituted upon a gallonage basis not more than seven mills ($.007) for each 10 gallons of fluid milk received by distributor, including the production of distributors who are also producers.

If the program is instituted by producers, the director is hereby empowered to require distributors to pay assessments of not more than two mills ($.002) per pound milk fat, or 10 cents per gallon of fluid milk, upon a gallonage basis not more than seven cents ($.007) per gallon, 10 gallons of fluid milk received by distributors, including the production of producers and dairy producers.

If the program is instituted by both producers and distributors, the director is hereby empowered to require both producers and distributors to pay assessments for the purpose of paying the expenses of instituting, administering, and carrying on such program. The assessments to be paid by distributors shall not exceed two mills ($.002) per pound milk fat, or if the program is instituted upon a gallonage basis not more than 10 cents per gallon of fluid milk received by distributors; the producers of distribution who are dairy producers. Assessments of not more than two mills ($.002) per pound milk fat, or if the program is instituted upon a gallonage basis not more than seven cents ($.007) per gallon of fluid milk produced by producers and received by distributors, shall likewise be paid by producers. If no funds shall the assessments assessed four mills ($.004) per pound milk fat, or if the program is instituted upon a gallonage basis not more than 14 cents per gallon of fluid milk received from producers and produced by distributors for distribution in the marketing area in the form of actual milk, fluid milk, cream, condensed milk, and other products derived from fluid milk.

Before a program may be instituted a public hearing shall be held by the director, the purpose of which shall be to determine if in the name as that required for the institution of a marketing and marketing area for fluid milk. At such public hearing, testimony shall be taken and taken as to the necessity of such a program, the estimated costs of the program, the estimated expenses of the program to be constructed, and such other matters as are necessary to the institution of the program.

If after public hearing the director is of the opinion that the public hearing and consumer educational program will tend to effectuate the purposes of this chapter, he shall issue an order instituting such program, and such order shall specify the number of months the program shall continue by distributors. The per cent assessments pay per pound milk fat or per gallon of fluid milk to those instituting the program, the names and addresses and business locations of the persons instituting the program, the program and such other may contain other provisions which are necessary and incidental to the operation of the program.

The person named in the order to administer the program shall be selected by the director in the following manner and in the following number:

(a) If the program was instituted by producers the director shall name five representative producers from nominations made at the public hearing by the petitioners.

(b) If the program was instituted by distributors the director shall name five representative distributors from nominations made at the public hearing by the petitioners.

(c) If the program was instituted by both producers and distributors the director shall name three representative producers from nominations made at the public hearing by the producers and producers and three representative distributors from nominations made at the public hearing by petitioning distributors.

(d) Distributors who are also producers shall be eligible to nomination for service and may be named by the director to serve on the committee to administer and administer, who (through) be required to pay assessments, and at least one of the persons named in the director to serve on any committee to administer any program for which distributors who are also producers will be required to pay assessments shall be a distributor who is also a producer.

All payments shall be collected by the persons named in the order of the director instituting the program, and shall be administered subject to the approval of the director. All amounts payable to be paid to the director under this section by producers or distributors shall be paid to such director on or before the fifteenth day of the month following the month during which such fluid milk was produced by distributors and all distributors receiving milk from producers in any area where the provisions of this section are in effect whereby the director is empowered to require payments from producers shall deduct and pay to the director such payments payable for under this section from the payments due for such distributors to such producers for fluid milk.

Senate Resolution No. 154

Relative to the commemoration of "Mother's Day," May 9, 1943

Sunday, May 9, 1943, and every commemoration "Mother's Day," in tribute to the mothers of America, by annual taking of hour and appreciation involved in a most tender and touching battle.

Mother's Day, 1943, and every commemorative posture, but contrasting her Soldier and Sailor sons and daughters to a perpetuation of the spirit and love which from its inception have been the hallmark of the American home, in what will be a conquering of the enemies of civilization now arrayed in war against our beloved land and its allies.

Mother's Day, 1943, and every commemorative posture, in American homes, something always present in the progress of life. Fortunate indeed are the children who have Mother with them. In every Mother is an infinite memory but nevertheless, that in most appreciation with the vision of "Mother's Day."

In accordance with annual custom at the approval of "Mother's Day," the Senate of the State of California officially and most willingly joins in high tribute to the Mothers of America by with its to mothers everywhere, reiterating the time-honored sentiment, "The hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." ### REQUEST FOR UNANIMOUS CONSENT

Senator Shelley asked for, and was granted, unanimous consent to have the following statement printed in the Journal:

Statement by Senator John F. Shelley

When Assembly Bill No. 582 came on for a vote, I was attending a meeting of a Conference Committee in which I was a member. This committee was at this precise time meeting with a few members of the Assembly in the Assembly Chamber. If I had been on the Senate floor, I would have voted against this bill for the following reasons:

This bill is an attempt, by an amendment to the present law, to outlaw political parties which would otherwise have the right to keep their names on the ballot. I believe this attempt to prevent any party, regardless of its political beliefs, from openly advocating its ideas in a free way is contrary to all we are now fighting for. This Country was established on the basis of free speech and the rights of minorities. Let us not destroy those rights, but us preserve them. That is America.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN F. SHELLEY

Statement Regarding Assembly Bill No. 839

Although Assembly Bill No. 839 by Messrs. Hawkins and Pelletier came out of the Senate Committee on Labor with a favorable recommendation, it was re-referred to this committee at the request of Assemblyman Hawkins on the ground that the bill was now unsatisfactory to himself as author.

If it were not for the above stated situation, the undersigned would have supported the bill to final enactment into law.

COMMUNICATIONS

The following communication was received, read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN JOSE, CALIF., May 8, 1943

*Joseph A. Beek, Secretary of the Senate
Senate Chambers, State Capitol*

DEAR MR. BEEK: Will you please extend to the Members of the Senate, before final adjournment, my sincere appreciation for the many favors and courtesies extended to me during my term in the Senate and in particular their action in adopting Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 13, January 14, 1942, relative to my appointment to the superior court.

I received a beautiful engraved copy of the resolution which I prize greatly. I expected even to this last moment to have been able to convey these sentiments personally, but, since adjournment is only a few hours away, I hope this message will partially at least answer the purpose.

It was indeed a privilege to have been a Member of the Senate, and the memory of my association with its members, officers, and attaches will ever be cherished by me. With kindest regards and best wishes,

Gratefully and sincerely,

JOHN D. FOLEY
